COUNCIL MOVES TO PURGE MEMBERSHIP BY ORDERING PROBE OF GRAFT CHARGES

Guggenheims Give $300,000 for Tech Air School

LOCAL INSTITUTION GETS FINAL GRANT OF AVIATION FUND

Selection of Georgia Tech Follows Inspection of 27 Other Southern Schools Making Bid.

GIFT IS LARGEST IN TECH'S HISTORY

City and County Will Maintain School of Aeronautical Engineering To Be Established Here.

The Georgia School of Technology Monday afternoon received from New York news of the largest appropriation ever given to the school when, as its final act before ceasing as a foundation, the Daniel Guggenheim Fund for the Promotion of Aeronautics, announced a gift of $300,000 for the establishment of an aeronautical engineering school in the south.

Some months ago the Guggenheims announced that a survey of the south would be made for the purpose of establishing this fund and early in December Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of Georgia Tech, went to New York and laid before the directors the advantages of the institution. The Atlanta school was selected from a field of 27 competitors.

"We are, of course, highly gratified that Tech has been so signally honored with this gift. It is the largest the institution has ever received, exceeding the $200,000 Julius Brown endowment fund."

To the schools of engineering and other sciences, Tech now will add a department of aeronautical engineering. The lone condition of the Guggenheim gift was that the school should be maintained and the city of Atlanta and county of Fulton heretofore have agreed to co-operate to that end.

GIFT IS FINAL ACT OF GUGGENHEIM FUND.

NEW YORK, March 3.—(Special.) As a final act before going out of existence, the Daniel Guggenheim Fund for the Promotion of Aeronautics today made a grant of $300,000 to the Georgia School of Technology for the establishment of an aeronautical engineering center in the south. Selection of the Atlanta institution followed personal inspection and investigation of 27 southern educational institutions which had asked for the endowment of a school of aeronautics.

"After much consideration and discussion and giving due consideration to location, aviation environment, cos-

Flames Drive Sick Children From Home

Fire which is believed to have started from defective wiring Monday afternoon drove Mrs. DeFord Smith and two daughters, 3 and 5 years of age, both of whom were sick with measles, out of their apartment at 113 Sixth street. The two children whose temperature had reached 104 degrees, had to be carried by Mrs. Smith and a nurse to a near-by home.

The Sixth street structure, containing six apartments, was virtually destroyed by fire while at the same time considerable damage was done to the apartment building at 119 Sixth street. Six families resided at 113 Sixth and what furniture and clothing survived the fire was damaged by the water.

Senate Approves Tariff on Cotton

Long Staple Fibre Taken From Free List and Duty Placed on Turpentine.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(AP)—A prediction that the tariff bill would be passed by the senate by Wednesday was made tonight by Chairman Smoot, of the finance committee, after the senate had completed another 11 hours of continuous labor on the measure.

By working steadily until 10 o'clock tonight the senate virtually completed action on amendments in what is known in parliamentary terms as "committee of the whole."

Tomorrow the bill is expected to be reported back to the senate proper for separate votes on major rates, including sugar, hides, leathers, shoes, brick, lumber and a host of other commodities on which action already has been taken in the committee of the whole.

Senator Smoot said there was a chance of the bill being passed tomorrow night, but that he thought final action would certainly come Wednesday or Wednesday night.

Democratic leaders, however, were less optimistic and expressed the opinion that the measure, now approaching the six months' mark in the senate would not be disposed of before next week.

Republican independents, on the other hand, believed final action would depend to a great extent on the amount of time devoted to sugar, shoes and hides and other important duties.

The placing of a tariff of seven cents a pound on long staple cotton, now on the free list, and a duty of 10 per cent ad valorem on turpentine and rosin, also non-dutiable in the present law, marked the actions taken today and tonight.

By a margin of one vote, 35 to 34, another attempt to protect domestic lumbermen from possible future competition was lost with the defeat of a proposal of Senator Hayden, democrat, Arizona, to apply the existing retaliatory provisions to all timber and lumber now on the free list. At present retaliatory duties may be levied only on flooring in event other countries tax American flooring exports.

Various amendments of minor importance to the administrative sections also were approved. Among these was one by Senator Fletcher, democrat, Florida, to restore the present limitation on Cuban sugar importations to packages of not less than 3,000. The bill had repealed this restriction in deference to Cuba's wishes.

DAUGHTER SHOOTS FATHER'S FRIEND

Georgia High School Girl Fires on Woman "To Preserve Home."

ALAMO, Ga., March 3.—(AP)—Miss Grace McDaniels, 26, of Chauncey, Ga., was shot through the body just below the heart here tonight by Miss Marion Bullard, 18, high school senior, who was said by officers to have declared the wounded woman "took my father away from me."

"You'll never get an opportunity to wreck another home," the officers quoted her as saying as she fired one shot from a pistol.

Miss Bullard's father and mother have been separated for more than a year. A divorce suit is now pending.

Miss McDaniels was taken to the Claxton-Munford hospital at Dublin, where physicians said they could not determine the gravity of her wound until further examination had been made.

The shooting occurred at a filling station operated by F. I. Bullard, the girl's father, who stood within a few feet of Miss McDaniels at the time she was shot.

Sheriff H. N. Sears met Miss Bullard as she left the filling station. He allowed her to go home without placing charges against her.

The officer quoted the girl as saying:

"That woman took my father away from me and ruined our home, but she will never ruin another home."

Miss Bullard told Sheriff Sears she saw Miss McDaniels drive into town and head for her father's filling station. She followed, she said, and opened fire as the older woman stepped out of her automobile. Miss McDaniels fell back into her car, unconscious.

After the shooting, Sheriff Sears said, Miss Bullard walked over to the wounded woman's automobile, looked at her, then walked to her own car and drove away. Miss Bullard's mother operates a hotel here.

Wales Is Recovering From Fever Attack

NAIROBI, Kenya Colony, March 3, (AP)—The Prince of Wales is making good recovery in his bout with subtertian malaria.

He is in bed in government house here, attended by physicians and nurses who have specialized in this curse of equatorial Africa and thanks to their care, with his own strong constitution and optimistic temperament, it is believed that any danger of complications or a relapse is slight. It is even stated that he hopes to be able to leave his bed in a day or two.

The prince's future plans are naturally causing much speculation. He obviously will be reluctant to leave Africa without bagging an elephant—on which he had set his heart—but it is recognized that he will be ruled by the opinion of his medical advisers.

Three Screen Stars Pay Tax Fraud Fines

LOS ANGELES, March 3.—(AP)—Three motion picture actors and an actress pleaded guilty in federal court today to criminal indictments charging failure to pay income taxes and were assessed fines totaling $3,500.

Eleanor Boardman, screen star, received the heaviest fine, $2,000. Raymond McKee, Malcolm McGregor and Hallam Cooley each were fined $500.

DISAPPOINTMENT IS CHIEF RESULT OF HOOVER'S YEAR

Unemployment in East, General Uneasiness in Business, Chaotic Condition in Enforcement Apparent.

BY FRANCIS W. CLARKE.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—The first year of the administration of Herbert Hoover closed today with his policies undergoing sharp attack on the floor of the senate and with republican prospects gloomier than in many years.

From both democrats and progressives came stinging arraignment of the lack of accomplishments of the administration. The president was specifically blamed by Senator La Follette, of Wisconsin, with responsibility for the delay in the passage of tariff legislation, for the situation of increased unemployment throughout the country and for the certain defeats that the republican party is facing at the polls this fall.

Following Senator La Follette in his caustic remarks on the president, Senator Wheeler, of Montana, declared that while all of the blame for the present unsettled and depressed economic conditions could not be laid at the door of President Hoover, he must bear that large percen-

TAFT LIFE SPAN 'INDETERMINATE'

Doctors Say Statesman May Live for Days or Die at Any Time.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—(AP)—One month from the day that he resigned as chief justice found William Howard Taft today clinging tenaciously to the thin thread of life which has been sustaining him since last Wednesday.

In view of his 72 years, the former president's reserve energy has amazed the attending physicians. They have said that this will be his last illness, emphasizing that any improvement would be but temporary.

The regular Monday morning bulletin by Drs. Francis R. Hagner and Thomas A. Clayton said Mr. Taft had spent "a good night," and added: "He continued to take some nourishment. A few days ago his condition was very critical, but he was slightly improved, and, unless some further sudden change occurs due to the arterio sclerosis, his span of life for the present is indeterminate."

Arterio sclerosis, or hardening of the arteries, with consequent impairment of the blood circulation, has given the doctors more concern of late than any of the other ailments afflicting Mr. Taft.

The Monday evening bulletin recorded that:

"The condition of the former chief justice is unchanged since this morning."

Dr. Francis R. Hagner, who, with Dr. Thomas A. Clayton signed the bulletin, said after the evening visit that too optimistic an interpretation was not to be placed upon the improvement in Mr. Taft's condition. He added that the patient still was a very sick man.

The midnight bulletin said there was no change in Mr. Taft's condition.

Mrs. Andrews' Husband Will Post Her Bond

$500 To Be Put Up Today, "Against Wishes" of Indicted Woman.

Informed Monday night that Sheriff James I. Lowry had announced that she must voluntarily appear by noon today and post $500 to assure her appearance in court to answer an indictment charging criminal libel, or be "escorted to the Fulton Tower," Mrs. J. E. Andrews announced that "Mr. Andrews, against my wishes, plans to go to the courthouse in the morning to put up my bond."

Mrs. Andrews, accused in a true bill which grew out of an alleged slandering article attacking Solicitor-General John A. Boykin, said that her husband had been ill since Saturday and that she has not had time to go to the courthouse.

"If it remained with me, I would go to jail," Mrs. Andrews said, "but I have my home to consider, and if Mr. Andrews wishes to put up the bond I cannot stop him."

Mrs. Andrews is the only one of the 20 persons indicted by the graft investigating grand jury on its retirement from office Saturday who has not posted bond. All of the others, including City Clerk Walter C. Taylor, Councilman Harry York and the latter's business associate, Jack White, who face bribery and other charges, posted their bonds with Captain Lowry Monday.

"We do not want to be harsh with Mrs. Andrews," Captain Lowry said. "If she does not appear voluntarily by noon tomorrow it will be apparent that she does not intend to come down to the courthouse and I shall be forced to send after her."

Mrs. L. D. T. Quinby, president of the Women's Better Government League and a co-worker of Mrs. Andrews, announced Monday afternoon that there would be a mass meeting of women at 10:30 o'clock this morning in the senate chamber in the state capitol, when resolutions attacking the indictments against Mrs. Andrews and

Probe of Ritchie Charges Ordered

Board of Education Called To Meet Wednesday; Burns and Sutton To Back Official.

A special meeting of the Atlanta board of education to inquire into charges made against Raymond R. Ritchie, assistant superintendent of schools in charge of business affairs, will be held at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in the council chamber of the new city hall, Dr. M. M. Burns, president of the board, announced Monday night.

The charges were made Saturday by the Fulton county grand jury in presentments returned after two months of investigation into alleged graft and extravagance in municipal affairs. Ritchie's dismissal from the department was recommended by the grand jury, which stated that "the sooner the city is rid of his services the better off Atlanta will be."

Members Demand Meeting.

While Dr. Burns and Superintendent Willis A. Sutton are giving their full support to Ritchie, Dr. Burns called the meeting at the instance of four members of the board of education who filed a formal letter demanding that the meeting be held, Dr. Burns said.

"Ritchie has explained matters to my satisfaction and to that of Professor Sutton, and we will back him to the end unless he is proven guilty of something involving moral turpitude or malfeasance," Dr. Burns declared. "With Ritchie, Professor Sutton and I went over the items contained in the grand jury's presentments. Ritchie explained everything, and I believe he can do so to the entire satisfaction of the board members. Unless the grand jury's charges proves to be more serious than they appear to be, I am for Ritchie."

For instance, Dr. Burns pointed out, the grand jury presentments referred to some clocks kept in the school warehouse. These clocks were bought by the board 40 years ago and have not been used in 18 years, having been put out of service long before Ritchie ever came with the board, he said. Dr. Burns said that the grand jury got its information about certain school board matters from people who did not have accurate knowledge of the true facts in the case.

The letter asking for a special meeting of the board to take up the Ritchie matter was signed by School Commissioners Ivan G. Cochran, thirteenth ward; E. R. Sweat, tenth ward; William H. Spratlin, ninth ward, and William C. Slate, second ward.

Ritchie to Ask Data.

Ritchie will request members of the Atlanta board of education to ask the Fulton county grand jury for specific instances of alleged extravagances, he said Monday night.

Presentments of the grand jury with reference to school affairs were vague and indefinite, and consisted of generalities, Ritchie declared. He said that he is preparing a statement in his own defense against these "generalities," and will send the statement to members of the board of education.

Ritchie Monday night denied a report that he contemplates a libel suit against the grand jury. It was learned from T. R. Gress, assistant attorney-general of Georgia, that members of the grand jury are exempt from damage or libel suits for any of their official acts or presentments.

COUNCIL CLEARS CITY ELECTRICIAN

P. H. Hendricks Found Not Guilty of McCutcheon's Negligence Charge

P. H. Hendricks, city electrician, charged of negligence in his duties by Councilman Howard McCutcheon, Monday afternoon was absolved by the council of the borough of Atlanta, meeting in the new city hall.

The action was taken following the report of the electric lights committee, which found that Hendricks was not guilty of the charges lodged against him, that he was incompetent and not fit for office, and recommended that he not be impeached. The report was adopted.

Council voted not to reconsider a paper ordering payment of a $1,940 new city hall decorating contract to Volmer and Cetti. Motion to reconsider the paper had been filed at the previous meeting by Councilmen John White and Joe Berman.

The proposal of Fulton county to build a new fire station in the Buckhead section, at a cost of $45,000, in return for fire protection for the county outside of the incorporated limits of Atlanta, was read to council with the approval of the board of firemasters. Councilman W. E. Saunders, chairman of the firemasters, said he would have a report from the board ready in a short time to cover the matter. Meanwhile, the proposal of the county was filed.

Option Extension Sought.

The request of the Trust Company of Georgia for 90 days extension of an option on No. 5 fire station was referred to the finance committee.

A proposal by the sixth ward civic league suggesting that the area bounded by Spring, Cain and Carnegie Way be designated as Candler Square in honor of the late Asa G. Candler, similar to the designation of Forsyth and Marietta as Henry Grady square, was referred to the street committee.

Payment to the MacDougald Construction Company of $19,000, as 10 per cent of the retained 15 per cent of the amount of the contract price of the new Mitchell street viaduct, was approved by council.

A request for the placing of whiteway poles at the corner of Ivy and Auburn company, made by the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company because of the erection of its new office at that site, was approved.

Junior Captains Named.

Under an ordinance adopted by council, 21 lieutenants of the fire department will be designated as junior captains, with no increase in salary or increase in the number of lieutenants. The purpose of the ordinance is to give the lieutenants the authority of captains while they are in charge of the fire stations in the absences of the captains.

Office space in the new city hall building will be given Mrs. Alonzo Richardson, chairman of the city's official board of film review, under a paper adopted by council. Mrs. Richardson at present has an office in the

NEW GRAFT PROBE TO BE 'THOROUGH AND SYSTEMATIC'

Boykin Says Quiz Will Reach Every Department—W. E. Harrington Heads New Body.

As the new grand jury was organized Monday to continue the four-month-old investigation into charges of graft and corruption in the conduct of municipal affairs, which already has resulted in the indictment of 20 persons, Solicitor General John A. Boykin announced completion of plans for a "more thorough and rigidly systematic" inquiry into every department of the city government and the individual activities of those in control of the municipality's affairs.

The solicitor general, after a long conference with Special Prosecutor William Schley Howard, Assistant Solicitor Ed A. Stephens and Chief Investigator Lewis J. Baley, declared that beginning today the new grand jury would be asked to take one department or one individual at a time and complete that phase of the investigation before entering another.

"In covering the ground we already have gone over, we were first delving into one department, one committee, or the actions of one person today and on an entirely different phase of the inquiry the next," Mr. Boykin said. "In the future we will finish everything we start before going into something else."

Mr. Boykin said he believed that this method not only would result in a more thorough inquiry but would greatly speed the completion of the investigation.

The grand jury is to meet at 10 o'clock this morning when five additional members will be selected from a panel of 14. Of the number summoned for grand jury service Monday, only 18 qualified and were sworn in and charged by Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy. W. E. Harrington, insur-

2 More Days Of Cold Due In Southland

After Drop to 21 Monday, Mercury To Begin Gradual Ascension.

Having climaxed an exceedingly successful comeback by driving the mercury down to an even 21 degrees here early Monday morning, Old Man Winter today will begin a gradual retreat from the sunny south by allowing more moderate temperature readings to find their place on the record books, according to the official forecast of C. F. von Herrmann, local meteorologist.

He anticipates sub-freezing weather for this morning and again Wednesday with clear skies and beaming sun overhead, the whole being described as "gradually moderating." Today's range will be between 26 and 40, he states, with slightly higher figures scheduled for Wednesday. Monday's high mark was 37. he Washington weather forecast for all Georgia reads: "Fair and warmer Tuesday and Wednesday."

The unexpected assault of winter swept out of the northwest Saturday night, causing the mercury to dive from balmy spring levels to the teeth-chattering regions near freezing Sunday. Monday saw the mercury sink to sub-freezing levels over a wide area.

Damage to growing crops thus far has been light, but the sting of the cold was made more severe because of the preceding two weeks of spring weather.

C. F. von Herrman, local observer, declared peaches were not hurt, but would be benefited by the cold wave.

"This cold wave will be to the advantage of fruit trees," he said. "They are not far enough advanced to be injured by the freeze, but the cold weather will set back the crop about two weeks, protecting it against any possible freezing weather to come."

William F. Turner, in charge of the government laboratory at Fort Valley, in the heart of the peach belt, said little damage was done to orchards except a few early varieties.

Smudge pots blazed Monday night as the forecast was for frost and the South Carolin orchardists Sunday night had the fires glowing among their peach trees to protect them.

The forecast for frost for Florida was made by C. W. Bradford, assistant meteorologist at Miami, who added that rising temperatures would follow after a minimum of 44 degrees today.

Snow covered the mountains of North Carolina and Virginia Sunday, slowing up traffic.

Minimums Monday ranged from 12 at Asheville, N. C., to 52 at Miami, Fla., with sub-freezing readings prevailing except near the gulf coast.

STEPS ARE TAKEN TO RECOVER FEES ILLEGALLY PAID

Committee of Five Appointed To Investigate All Councilmen and Employes Indicted.

RESOLUTION WINS BY VOTE OF 18-15

Couch To Confer With Boykin Before Signing Paper—Revision of Election Laws Planned.

Council Monday afternoon moved to purge its own membership when by a vote of 18 to 15 it passed a resolution introduced by Alderman G. E. Millican ordering a committee of five from that body to investigate all council members and city employes indicted Saturday by Fulton county grand jury in its probe of alleged graft practices in the municipal government.

The guilty will have impeachment proceedings brought against them while the innocent will be exonerated, under terms of the resolution.

At the same session council voted to establish a committee to revise and modernize municipal election laws.

Civil prosecution to recover any fees obtained by any person or persons who entered into collusion with any city official is sought in another paper which was adopted. The resolution was presented by Alderman Richards.

Suit to Recover Ordered.

The measure asks City Attorney James L. Mayson to scrutinize presentments of the grand jury carefully in an effort to ascertain whether the borough has been defrauded of any money it should have received, and if any such sums are found to enter suit to collect it.

Mayor Pro Tem J. Allen Couch, presiding, and himself under indictment on a misdemeanor charge, broke two ties in the voting during a hard parliamentary battle over passage of a proposal of Alderman Alvin Richards to investigate other city officials and employes scored by the grand jury presentments but not indicted.

Half a dozen members of council, three department heads, four former officials of the borough government and seven citizens were involved in the indictments returned by the grand jury.

The paper calling for a councilmanic committee of five members to probe the charges which the grand jury made against those now holding office was passed after one of the hardest parliamentary battles waged in the council hall in several months by a vote of 18 for and 15 against.

Indicted Vote for Probe.

Four of the six council members named in the indictments voted for the council investigation. Alderman J. E. Turner, of the second, was not present, and Alderman Couch did not vote.

Couch declared he would not approve the resolution until he holds a conference with Solicitor-General John A. Boykin to ascertain whether such

20,146 Advise Marian On Marriage Problem

Grinning drivers backed up mail truck to The Constitution office all day Sunday and unloaded sack after sack of mail.

"There have been many popular girls," said the mail truck drivers, "but none like this girl Marian, who has asked for advice in The Constitution about which one of six men she shall marry. She has certainly got plenty of advice. If she can't pick the right man with all these people helping, no one can."

And they were right. Marian received the last of her mail yesterday. That is, the last that will be counted. The letters had to be in the mail by midnight Sunday. There may be some from miles away that get in. They will if the postmark shows they were mailed before midnight.

Yesterday's mail was unprecedented. The 15,000 mark was passed on Sunday. There were more letters in the office than could be carried away in a wagon.

The total number of responses received up to last night was 20,146.

For a week The Constitution had employed five girls to open and arrange the letters for the committee to judge them. Yesterday it was necessary to add more to the force.

People read The Constitution. It is estimated that well over a hundred thousand have been reading about Marian and her approaching marriage to one of the six suitors. Over 20,000 of them were so interested they sat down and wrote the advice requested by the young girl.

Each of the six young men had their friends. Next Sunday Marian must marry one of them. She will make her choice from the advice to be found in the great stacks of letters.

There is Jim, the farmer. Gregory,

HARRIS ADVISED RIVER SURVEY FUNDS SET UP

$146,000 Allocated for Work on Apalachicola River System.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(Special.)—Senator W. J. Harris today received a letter from Major General Lytle Brown, of the United States board of army engineers, informing him that $146,000 has been allocated for the work of surveying the Apalachicola river system. This includes the Chattahoochee river, which is a tributary of the Apalachicola.

The work is to be done under a bill introduced by Senator Harris, in which Congressmen Wright, Crisp and Cox are co-operating. It is for the purpose of ascertaining to what extent the Chattahoochee and the other rivers of the Apalachicola system can be made navigable.

The letter to Senator Harris in part was as follows:

"The Chattahoochee river is a tributary of the Apalachicola river system. Preliminary report on the Apalachicola river system was submitted on January 31, 1929, and after review by the board of engineers for rivers and harbors and by the chief of engineers, the project study involving a complete and detailed survey, estimated to cost $250,000, was ordered and assigned to the district engineer, Montgomery, Ala.

"This survey is now in progress. Stream gaging and measurement of the rivers in this system and field surveys on the control system and the topography of this are, are under way. A total of $146,420 has been allocated to date, to the district engineer for this survey. Expenditure and obligations to January 31, 1930, have totaled $74,555.96.

"It is expected that this report will be submitted on December 31, 1931.

"Very truly yours,
"(Signed) LYTLE BROWN,
"Major Chief of Engineers."

NEGRO LEADER TELLS OF RACE'S PROBLEMS

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(AP)—Dr. Robert R. Moton, principal of Tuskegee institute, said today that if the negro is to survive the test of modern civilization he must utilize every medium and instrument of advancement.

Speaking at exercises observing the charter date of Howard University, the negro educator said that "we, as negroes, find ourselves situated in the midst of an advanced civilization which has required in the aggregate thousands of years for its development.

"In spite of our limited opportunities," he added, "we are measured by the same standards: we carry the same responsibilities and in spite of all handicaps we are expected to meet the competition of larger wealth, greater numbers, more favorable opportunities and unlimited resources.

"If we survive in such a situation it must be only as we secure for ourselves every medium and instrument of advancement possessed by those around us. By the logic of events the negro must have every type of education to meet the demands of conditions with which he is confronted.

Dr. Moton said that "we are fortunate that from the beginning we have had the co-operation and unselfish devotion of a host of men and women of another race representing the finest culture and the noblest traditions of our land from the north and also from the south, men and women who have counted it a privilege to serve in the emancipation of a race from poverty and ignorance."

County Candidates Will Speak Tonight

The first public debate by aspirants for the three posts on the Fulton county commission to be decided March 19 are slated this week.

Beginning at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the Lucile Avenue school, all members of the Dan Griffith, Nelson Spratt and Alex Whitley ticket will mount the rostrum.

Their opponents, Dr. William L. Gilbert, Paul S. Etheridge and Walter C. Hendrix, were urged by the committee in charge of Spratt, Whitley, Griffith ticket to be present and speak.

Another meeting is slated for 7:30 o'clock Thursday night at the Slaton school in the interest of the same ticket, and opponents also have been invited to attend that meeting.

School Board Moves To City Hall Monday

Offices of the Atlanta board of education will be housed in the new city hall, at Washington and Mitchell streets, by next Monday morning, Dr. McIntosh M. Burns, president of the board, announced Monday. Removal of the school executive offices from the old Walker Street school building will begin Friday night.

The board of education will occupy the top six floors of the new city hall. The board formerly had offices in the old city hall, up until occupancy of the Walker Street school as offices for the executive department.

Authority for removal of the offices was gained in a telephone poll of the board members, as the next regular meeting of the board will not be held until Tuesday, March 11.

Check for Teacher Salaries Is Signed

A check for $221,662 for February salaries of Atlanta school teachers was signed Monday by Mayor Pro Tem. J. Allen Couch, who is acting as mayor in the absence from the city of Mayor I. N. Ragsdale. The check was drawn to the school department, and in the department, in turn, will issue checks to individual teachers.

City Comptroller B. Graham West, acting under authority of a resolution adopted by council at the first of this year, borrowed an additional $325,000 from local banks. The loan was handled by the First National Bank, the Citizens & Southern National Bank and the Fulton National Bank, and will be paid back later in the year when tax collections are made.

Texans Will Support Sutton's Candidacy

On the heels of grand jury presentments Saturday demanding that Dr. Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of Atlanta public schools, be required to "stay on the job," members of the Texas delegation passing through Atlanta Sunday on their way home from Atlantic City declared they would support the Atlanta school head for the post of president of the National Educational Association.

Dr. Sutton attended the convention of school superintendents held at Atlantic City last week and made an address on "Health." He is now first vice president of the education body.

Accused Officers May Direct City's Destinies From Cell

MISDEMEANOR CONVICTION WILL NOT AFFECT STATUS, BELIEF

The prospect of some of our city fathers voting the will of their representative districts from a jail cell or even from a near-by chaingang loomed Monday as Atlanta's leading legal lights debated ouster of accused councilmen if they are found guilty of the charges in the graft grand jury's indictments.

The pecularities of the criminal code governing the cases under which the city officials were indicted offer high hopes to both the defense and the accused, it was reported.

All of the indictments charge misdemeanors and not a consequent loss of citizenship on conviction. If any of the accused later should be indicted and convicted of a felony, lawyers pointed out that they would lose their citizenship and consequently their right to hold office but it was stressed that unless the council itself voted to vacate the seats held by members convicted of misdemeanors, those gentlemen might continue to be office holders, if their terms did not expire or if the voice of the people expressed at the polls did not say otherwise.

City Attorney James L. Mayson said he was not certain on the mooted question and Monday night promised to "look it up" when he reached his office today.

However, four of the indicted councilmen, J. Allen Couch, Charles L. Chosewood, Sr., Harry York and William E. Saunders, come up for re-election this year, while the terms of Jack C. Hardy, councilman, and W. P. Price, city purchasing agent, expire next year. It is considered likely that the first four will face the electorate before their cases are finally decided so unless they are re-elected it appears unlikely that the courts will be asked to rule on the question.

Friends of the accused officials called to mind Monday that Andrew J. (Bossy) Gillis directed the destinies of his municipality of Newburyport, Mass., from a jail cell, where he was sent by a judge for being in contempt of the judge's tribunal.

"If Gillis could run his town from jail the indicted councilmen probably can hold their jobs while in jail, too," the accused men's counsel pointed out. "The laws governing the offenses are greatly similar."

"And O'er His Heart A SHADOW FELL," [Edgar Allan Poe, 1809-1849]

"Coming events cast their shadows before"

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW*

By refraining from over-indulgence

Men who would keep that trim, proper form, women who prize the modern figure with its subtle, seductive curves—eat healthfully but not immoderately. Banish excessiveness—eliminate abuses. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. When tempted to excess, when your eyes are bigger than your stomach, reach for a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence if you would maintain that lithe, youthful figure.

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette a man ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so "TOASTING" not only removes impurities but adds to the flavor and improves the taste.

*Be Moderate! . . . Don't jeopardize the modern form by drastic diets, harmful reducing girdles, fake reducing tablets or other quack "anti-fat" remedies condemned by the Medical profession! Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensible! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky" instead, you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

GEORGIAN'S STATEMENT DEFENDS NAVAL PARLEY

Minister, in Letter to George, Points Out Sentiment.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(Special.)—Taking issue with the suggestion made recently by some of his democratic colleagues, Senator Walter F. George, of Georgia, in a brief statement on the floor today declared that the withdrawal of American delegates from the present London naval limitation parley would be "a most disappointing blow to the hopes of mankind."

Senator Kenneth McKellar, of Tennessee, had proposed withdrawal of American participation in the naval conference after making the observation that prospects were not bright for an agreement on the further limitation of armament.

The statement by Senator George, who is a member of the foreign relations committee that will be called upon to approve any treaty negotiated on the subject, was made in connection with a letter he has just received from Dr. D. P. McGeachy, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Decatur, Ga., who declared that "thousands of thinking people are concerned about the conference."

"I do not offer the letter for the record," said Senator George, "because it contains several personal references, but I do desire to quote Dr. McGeachy with reference to the naval conference. In the letter he makes this statement:

"'I believe that I represent thousands of thinking people when I say that we are deeply concerned about the naval conference in London. I sincerely hope that you will exert every possible power to see that good comes out of this gathering.

"'Just now the news is rather discouraging, but we believe that intelligent people should simply intensify their efforts and that we should determine on success for the conference at any cost. A failure in London just now would certainly have very serious consequences. The prevention of another war like the recent world struggle is an ideal toward which our strength should be turned. And I believe that the people will follow the senate in doing all that you can for a real reduction of naval expenditure.'

"I wish to add just this word," the Georgia senator added, "that in my judgment the withdrawal of our conferees from the conference in London would be most disappointing to the hopes of mankind, and I believe that the well-nigh unanimous sentiment of the American people is in thorough accord with the declarations made by the senior senator from Idaho (Mr. Borah) Saturday evening when he expressed full confidence in our delegates at London and the utmost hope in the successful outcome of their efforts."

Wreckage of Plane Reported in Canor

LOS ANGELES, March 3.—(AP)—Confident that J. T. Barber, a rancher, had located a Western Air Express transport plane which has been missing with its crew of three for more than a week, Sheriff Walter Shay, of San Bernardino county, today organized a posse to search for the ship in an almost inaccessible canyon of the San Bernardino mountains 20 miles northeast of Lake Arrowhead.

The sighting of the wreckage of an airplane was reported today by Barber. The rancher said he saw the disabled ship while sweeping the mountainsides with powerful field glasses. He estimated he was approximately a mile away from it and fixed the location of the wreck in Deep Box canyon. He saw a red fuselage, which corresponds to the color of the Western Air Express ships, and said one wing apparently was missing from the plane. No sign of life was apparent, he reported.

The searchers were faced with the task of cutting their way through trackless brush and climbing over exceedingly rough terrain. A driving rain and cloud-enveloped mountain peaks added to their difficulties.

Barber's report substantiated previous clues from persons who saw Doles' ship buckying a storm in the mountains a week ago Sunday headed in the general direction of Lake Arrowhead. The missing transport, piloted by James E. Doles, was en route to Los Angeles from Kingman, Ariz., with Co-Pilot A. W. Bieber and Steward John W. Slaton. Doles once before was sought when he failed to arrive at Albuquerque, N. M., but on that occasion he was missing only 24 hours, having landed on a mountain mesa to wait out a storm.

Quillian Hits Lack Of Spiritual Life

"If I have any charge against the college men of today it is that so many of them grow up intellectually and remain a child spiritually, the Rev. Paul Quillian told Emory University students Monday in opening his series of talks on the religious emphasis week program of the Y. M. C. A. He spoke first on Sunday at the Emory church and is holding services twice daily on the campus, at 10 a. m. and 7 p. m.

The dearth of religious thinking on the college campuses of America was cited by the speaker as a condition which should be productive of sympathy rather than condemnation. "I do not blame you for thinking there is not much to religion when you do not have any more religious ideas and do no more religious thinking than you do."

Speaker Longworth appointed a committee of 15 house members to attend the funeral services at Huntington, Wednesday.

The committee comprised the entire West Virginia house delegation and Representatives Cooper and Stafford, of Wisconsin; Haugen, of Iowa; Glenn, of Connecticut; Reese, of Tennessee; Jenkins, of Ohio; Langley and Craddock, of Kentucky; McSwain, of South Carolina, and Hill, of Alabama.

High Court Upholds Georgia Loan Statute

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(AP)—An attack on the Georgia law regulating the interest rate on small loans of money, brought by J. L. Morgan, of Fulton county, today was dismissed by the supreme court for want of a substantial federal question.

Indicted for loaning money without a license, Morgan challenged the constitutionality of the law. He insisted collections from the license tax were being used for illegal investigations and unlawful search and seizure.

The act was sustained by the Georgia courts.

Young Woman Recalls Troubadours of Old

Itinerant poets of yesteryear have a counterpart in Miss George Elliston who will pass through Atlanta Thursday on her "gypsy tour" of the southern states. The old-time bard rhymed as he walked from place to place but this modern versifier composes ballads as she rides in a bus!

Miss Elliston receives her greatest inspiration while riding in busses, she says. Consequently she has arranged to spend her vacation in the manner of a modern minstrel, travelling about from city to city and meanwhile composing her poems.

In contrast to the old-style poet's singularity of purpose, Miss Elliston is exceedingly active. As society editor of The Cincinnati Times-Star, she writes poems in "the snaps of leisure that are mine on the way to and from assignments, after editions, while waiting for interviewers to keep appointments", she says.

Dennett Sex Book Ruled Permissable

NEW YORK, March 3.—(AP)—Mrs. Mary Ware Dennett, mother of two grown sons, will not have to go to jail after all for having sent through the mails a copy of "The Sex Side of Life," a brochure which she wrote 15 years ago for the instruction of her children.

The United States circuit court of appeals today reversed her conviction on charge of having sent obscene matter through the mails to Mrs. C. A. Miles, in Grottoes, Va.

A decision written by Judge Augustus N. Hand, whose two colleagues unanimously concurred with him, sets aside the conviction, fine and prison sentence. No retrial was ordered.

Judge Hand based his decision on the ground that "no case was made for submission to the jury."

"The pamphlet may fairly be said to be calculated to aid parents in the instruction of their children in sex matters," Judge Hand wrote.

LEWIS DAVIS HONORED

Named on Arbitration Board of Accountants.

Lewis L. Davis, certified public accountant of Atlanta, has been appointed as the Georgia member of the committee on arbitration of the American Society of Certified Public Accountants for 1930, according to announcement just made in New York city by Homer A. Dunn, chairman of the committee. This committee is composed of a representative from each state.

Lucius R. Eastman, president of the American Arbitration Association, in commenting upon the appointment of the committee, said "In this period of business uncertainty it has seemed to our directors that keeping business controversies out of the public mind and press is an effective way of preserving business confidence and of stabilizing conditions. The arbitration committee of the American Society of Certified Public Accountants will be of tremendous help in our work in Georgia, and I am very glad to welcome the co-operation of Mr. Davis."

GRAY HAIR IS EASILY DARKENED

Tells How She Did It With a Home-Made Remedy.

Mrs. E. H. Boots, a well-known resident of Buchanan County, Ia., who darkened her gray hair, made the following statement:

"Anyone can darken their gray or faded hair, and look twenty years younger with this simple remedy, which they can mix at home. To half a pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, one small box of Barbo Compound and 1-4 ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair every other day until the gray hair is darkened sufficiently. It does not color the scalp, is not greasy and does not rub off. It will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger."—(adv.)

Green Will Address Mississippi Senate

JACKSON, Miss., March 3.—(AP)—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, is scheduled to address the Mississippi legislature tomorrow on the problems of the laboring men.

The labor chief is expected to answer charges made on the senate floor that the federation was un-American relative to its position favoring a workman's compensation law and charge that he "had the solution to the New Orleans street car strike, and let it slip from his hands."

Strenuous objection was raised to his appearance before the legislature by Senator E. C. Barlow, Brookhaven, and adoption of a resolution extending President Green the invitation was not assured until after the senate had at first voted against the resolution, then on a motion to reconsider adopted the measure.

Dunedin Expects Byrd Within Two Weeks

DUNEDIN, New Zealand, March 3. (UN)—Members of Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd's expedition which spent two seasons exploring the antarctic by airplane expect to arrive here within two weeks, it was said in wireless messages received today.

The messages said the expedition was heading northward after having passed through the ice pack which was so thick this season that for a time it threatened to prevent transport vessels from reaching the Americans at their base at Little America.

Willys Approved.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(AP)—John North Willys, of Toledo, Ohio, will be nominated ambassador to Poland tomorrow. The White House announced today that the Polish government has assured that Mr. Willys is acceptable. The automobile manufacturer will succeed the late Alexander P. Moore, who died recently in California before leaving for Warsaw.

Former Official Describes Early Days of World League

BY F. A. SETTLE.

"Once in the early days of the League of Nations, refugees were used in part payment of Bulgaria's debt to the league," Sir Herbert Brown Ames, first financial director of the League of Nations, related here Monday night in a short talk in which he recited many of the intimate happenings concerning his experiences as the first world treasurer. Sir Herbert told the story of his many difficulties to a group of Agnes Scott college and Emory University professors and student members of the international relations clubs at a dinner given in his honor at The Tavern.

America was indirectly concerned in the payment of this League of Nations assessment made in refugees by the Bulgarian government, the league treasurer said.

"It happened in this manner. Near East Relief work was to be withdrawn from certain parts of Europe as soon as possible. The workers offered $8 per head for the Russian refugees who would be given employment in other countries. The Bulgarian government took a number of these. Credit was accorded that government by the Near East Relief fund. I immediately wrote that I would accept a New York draft for the amount due the league. Thus the money was obtained through the credit given on the refugees from Russia."

A dingy satchel full of American bills of all denominations paid the annual assessments of Poland. American relatives who send dollar bills home kept this country off the blacklist. The bills went into the possession of the government upon a patriotic appeal offering their full value in Polish currency.

"International currency was needed at this time. When I went to Geneva there was no gold available anywhere. Every country had suffered depreciated currency. To collect was hard. We made the gold franc our standard, although no gold francs were paid. We actually received funds in a currency which in reality did not exist. The American dollar was used as the yardstick.

"We were spending Swiss francs and collecting in gold francs. Thus we made from $100,000 to $150,000 in gold francs on the exchange.

"Today the assets of the league are $7,500,000 over her liabilities, with about $3,000,000 in liquid cash in the bank. Buildings are being erected at Geneva at a cost of $6,000,000 to $7,000,000. You may be sure the states would not be putting their money in permanent buildings unless they thought the league was here to stay."

Sir Herbert Brown Ames is in Atlanta for a series of informal discussions and public lectures. He will speak at 8:30 o'clock tonight at Agnes Scott college on "The Changing Spirit of Europe, 1919-1929," and at 8:15 o'clock Wednesday night at Emory University he will deliver an address, "Will the New Machinery of the League of Nations Prevent War?"

HAD PRACTICALLY ABANDONED HOPE, SAYS MRS. HENSON

Troubles of Fifteen Years' Standing Brought To Happy End by New Sargon, Declares Atlanta Woman.

"I've taken fourteen bottles of Sargon and am in better health than I have been in years," recently declared Mrs. H. J. Henson, Route 5, Atlanta.

more than fifteen years, and at times I had very bad spells with my stomach, but somehow I managed to keep going until about sixteen months ago. I came down then with a terrible case of the flu, and for nearly six months I spent most of my time in bed. I just couldn't get my strength back and I lost a lot in weight. I had no appetite, and the little I ate disagreed with me. No one ever suffered more from terrible headaches than I did; my liver was sluggish, I had severe dizzy spells, by complexion and eyeballs were yellowish, and there were liver spots all over my face. In addition to all these things, I'd suffered from constipation practically all my life; my kidneys seemed disordered ever since that attack of flu; my back ached frightfully all the time; my right leg and ankle were badly swollen, and my sufferings were so great they seemed unbearable. I slept miserably—often I'd not close my eyes all night, and I never slept before midnight. I'd taken so many medicines and treatments without results that I'd about given up hope, but there was so much in the papers about Sargon, and the way it was benefitting people right here in this city, that I decided to try it.

"Before I'd finished the first bottle of this wonderful medicine I began to feel its good effects, and I'm now so greatly improved that I hardly know myself. If there's anything wrong with my stomach and kidneys I don't know it. I have a good appetite, eat what I want and digest it. I haven't a trace of the old stomach troubles. Those terrible pains in my back have disappeared, and my leg and ankle are not swollen like they were. My whole system seems strengthened. I've regained my lost weight and I sleep wonderfully. I do my housework now and enjoy it.

"I took Sargon Soft Mass Pills right along with the tonic, and I never expect to be without them in my home. They relieved me of constipation, stimulated my liver to perfect action and I haven't had a headache or dizzy spell since taking them. My complexion and eyes have cleared up and the liver spots are nearly all gone from my face.

"I'm very thankful and happy too for all this wonderful medicine has done for me, and I'll always be glad to pass the good word along."

$1,000,000 HIGHWAY WORK IS PROJECTED

Simultaneously with the statement that the last $200,000 of the state highway department's indebtedness awaited only details of accounting before being liquidated, Colonel Sam Tate, highway director, announced Monday that $1,000,000 of federal aid projects would be advertised immediately for bids.

The relatively small remaining obligations of the department, Colonel Tate said, were to the counties, all debts to contractors for work completed and miscellaneous bills having been paid.

The projects which will be advertised have already received the approval of federal engineers. They are:

In Paulding county, Route 6, between Cedartown and Austell, grading.

Barrow county, Route 8, between Winder and Athens, grading.

Muscogee county, Route 22, between Columbus and Macon, via Geneva, paving.

Baldwin county, Route 24, between Milledgeville and Eatonton, grading.

Emanuel county, Route 26, between Swainsboro and Dublin, paving.

Brooks county, Route 33, between Quitman and Thomasville, paving.

Seventh Project.

A seventh project, included in the board's plans for the first letting but which is yet in the hands of C. E. Swain, United States district engineer at Montgomery, has not yet received final approval. State officials, however, said they expected part of it to be approved some time today. The original project included grading, paving and bridges on Route 11 in Hall county, between Gainesville and Jefferson. It was understood the United States government probably will approve the paving, but will leave the grading and bridges out for the present.

B. P. McWhorter, acting state highway engineer, said he had estimated the total of projects in the first letting at $1,000,000. He did not give estimates on the individual projects, either as to mileage or cost.

$2,000,000 Project.

Another group of projects, still in Mr. Swain's hands for examination pending approval, will go in the board's second letting. This group, Mr. McWhorter estimated, will involve $2,000,000, and includes the following projects:

In Cobb county Route 5, between Marietta and Canton, grading.

Hall and Habersham counties, route 13, between Gainesville and Baldwin, completing the paved road from Atlanta to Asheville and another completely paved route north and south across the state.

Madison county, route 8, three bridges between Athens and Hartwell.

Gwinnett county, route 8, between Lawrenceville and Winder, paving.

Taylor county, route 3, Atlanta-Thomasville road, via Thomaston, Butler and Ellaville, grading and one bridge.

Macon county, route 49, between Fort Valley and Americus, paving.

Atkinson county, route 50, between Tifton and Waycross via Alapaha and Pearson, bridges.

Ware and Brantley counties, route 50, between Waycross and Brunswick, via Nahunta, paving.

Monday's developments came after statements over the past several weeks by Chairman Tate to the effect that the board would be prepared to retire the last of its past-due debts early in March and immediately would begin letting new contracts.

The board has prepared a third letting but the list of projects to be included has not been announced. This was understood to have included another $1,000,000 of work. Approval by federal authorities must be awaited also on this, since all projects are to be built on a federal-aid basis.

Negro Woman Killed By Hit-and-Run Auto

The first known fatality since the offer of a reward of $100 for all "hit-and-run" drivers who were apprehended and convicted occurred at Hilliard and Pittman streets Monday night when a car struck Fannie Ross, negro woman, and almost instantly killed her. Arrie Willis, daughter of the dead woman, living at 97-B Lucy street, was with her mother at the time and told police that a "big green sedan" driven by a white man struck her mother.

Call Officers Luke Ratledge and Arthur Daley made an investigation, as did Detectives G. G. Caldwell and A. E. Davis, who chased the car to Fair and Grant streets, where it outdistanced them.

20,146 ADVISE MARION ON MARRIAGE

the banker, is another. Harry, the wealthy young pleasure seeker, is still another. Dick, the aviator, would almost give up flying for her. Tom, the college athlete, is still interested in athletics, but he loves her. Jerry, the young doctor, wants her to help him make his career.

And each of them has his friends and his foes in the letters that are here. Marian has been advised to marry for money, to shun money, to marry and help a man with his career, to avoid poverty, to welcome it as a chance to work into comfort with her husband.

And Marian keeps waiting for the letter that must be discovered. Next Sunday she will marry one of them. She likes and loves them all. One she loves more than the others. She can't quite make up her mind.

Over 20,000 readers of The Constitution have advised her. One of them will win a $100 prize. Others will win $400 in smaller prizes for the next best letters. There were no strings to the prizes. All that was required was a letter telling why Marian should marry one of the six men who love her.

It has been an interesting study as the men and women have put their hearts into the romance of Marian, speaking to her out of their hearts and their own experiences. If, as the circulation men say, five people read each newspaper, then more than 100,000 people are interested in this girl Marian and her approaching marriage. The contest, one of the most successful ones ever conducted in the south, is ended.

Which one will Marian marry? Read next Sunday's Constitution for the answer and the prize winners.

mopolitan characteristics of the student body and engineering requirements, in addition to the general requirements of the fund in connection with grants of this character, the committee finally decided to make the grant to the Georgia School of Technology," the statement of the award issued by the committee of trustees of the fund declared.

This grant to Georgia Tech is the final deed of the Guggenheim fund, which officially ceased to exist January 31, after having expended more than $3,000,000 in the promotion of aviation throughout the country.

During the four years of its existence the fund granted more than $1,500,000 to educational institutions, including California Institute of Technology, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Leland Stanford University and University of Washington. Previous to the organization of the fund the Guggenheim family endowed the Daniel Guggenheim School for Aeronautics at New York University.

Other Activities.

Among its other activities were the endowment of libraries, financing of experimental work and research, and in the earlier days of commercial air passenger transport, subsidizing and making equipment loans to commercial air companies, and establishing flying clubs throughout the country.

Colonel Charles Lindbergh made an air tour of the country in 1927 under the auspices of the Guggenheim fund, as had the late Floyd Bennett the year previously.

In announcing the dissolution of the fund, Ambassador Harry F. Guggenheim, its president, declared:

"In the past three years the public attitude toward aviation has changed from apathetic indifference to intense enthusiasm. Not only is there a sound commercial basis for aviation so that it can, from now on, take care of itself, but there have been established in different geographic sections of this country aeronautical engineering and research centers which are second to none in the world. These centers connected with the great universities are a continuing contribution to the new science of aeronautics. With commercial aviation assured of public support and aeronautical science equally assured of continued research, the further development of aviation in this country can best be fulfilled in the typically American manner of private business enterprise."

Entrance to Madame Jacobson's Mayfair salon, where the smartest women of London consult this renowned beauty expert.

England's leader in beauty culture

Mme. BERTHA JACOBSON

warns "against the harsh effects of soaps not made exclusively of olive and palm oils"

"By using Palmolive," says Mme. Jacobson, "you can always be sure that your skin will retain its natural freshness of beauty."

A corner of the quaint Victorian waiting room in Madame Jacobson's London salon. Furnishings help to reveal the interesting background of this well-known shop.

"WHEN women come to me for advice on the care of the skin," says Madame Bertha Jacobson, of London, "I always impress on them the need for soap and water, as cleanliness of the skin is the first step to beauty."

"But," Madame Jacobson goes on to say, "I warn against the harsh effects of soaps not made exclusively of olive and palm oils."

Dangers to skin beauty

The skin secretes oils; the day's make-up, face creams, dirt, clog the tiny pores. Unless these accumulations are safely and gently removed, blackheads and other blemishes soon appear. And the delicate lather of Palmolive is the chosen method for keeping skin free of these blemishes . . . the preferred method of more than 18,900 world-famous experts.

Madame Jacobson, of Mayfair

Both as teacher and beauty specialist, Madame Jacobson is deferred to by members of her profession, many of whom have studied the essentials of beauty culture under her tutelage. And among London society women, her superiority as a beauty specialist is unquestioned.

When Madame Jacobson urges the daily use of Palmolive that recommendation carries the weight of authority.

Madame Bertha Jacobson, herself, administering to a client in her Mayfair beauty salon. Madame Jacobson was the teacher of many of our own famous beauty experts.

This treatment, night and morning

Make a creamy lather of Palmolive Soap and warm water. With both hands massage this well into the skin two minutes, allowing it to penetrate the pores. Then rinse, first with warm water, gradually with colder. A final rinse with ice water is refreshing as an astringent.

To get the full benefit of salon treatments, you should co-operate with your beauty specialist by using Palmolive Soap twice a day. By beginning tomorrow you will hasten the return of natural loveliness. And since Palmolive costs so little, why not enjoy it for the bath as well as the face? Millions already do, in 48 countries the world over.

"Other soaps may irritate the skin; may cause coarse pores and an unpleasant feeling of roughness. Palmolive, on the other hand, leaves the skin delightfully smooth. It is refreshing, pure, safe. Your skin needs its gentle lather, for true cleanliness, twice daily."

Bertha Jacobson

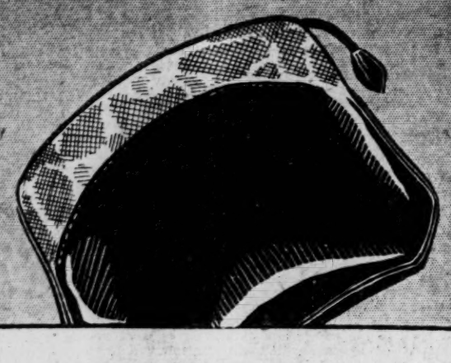

11/12 DOVER STREET, LONDON, W. 1

A vast professional group of 18,900 beauty shops advise the daily use of one soap—and only one—Palmolive.

New Orleans Dock Blaze Kills 2, Injures Twelve

Damage Estimated at More Than $3,000,000 Done by Spectacular Conflagration.

NEW ORLEANS, March 3.—(AP) Vivid tales of rescue were told today by survivors of a group of about 35 men, women and children at dinner aboard the United States shipping board steamship Scantic, badly damaged last night in the $3,000,000 cotton fire that swept the Charbonnet street docks here.

The list of casualties showed two dead and 12 injured, five of them severely burned, as firemen continued to pour streams of water upon the mass of cotton bales and blackened timbers still smouldering and slipping into the muddy Mississippi river.

The dead are Joseph Ryan, 46, messman on the Scantic, and Roland Kreher, 3-year-old child.

Ryan, trapped in his cabin, was overcome and burned to death on the burning deck of the Scantic where its cargo of cotton was caught in the sweep of the flames from the dock. His body was recovered by river firefighters after the blaze on the Scantic in midstream had been extinguished. The child, rescued in the arms of his mother as they were lowered over the side of the blazing ship, died today in the hospital.

The flames originated in an undetermined manner underneath the runway of the wharf close to the waterline. At first sight of the fire, Harold Mann, second mate on the vessel, ran ashore to telephone the alarm. The blaze spread rapidly and he was unable to return to his ship.

Women shrieked and screamed in horror as the fire quickly enveloped 15,000 cotton bales on the Alabo Cotton Warehouse wharf, swooped up the land side of the Scantic, through her port holes and took in the cotton cargo on her upper deck.

Those on board rushed to the deck and strapped on life preservers. Men and women jumped into the water to save their lives, among them Mrs. Mann, wife of the second mate. Small craft picked them up. All suffered some degree of burns.

SENATOR NYE DEMANDS PROBE OF FARM RELIEF

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(AP)—Investigation into operation of the new farm relief act and its administration by the farm board was proposed in the senate today by Senator Nye, republican, North Dakota. It will be considered tomorrow by the agriculture committee.

Senator Nye, who has supported the farm board in its campaign to establish a national farmer-owned and farmer-controlled grain organization, said he had received numerous protests citing the conference in Chicago last week between farm board members and officials of the National Grain Corporation.

The resolution would direct the senate's inquiry also into activities of the grain trade toward the farm relief act and would ask for a report on whether the trade had sought to "depress the world market for American agricultural products and to reflect such depression upon the domestic market for the purpose of discrediting the farm board."

Chairman McNary, of the senate agriculture committee, ordered a meeting for tomorrow when the resolution was referred to him. Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, suggested that the committee might go ahead and conduct an inquiry of its own without a resolution, but Senator McNary replied that he did not favor turning the committee into a grand jury.

Senator Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, urged that the investigation be broad enough to include an inquiry into cotton and the reasons for what he described as a failure to administer the insurance provisions of the law. Senator Brookhart, republican, Iowa, asked that the investigation include activities in the oats, corn and live stock markets.

Senator Nye said he thought the resolution broad enough to include all of these.

Discussing the wheat situation, Senator Nye said:

"The protests which are coming from the co-operative agencies this morning lead me to believe that a large part of that confidence which existed last week was destroyed in some manner or other by the conference held in Chicago. No matter what that situation may be, no matter how meritorious might be an inquiry into what happened there, I think the senate itself is intensely interested in knowing precisely what is the program of the farm board, precisely what is the outlook and precisely how the farm board is utilizing the marketing act itself."

BRIDE DIES IN WRECK EN ROUTE TO WEDDING

Five Members of Bridal Party Injured in Crash of Auto.

BURLINGTON, N. C., March 3.—(AP)—A 19-year-old girl en route to her wedding, was killed and five members of the wedding party, including the groom-to-be, were injured near Danville, Va., today when their automobile left the highway and plunged down an embankment. The dead girl is Miss Hallie Cheek, of Burlington.

The wedding was to have been in Danville and the party was making haste to reach the Virginia city. Approximately 25 miles from Burlington the automobile, which was traveling at a high rate of speed, failed to take a curve.

All the members of the party with the exception of Slim Henderson, driver of the automobile, are in a Danville hospital. The others injured are Herndon Wills, the prospective groom; Miss Annie Cheek, sister of the dead girl; Miss Evelyn Wills, sister of the groom-to-be, and Sedrick Matthews, a friend. All were from Burlington.

Fishermen Tell Of Wild 'Ride' Behind Whale

PALM BEACH, Fla., March 3.—(UN)—A thrilling tale of rushing 20 miles along the coast in tow of a 45-foot whale which finally was subdued after a four-hour battle, was told here this afternoon by Frank Cheek, society sportsman, and Van Campen Heilner, contributor to sporting magazines.

Their story was confirmed by many other fishermen who watched the fight and followed with their boats in the wake of the Kemah as the whale sped along the warm waters of the gulf stream and by motion pictures snapped by Heilner.

The whale was sighted near Lake Worth inlet, five miles north of Palm Beach. After it was harpooned, it pulled the boat six or seven miles out to set before the party could close in to fire 100 rounds of ammunition into its huge body.

Then it started another spurt which carried the craft north to Jupiter lighthouse.

More than 200 shells were sunk into the monster before it was vanquished in the four-hour struggle.

A high wind which subsequently rose forced the fishermen to cut the body adrift before they reached shore, Heilner said.

Captain Howard Lance, of Cheek's Kemah, said the whale was a "sulphur" whale.

Miami Welcomes Latin - American Queens of Beauty

MIAMI, Fla., March 3.—(AP)—Formal welcome of the city of Miami to a group of Latin-American beauties here as guests at the first annual pageant of the Miami International Bathing Beauty Pageant Association featured the second day program of the girls today.

The welcome, at Miami city hall, was scheduled as the only formal feature of the day, although the fair visitors and their chaperones were tendered other courtesies in sightseeing trips about the city and surrounding territory.

A cold spell, driving the temperature down to 51 degrees, was the only event that tended to dim the reception of the South and Central American girls, but a change in conditions was forecast for tomorrow.

After their arrival yesterday, the group was formally welcomed by a representative of the pageant association, after which the members went to their hotels to rest after their boat trip from Cuba. They are to be guests as 49 Americans girls, selected as the most beautiful representatives of the 48 states and the District of Columbia, vie during a three-day carnival starting here Saturday for the honor of selection as "America's Sweetheart."

Word was received last night from Manchester, N. H., that Germaine de Fosses, considered one of France's fairest representatives in the United States, will leave today for Miami and may participate in the pageant.

Judge Quits, Claiming Salary Is Inadequate

WAUKEGAN, Ill., March 3.—(AP) Judge Claire C. Edwards of the 17th judicial circuit district submitted his resignation to Governor Louis L. Emmerson today because he said of inability to properly support his family on the judicial salary. The salary of a circuit court judge in Illinois is $8,000 annually. A special election will be necessary to fill his place for the rest of the term which expires in June, 1933.

The resignation was dated to become effective March 5.

Judge Edwards has served since September 28, 1914.

He heard many cases of national interest, chief among them the trial of former Governor Len Small, which resulted in acquittal on charges of conspiracy to embezzle.

"This resignation is prompted solely by a pressing need for bettering my financial situation," Judge Edwards wrote to the governor. "My salary as judge of the circuit court is insufficient to properly provide for my family and at the same time enable me to give my children the educational advantages to which they are entitled."

He announced he would take up private law practice.

Boy, 14, Kills Father For Beating Mother

NORTON, Va., March 3.—(AP)—Jim Miller, 14, was in jail here today following his confession yesterday to killing his father, Louis Miller, 38, while the latter was "beating and cussing mother."

"Here I am chief," the youth told Vic Warren, chief of police, as he surrendered. "He was beating and cussing mother and had been kicking and whipping me and my brother and I shot him," the boy told the officer.

Miller was killed instantly. His body was found on the floor of the kitchen of their home. Officers disclosed that he had been drinking heavily since early yesterday morning.

Funeral services for Miller were scheduled for today. He was the father of five children.

Preliminary examination for the youth will be conducted Tuesday.

Bond Issue Saved For South Carolina

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(AP)—The last visible bar to the proposed $65,000,000 South Carolina state highway bond issue was lowered by the supreme court today in refusing an appeal to prevent the bond sale, holding that it failed to present a substantial federal question. The court gave no written opinion on the case.

Appeal to prevent sale of the bonds had been carried to the highest tribunal by Clarence L. Johnson, of Spartansburg, South Carolina, and other citizens of the state, who contended the issue invalid, despite its authorization by the state legislature.

In their appeal before the supreme court they argued that under the South Carolina constitution the consent of the qualified voters of the state must be obtained before the highway bond issue would become valid.

Counsel for the state based their argument on the ground that the appeal did not fall within the jurisdiction of the United States supreme court.

A forecast of the court's decision, in fact, was given during oral argument of the case, when, after counsel for the objecting citizens had been heard, justices on the bench indicated they disagreed with the arguments advanced.

During the extended course of the case through the South Carolina state courts, Senator Blease, of South Carolina, backed the efforts of Johnson and his associates in opposing the issue, withdrawing from the fight only when the state supreme court handed down a victorious decision for the highway commission. An ardent advocate of state rights, Blease said he could not approve taking the controversy to the highest federal court.

Bell Bill Changes Court Procedure

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(Special.)—Congressman Thomas M. Bell, of the ninth Georgia district, today introduced a bill under the provisions of which federal court judges would be able to reduce sentences or fines after the term of court in which a case had been heard.

At present the law does not permit of the changing of a sentence after the conclusion of the term in which the case was heard. In many cases, Judge Bell feels, this results in hardship to convicted people and their families, since any newly discovered evidence, or any other matter that might arise, which would justify the reduction of a sentence, could not be acted on by the court unless it developed during the current term of the court.

It is understood that the department of justice will support Congressman Bell's bill provided no constitutional objection is found.

HOTEL UNDER HAMMER

Smart Miami Beach Hostelry Auctioned Off.

MIAMI, Fla., March 3.—(AP)—Villa D'Este hotel, a well-known bay-front hostelry, was purchased for $125,000 today by a group of bondholders attending a public auction of the property to satisfy indebtedness of $592,000.

The hotel was purchased in the name of James A. Dixon, a local attorney, acting for clients, but the successful bidder for the property was identified as Charles H. Holland, president of the Independence Indemnity Company, Philadelphia. The company is said to have guaranteed $300,000 worth of bonds issued by the hotel company.

"ATLANTA'S SCANDAL."

On this page we reprint the editorial comment of the Chattanooga Times upon the municipal exposure made by the Fulton grand juries. On Sunday practically every leading daily newspaper in America, from Bangor in Maine to San Diego in California, made a front page sensation feature of the press reports of what was submitted to the superior court in this city on Saturday.

By the time their editorial comments reach us it would require several pages of The Constitution on which to reprint the gist of them; and thus Atlanta, by reason of her evil municipal system and indicted official malfeasances, gets a nation-wide disreputable notoriety. The bad effects in many ways of that unfortunate publicity can scarcely be estimated or even imagined.

What can be done about it is the imminent question. To the courts must be left the duty of dealing with the concrete cases laid before them, but it is up to the outraged and mortified citizens of "proud Atlanta," as the Chattanooga newspaper calls her, to arouse themselves to protect their own honor and civic safety. We repeat that it is the system under which we are governed that has been most severely indicted. It is a wrong system that everywhere has lent itself to irresponsibility, mismanagement, corruption and graft.

The remedy is not to be found simply in the punishment of a few malefactors. It must be found in that change of the system which will put city affairs on a business basis, in competent business hands, and give to the people the certainty of sound, safe government.

Atlanta must reform, clean house, reburnish her stained escutcheon, and once more stand proud and unashamed among the best of American cities.

SAUCE FOR THE GANDERS.

Arising out of the tariff discussions is a new demand for a reduction of the evil of overproduction, but it is directed at the manufacturers of goods instead of at the farmers. That sounds much like tit for tat, and if the advice to the farmers is wise it should be equally sound when urged upon non-agricultural producers.

The natural and profitable market for both classes is the home market. The always persuasive protective argument of the manufacturers is the preservation of that market for the home producers as against foreign decimating competition. It has been notorious all the time that overproduced manufactures of a competitive character are sold in foreign markets for lower prices than are demanded in the home market. The defense for the practice has been the need and wisdom of keeping the domestic factories at work and American labor continuously and gainfully employed. That plausible explanation could not often be denied.

It appears reasonable, therefore, that if the ills of agriculture can be largely cured by limiting its products to the demands of the home market and reducing wheat, corn and cotton surpluses to a non-price fixing minimum, the same rule ought to work with like effectualness in the field of manufactures.

Of course, in neither case can there be calculated with surety in advance how much foreign trade demand there will be any season for American crops or goods, but that demand may work to compete in the home market for grain, or cotton, or wares, and result in both bidders having to pay a profitable American price. There seems then to be good common sense in the recommended policy that both farmers and goods-makers should hold their outputs as closely as possible to calculable rather than speculative market demands.

HOOVER'S FIRST YEAR.

The first year of the presidency of Herbert Hoover will be complete at noon today. Naturally, publicists, the press and observant people are making their appraisements of the year's executive doings and what they augur for the future.

The thought that is uppermost is that the Hoover performances have been disappointing to the general expectations of both friends and oppositionists. For no convincing reasons the impression became popular that Hoover is something of a superman and if given the opportunities of the presidency he would show a leadership and policies of the highest benefits to the people of the republic. It was the atmosphere of that belief that worked powerfully in his favor on election day in 1928.

His inaugural address to the nation on March 4 last sounded in more minor chords than the ears of the public were keyed to hear. The excuse was that he preferred to generalize conservatively until his hands were actually upon the levers of the administrative mechanism. Then, it was promised, would come strong and progressive movements from the executive office. But those movementss have not yet emerged.

President Hoover put his foot deep into troubles for himself and the people when he fatuously kept his unnecessary promise to convene an extra session of the congress to deal with farm relief through revision of the tariff. The country has been suffering now for almost 11 months from the consequences of that unfortunate setting of congress upon the messing up of the business of agriculture, industry and commerce, and the end is not yet in sight.

The fact that congress agreed to furnish him with a federal farm board and half a billion dollars, of which only $150,000,000 was made available, has saved the president's face somewhat with the conservative elements among the farmers. But the farm bloc in congress is still clamoring for further and more direct subsidies for agriculture.

The Hoover proposals for naval reductions and for the adhesion to the world court are yet on the fire and how palatable to the people the final results may be is yet unpredictable.

The prohibition problem is dogging his daily life. The Trays, Blanches and Sweethearts of both sides are barking at his door day and night. The commission which he created and from which he hoped to get a rational solution to submit to the country is divided within itself and has lost the confidence of the country.

Thus far President Hoover has made no visible progress in an economic reorganization of the government machinery, such as was expected from his engineering wisdom and experience.

An unpartisan and dispassionate review of the first Hoover year shows little to applaud and offers less to hope for in the three years ahead, since no one seems able to discern and declare what is "the Hoover policy." Thus far his offerings have been either academic or opportunist. It may be that he has in reserve large and appealing plans to offer for the public welfare. If so, the people must be content with watchful waiting until those plans are definitely revealed.

Jack Dempsey is seeking a doctor's decision whether he is pathologically capable of another punching spree. It is to be hoped that he isn't.

The soviet plan to abolish religion is to abolish the persons who have it.

Texas on Sunday celebrated her own independence day. It was March 2, 1836, when that American man-child was born by a Caesarian operation on old Mexico.

If Hoover hasn't a snickersnee to use on that coming tariff bill Hi Bingham ought to find one for him in a Connecticut tool factory.

Coolidge's "swing around the circle" makes many politicians suspect that he is trying to square it for 1932.

The German cabinet appears to have contracted that European "falling sickness."

Governor Roosevelt protests the absorption of states' rights by the federal power; but the states' rights safe-door has already been burglariously jimmied.

Party leaders now promise to get congress out of the tariff trenches before the Fourth of July. That would be fresh cause for a freedom jubilee.

Haitians are boycotting the Hoover probers. They probably fear that William Allen White will write an essay on "What's the Matter With Haiti?"

THE WORLD'S WINDOW
BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

Rain in Jerusalem.

Each year, since times immemorial, the inhabitants of Palestine, anxiously scan the horizon at this time of the season for the "little clouds that rise out of the sea." On their appearance depends the salvation of the land and the crops. As in the days of Elijah, who sent his servant up till seven times to look for the first cloud that time when there had been such a long and terrible drought, the life-giving moisture comes blowing across the massive granite back of Carmel. The clouds may be no bigger than a man's hand, but soon the skies are overcast with black clouds and wind, and the downpour begins. Then there is again "sound of abundance of rain." In a few hours towns and villages are isolated and rivers swish and rush down the ancient stair-cased streets of old Jerusalem. Roads are washed away, familiar landmarks in the country disappear under the all-engulfing flood. Bethlehem is a mere island, and the soil that is parched almost the year around under a blistering sun comes back to life. The rain is coming down in torrents in Palestine this winter. The mail from Egypt, that daily event of some importance in Jerusalem, is often delayed for many days. Whoever does not possess a pair of fisherman's boots and is afraid to follow the Arab fellaheen's example of going barefooted is marooned in the house. As the houses have no chimneys and may grow damp and chilly these days, people sit around braziers, of the same kind as the one that stood on the shore of Lake Galilee that dawn when a stranger walked about and told the weary disciples to cast the nets anew.

"Bombay Hat."

A famous London hat shop, located in St. James street, which, according to legend, furnished Charles Chaplin with his first derby, and sold half-top cylinders to Mr. Pickwick's contemporaries, advertises a new type of tropical helmet. Advertises is probably not the right word. The firm does not advertise and never did. The London newspapers consider anything news in connection with that particular shop, where the ordinary mortal, upon entering, has the clammy feeling that he probably should have brought along a note of introduction from the lord chancellor, or at least a certificate of study from Oxford. There is no inkling in the dispatches as to what the new tropical helmet is like, whether the novelty is in the shape or in the material. Still whatever the nature of the improvement, the reform long was overdue. The existing type of tropical helmet is the most cumbersome, awkward, ill-adapted piece of excess baggage that ever was my lot to tote about. There isn't a grip or trunk into which it fits. Coming back from the Near East three years ago, a felt hat I was wearing flew overboard. To look halfway decent, I put on a tropical helmet when landing at Naples on a Sunday afternoon. The fascist policemen on the quay immediately detailed the biggest among them to follow me around. Not a single hat shop was in sight. And so the Bombay lid became the main attraction on the Corso that afternoon. People stopped to look it over. My hat seemed to amuse those good Neapolitans immensely. I looked longingly at the Vesuvius as a good place to drop it in. But the volcano being a long way off, I compromised on a restaurant. Heaving a sigh of relief, I started for the station. I was comfortably seated in the compartment when a commotion on the platform made me, incautiously, stick my head out of the window. The sight of me produced a roar of recognition. The fascist guard had retrieved my lid and had brought it to the station, led by the big fellow from the quay. Fouche's gendarmes could not have been more efficient.

Premature Swan-Song.

Every visitor to Flanders knows the "Minnewater" (Pond of Love) in Bruges and its majestic swans whose presence in that tranquil atmosphere ordained almost by an act of fate. Each winter when the frost is about to close up the canals of Bruges the swans are removed. The procedure is simple. The men charged with the task of transferring the fowls to their winter quarters wait till the canal is almost entirely frozen over and the swans are desperately trying to keep a small space navigable. Then they arm themselves with a pole on the end of which is a hook and simply hook the birds out. Of course, every swan thus removed is wounded. But as this has been so for centuries, nobody gets excited about it. This year one of the swans was so severely manhandled that it was left for dead. In fact, its neck was broken. The local paper said people had heard a swan-song the night before, as if the bird had felt the approaching end by intuition. But a woman, a certain Mrs. Van Hul, picked up the swan when it lay on the quay after being hooked from the canal, took it home, massaged its broken neck, fed it milk by inserting a tube in its throat, fondled and doted it, like another Leda, but a platonic one then, and brought it back to health.

A Neighbor's Comment Upon Atlanta's Shame

(Chattanooga Times of Monday.)

The lid has been lifted in Atlanta and the operation has disclosed the existence of a deplorable state of affairs in the governmental circles of that proud city. After prolonged investigation, the Fulton county grand jury has indicted 20 citizens, severely criticized others and recommended that the incoming grand jury pursue the inquiry, which it was unable to complete.

Among the 20 persons indicted as a result of the probing of graft charges are five Atlanta councilmen, one alderman and several present and former city officials.

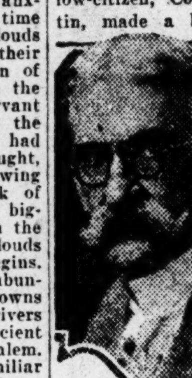

Atlanta seems to have permitted the development of a machine rather closely resembling the Tammany of Tweed and the Thompson organization in Chicago. Growth of the cancer could have been prevented through the exercise of proper discretion at the polls and its growth could at least have been retarded by merciless publicity. But all this is neither here nor there. The disease having been allowed to take its course, Atlanta has had to pay heavily in money and must now submit to an operation that will result in some very undesirable publicity.

Chattanooga has for years been singularly free from the governmental evils which have been running rife in Atlanta. But Hamilton county is in position to sympathize with the Georgia city. Within the last few years the county has had to deal with a bunch of grafters and embezzlers who were nesting in public office. And let it be said to the credit of the county that it put its official crooks behind the bars, as Atlanta should do.

LOOKING AND LISTENING
BY SAM W. SMALL

Three Sons of Apollyon Are Attacking the Vitals of the Republic.

Our studious and accomplishd fellow-citizen, Colonel James W. Austin, made a brief speech to the Knights of Pythias at their sixty-sixth anniversary celebration on Thursday night that was a bell-ringer on the target of imperative patriotism. It was as unexpected in its subject matter as it was brilliant in thought and inspiring in its implications.

Colonel Austin was not talking politics, as current politics are absolutely barred from the Pythian agenda. He was talking on patriotic obligations, for patriotism is the red strand that runs through Pythian principles as the red line runs through all the cordage of the British navy. The national ensign is indispensable in all Pythian ceremonies.

Changing Forces Are at Work.

The purpose of the speech was to direct acute attention to the forces at work in the nation to centralize the powers of the people in a huge federal machine; to monopolize the most essential industries and financial agencies of the country, and to change for evil effects the relations of law to the securities of society—that is, to the safeguarding of life, liberties and property.

These are vital subjects that are more and more engaging the study of political philosophers and those economists who have become adepts in estimating the incidences of industrial power upon the rights of labor and the interests of the universal consuming population. They also deeply interest the researchers and planners of means to make "life worth living" to that great mass of the people who are not engaged in politics, but are tremendously affected by the honesty or corruption of politics.

* * * *

The Centripetal Movement.

No student of American public affairs can dispute the fact that there is a centripetal force working them and drawing individual and state rights into the insatible maw of federalism. Rights of man for which our forefathers fought, bled and died, and believed they had established for their posterity beyond the spoliating reach of government are no longer possessed by the people. They have been made subject to the national power and the congress and federal officials now deal with them as callously as they do with the dirt of the public domain.

That absorption has been going on steadily for years, by congressional usurpations and judicial ratifications, until now the American citizen is the most radically regimented subject of any government other than that of Russia.

* * * *

States Are Subject, Not Sovereign.

The original theorem of the republic, that the component states retained all their sovereignty not specifically reinvested in delegated general government, has gone teetotally to smash.

The new theorem is that the constitution of the United States as interpreted by the federal supreme court, and all laws assumed to have been made by its authority, are the "supreme law of the land"—anything in the constitution and laws of any state to the contrary notwithstanding.

And now, following the interpretations of the constitution by the supreme court, and the sanctions it has given to many legislative usurpations by congress, the immunity of the centralizing policy have been established. The states are now little more than counties in a super-state. Even vital powers which they used to employ in their own right are now exerted over them by federal officials and commissions, willy-nilly!

* * * *

Mergers, Monopolies, Man-Eaters.

Another dangerous passion of the times is that which is promoting huge financial, industrial and commercial mergers. These develop into regional or national monopolies, dictating operative credit, terms of labor, costs of distribution and prices to be exacted from helpless and necessitous consumers.

Prior to the War Between the States our forefathers, grandfathers and fathers were deadly opposed to all "monopolies, subsidies and perpetuities." Political leaders proclaimed up and down the land that those were yokes that must not be put upon the necks of the people.

But now any man who decries these gigantic creatures of capital, power and greed is looked upon with contempt or denounced as a demagogue. The new creed is "What are the people for if not to work, and sweat, and produce for us always-hungry horseleeches?"

* * * *

Appetite, Avarice and Anarchy.

The strong and arrogant enemies of the people in this era are appetite, avarice and anarchism—the three sons of Abaddon, or Apollyon, the angel of the bottomless pit!

It is the red-mouthed devil of appetite that is defying the constitution and the laws in the salient case of prohibition; it is the flaming spirit in the waves of crime that are flowing through the nation, searing and sacrificing as they run.

It is the sinister devil of avarice that is the spirit in the wheels of industry and trade that are pressing millions into want and grinding the bones of men, women and children to make wealth for soulless combines.

And anarchists are suffered to go at large in the land making converts of youth before it is able to understand the terrors of that teaching.

No wonder Colonel Austin felt an urge to sound an alarm to his fellow-knights of patriotism.

Health Talks
BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY

A JOKE SO GOOD IT REQUIRES EXPLANATION.

If you are a patron of vaudeville surely you've heard that one about the blind man's remark when something was explained to him.

Then there is the funny item telling how a dead man tried to escape when a policeman commanded him to halt.

But I'm afraid one of the best jokes goes right over the heads of a good many people, so I am going to explain it. A stranger found wandering the streets is taken to the police station. On examination there the police are unable to ascertain the man's name or identity. He says, "I remember waking up in a strange room this morning; I can't remember anything before that. It is all a blank. Even my own voice sounds strange to me." And so on. Thus the case goes on record as another of those strange cases of aphasia.

There's where you laugh. If you can't see the joke, may I suggest that you look up aphasia in any dictionary. I don't want to spoil the joke, but I can tell you it is a better one than the story about the poor fellow who was found all chopped up in little pieces and the pieces hidden here and there, and when the police had finally fitted the pieces together they deduced that he had committed suicide.

Amnesty is the trick name a government applies to its decision to pardon some past offense, or rather to forget it. Now that things are going the government's way the government is rather eager to boot out the old charge, which was probably pretty frail anyway. So that's why it is called amnesty—forgetfulness, oblivion.

Amnesia is the medical term for loss of memory. The most striking instance is the man or woman who wanders away and when picked up is unable to tell who he or she is or to give any information about the past. Sometimes this may be a fake, but more times it is perfectly genuine. In younger persons such loss of memory is likely to result from emotional shocks, and is usually of short duration, hours or days. In older persons it is more likely to result from organic disease such as chronic nephritis with uremia, or arteriosclerosis involving the vessels of the brain, and in these cases the amnesia is likely to last for months, though the patient will eventually recover memory if proper medical treatment is given the underlying disease. In one such case an obviously gentle old man wandered far from home and was positively "identified" by the police of a distant city as a notorious safe-cracker from photographs they had. The police even threatened to take the patient out of the hospital, where they insisted he was just pulling the wool over the doctor's eyes, but the doctor forbade that, and after some weeks of treatment the patient recovered his memory and was restored to his people—of course the police had merely indulged in some bad guessing, very bad guessing.

MRS. ANDREWS TO POST BOND

Mrs. Wakefield would be presented for adoption.

"We are indignant over the indictments," Mrs. Quinby said in announcing the meetings. "We expect to pass resolutions condemning the grand jury's charges against these two women."

Meanwhile at her home Mrs. Andrews continued the attitude she assumed upon her indictment Saturday that "she had done no wrong" and would not post bond herself nor permit anyone to post bond for her.

"Whatever Mrs. Andrews' attitude toward the charge does not concern us," Captain Lowry said. "We have a bench warrant for her arrest on an indictment charging libel and I intend to see that it is served upon her. If she elects to go to jail, it's all right with us."

Mrs. James R. Wakefield, who was indicted with Mrs. Andrews on the libel charge, it being alleged that she permitted the libelous article said to have been written by Mrs. Andrews to appear in a newspaper she edits, posted bond for $500 Monday. The bond was signed by Edward H. Inman, member of the county commission.

Councilman York was the last of the 18 men indicted to post his bond. York appeared at Sheriff Lowry's office Monday afternoon and posted a $10,000 National Surety Company bond. White's bond also was signed by the same company, while Harry G. Poole, undertaker, signed the $10,000 bond of Mr. Taylor. William E. Hansell, former chief of city construction, who was indicted for larceny, went to the tower early Monday afternoon and posted $1,000 in cash. Bonds for the others indicted were signed by their friends.

Meanwhile Solicitor-General Boykin continued plans for the early trial of York and White on a joint indictment charging bribery in six counts. The case tentatively is set for trial before Judge John D. Humphries in Fulton superior court for March 17, with the trial of City Clerk Taylor to follow immediately.

"Some contingency on the side of the prosecution or defense may arise to cause a delay," Mr. Boykin said, "but I think we are fairly certain of having these trials disposed of before the end of March."

Carnegie Library, where additional space is needed for library purposes.

Under a paper adopted by a vote of 26 to 5, the Electro Construction Company, electrical contractors of the new city hall, will be allowed to leave in the building certain wires in half-inch conduits in the columns on the second and ground floors, owing to the danger of weakening the columns should the conduits be taken out and replaced. The company is to pay the city the difference between the half-inch conduits and three-quarters inch conduits, under the paper adopted. Councilman W. C. Jenkins told council that the city electrician had reported that the wiring under discussion did not come within the city code. It was explained, however, that the conduits are within the national code.

Motion Picture Operators.

An amendment to the ordinance governing operation of motion picture houses was proposed by the electric lights committee, the amendment providing that instead of operators and assistant operators, there shall be one class only, that of operators. To become an operator, the applicant shall stand an examination with a record of 75 per cent or higher, and assistant operators now serving shall be given 90 days in which to apply for the examination, the amendment provides. It was referred to the ordinance committee, Councilman W. E. Saunders, chairman of the board of firemasters, declaring that it would conflict with the fire ordinances.

A petition asking the Fulton county commission to grade a lot near Fire Station No. 7, at Whitehall and Hood, was adopted.

Petitions to change zoning of the southwest corner of Capitol and Bass, the southwest corner of Eugenia and Ira, and the southeast corner of Bass and Martin from apartment to business districts were adopted. Council concurred in an adverse report on a petition to change the zoning of the northeast corner of Pine and Dayton from an apartment to a business district.

A paper presented by Councilman White, asking that an old ordinance requiring the muzzling of horses and mules be enforced by the police department, was referred to the police committee. Councilman White said that the park department has so many complaints caused by horses and mules drawing the early milk wagons, and that the ordinance requiring muzzling of horses and mules was passed in an effort to prevent the animals from biting the trees and shrubbery.

Dewberry Is Thanked.

Glenn Dewberry, city hall custodian, was given a vote of thanks by council for the efficient way in which he prepared the new building for occupancy.

The soda fountain concession in the new city hall was awarded by council to R. L. Thompson, who offered a total of $7,380 for a five-year rental. The next best bid was $420 lower. Thompson offered $110 a month for the first year, $120 a month for the second year, $130 a month for the third year, $140 a month for the fourth year, and $150 a month for the fifth year.

Council granted the Georgia Power Company permission to build safety aisles for street car passengers on Ponce de Leon at the following intersections: Piedmont avenue, Boulevard, Durant place and Highland.

A proposal to make Broad street from Walton to Alabama non-parking was voted down.

Peachtree Scaffolds Barred.

An ordinance by the traffic committee to make it unlawful for anyone to erect scaffolds or fences beyond the curb stone on Peachtree and Whitehall inside the inner fire limits for construction purposes was adopted.

Councilman Howard C. McCutcheon, chairman of the special city hall committee, reported that his committee has about wound up its duties, and at the next meeting of council would ask to be disbanded, with the job done.

A possible ban on smoking in the new council chamber was hinted at by Alderman J. Charles Murphy, who admitted that he was one of the worst offenders when it came to dropping cigar ashes, and who said that it would be a pity to have the new cork floor of the council chamber marred by ashes, matches and lighted cigaret butts.

Because Alderman Murphy will be unable to attend, Mayor Pro Tem. Couch appointed Councilman McCutcheon to go to Macon today with Alderman Alvin G. Richards and Assistant City Attorney Courtland S. Winn and represent the city of Atlanta at a hearing on electric and gas rates.

Transfer of Tech Fund.

Alderman Ed A. Gilliam presented a resolution to council asking that a $50,000 appropriation to Georgia School of Technology be stricken and the money be transferred to the general expenses of the department of education, adding to the 26 per cent given the schools by council under the law. Gilliam pointed out that the city schools need the money, and that Tech is a state institution. The paper was referred to the finance committee.

A proposal by J. B. Fain to wreck the old city hall for the material in the building, Fain to pay the city $1,500, was accepted by council. The paper asks the city attorney to draw up a contract to be signed by the mayor for the city, and provides that Fain shall furnish $8,000 bond under the contract. Council had previously adopted the same proposal, but the aldermanic board refused to concur. The paper turned down by the aldermanic board was filed Monday by council and the new paper introduced and passed.

DISAPPOINTMENT IS CHIEF RESULT

Not Much Accomplished.

Today's explosion of criticism of the president in the senate dramatically illustrates the disruption in his own party and discontent on all sides as he completes the first year of his administration. While the judgment of the record he has made during his first year is, of course, tempered by the source from which it comes—in other words, whether it is from progressives, democrats or republicans—it cannot be denied that his first year in office has brought little satisfaction to the president.

During this year there have been five projects of major importance upon which Mr. Hoover has laid special stress. They are tariff revision, farm relief, business stability, naval disarmament and the prohibition problem.

It can, therefore, be of little comfort to him that after a full year in office the country is in the midst of the worst economic depression in many years, with millions out of employment; that the tariff bill is still being struggled over; that prohibition problems are openly declared to be worse than they were a year ago and practically nothing has been accomplished toward farm relief.

Unemployment Growing.

An analysis of the president's policies upon all of these problems, and what legislative action as has been taken on them, show very little, it is agreed even by the members of his own party, that he can take pride in, for nothing has been finally settled with regard to any of them.

Especially in regard to the present unemployment are the policies of the president coming in for sharp criticism. As pointed out by Senator Carter Glass, of Virginia, during the debate on the floor of the senate today, whenever during democratic administrations there have been declines in business conditions, the republicans have been quick to lay the blame at the feet of the leader of the party in power. Therefore, argued Senator Glass, the republican administration cannot now, in good grace, deny responsibility for the economic conditions which have resulted in an unemployment problem at this time which is resulting in widespread distress, with approximately three million men out of work.

Notwithstanding the efforts of President Hoover to checkmate the economic conditions by a nationwide program of building, it was shown that January of this year showed a decline in this respect of more than $160,000,000 over January of last year.

Half-Hearted Defense.

Thus Mr. Hoover enters upon his second year as president charged by the democrats and progressives with responsibility for the country's unsettled conditions, while the republican leaders for the most part sit silently by or reply in half-hearted manner. These leaders, admittedly offended by the president's failure to play ball with them, are in turn divided amongst themselves upon many questions vitally affecting the welfare of the party.

So demoralized are these republican leaders that little has been done as yet to prepare for the struggle that faces them in the congressional elections that are ahead. With 33 senators and the entire house of representatives to be elected this year, they are faced with what may easily turn out to be a catastrophe.

Congressman Thomas M. Bell, dean of the Georgia delegation, who has been in congress for a quarter of century, today declared that in his memory there had never been an administration which had so signally failed of accomplishment during its first year.

"Notwithstanding the glorious prospects that were held out by the republicans during the campaign," declared Mr. Bell, "conditions have gone steadily from bad to worse since President Hoover was inaugurated. The unemployment condition, especially in the north and east, is terrible, business generally is having the worst struggle in years, and nothing has been done to remedy the prohibition situation or the other problems which we were assured would be promptly and efficiently taken care of.

Shifting Responsibility.

"Our present economic situation is accountable for because of lack of confidence in the ability of the administration to establish stable conditions. President Hoover has even failed to demonstrate that he can properly lead his own party. As a result legislation is dragging and the effect is being felt all over the country.

"His apparent effort to shift responsibility by the appointment of so many commissions has had a bad effect and, what is more serious, has resulted in long legislative delays.

"The very evident lack of co-operation between the president and the leaders of his party, in and out of congress, is in my mind largely responsible for the administration's pitiful record of lack of accomplishment during the past year. This realization is getting back to the people and as a result reports of dissatisfaction are coming from every section of the country. The handwriting on the wall can spell nothing but a complete repudiation of Mr. Hoover's policies at the congressional elections to be held this year."

Without question much of the disappointment over the failure of the Hoover administration to make a worthwhile record during the first year of its existence comes from the expectation that the business experience of the president was such as to justify hopes that during his occupancy of the White House the country would enjoy a reign of unprecedented prosperity. The slump which came during his first year, with his apparent inability to meet the situation, has made the disappointment all the keener.

So with the republicans disorganized and the entire country out of humor, the prediction that Herbert Hoover is to become a "one-time president" is heard more frequently and often from sources from which it would hardly be expected.

Certainly, Mr. Hoover will have to demonstrate more ability as a leader and a record of greater achievement than he has during his first year as chief executive or he will find rough going at the next republican national convention.

NEW GRAFT PROBE TO BE THOROUGH

ance man, was elected foreman of the new grand jury. He held a long conference with W. Rawson Collier, foreman, and Press Huddleston, secretary, of the grand jury which retired on Saturday, and on its conclusion announced that the new inquisitorial body was ready to meet the issue and carry out the charge of Judge Pomeroy. Howard Lee was elected secretary of the new grand jury.

Pomeroy's Charge.

Following is the charge of Judge Pomeroy:

"It is a matter of common knowledge that two grand juries have considered charges of graft in the city government. I have read carefully the presentments returned by the January term grand jury, and note a number of specific instances in which they recommend that this grand jury continue investigation.

"It is your duty to ascertain the nature of these recommendations, and your duty to look into the situation. Should you find that these matters should be investigated, it is your duty to handle the matter as thoroughly and expeditiously as possible.

"You should approach this situation fearlessly and intelligently. The court has no opinion to express as to whether graft exists in the city government, but if it does exist, it should be stamped out thoroughly and quickly. There should be no compromise.

"This matter of graft is a question of good citizenship. When allowed to exist, it has caused the undermining and bankruptcy of government and has lowered the standards of the people and caused disrespect for law and order.

"If graft is not curbed, it becomes a menace to the whole community.

"I know that this grand jury is interested in good government, and will investigate this matter thoroughly."

Judge Pomeroy reminded the citizens chosen for this duty that grand juries are "the bulwark of law and good order," adding that "no man can render a greater service to the administration of law in government than by serving a grand jury."

Jury Meets Committee.

Immediately after receiving Judge Pomeroy's charge the new grand jury retired to its room where it met with Mr. Collier and Mr. Huddleston, who were appearing as a committee from the old grand jury to acquaint the new body with the facts as revealed thus far in the investigation. Thomas J. Lyon, foreman of the November grand jury which launched the investigation, also was in the grand jury room.

The new body showed its enthusiasm in tackling its gigantic task by loudly applauding short addresses by Mr. Collier, Mr. Huddleston and Mr. Lyon. The handclapping and cheering could be heard clearly over practically the entire courthouse.

The foreman then was elected and the jury adjourned to meet at 10 o'clock this morning when its membership will be completed and work on the investigation resumed.

COUNCIL MOVES TO PURGE SELF

a probe by council would hamper the grand jury in its further investigations, but Monday night announced the following committee:

Councilman W. Paul Carpenter, chairman; Aldermen Robert F. Pennington, G. Everitt Millican and Claude L. Ashley, and Councilman E. P. Dodd.

The resolution calling for a revision of the election laws was passed without comment when it was offered by Councilmen Joseph E. Berman and John G. White, of the fourth ward, and the following committee was named:

Councilman Berman, chairman; Councilmen John A. White, Philip Breitenbucher and Howard C. McCutcheon and Alderman W. Guy Dobbs.

Alderman G. Everitt Millican, of the tenth ward, is author of the council probe resolution.

Text of Paper.

Text of the paper follows:

"By Alderman Millican.

"Whereas, indictments have been returned by the grand jury of this county against various officials of the borough of Atlanta, including members of general council, heads of departments, and subordinate officials; and,

"Whereas, it is to the interest and welfare of this city that this body have information about these charges, and if true, that action be taken thereon.

"Therefore, be it resolved by the mayor and general council that while we do not undertake to decide upon the guilt or innocence of the parties charged, we cannot pass over the seriousness of same, and therefore direct the mayor pro tem. to appoint a committee of five members from this body to investigate the charges made, and if they find same to be true, to report back articles of impeachment. If they find that the same are not true, that they report back on exoneration of the parties indicted."

Tabled at First.

The Millican measure was tabled at first by a vote of 17 for tabling and 16 against. Later Mr. Millican moved reconsideration, which passed. The second effort to table it was lost and it was placed on passage.

A resolution by Alderman Richards, of the thirteenth ward, requesting that a committee of five investigate city officials and employes who were scored in the grand jury presentments but against whom no indictments were returned, also was tabled at first. Mr. Richards asked reconsideration and succeeded in having it brought to the floor again, only to have it referred to the finance committee of council after several amendments had been appended to it.

Vote on tabling the Richards paper on the first vote was 16-16, a tie, and Mayor Pro Tem. Couch was forced to break the tie.

In explaining why he voted to table the measure, the presiding officer declared he felt any move by council would be misconstrued and would be regarded as an effort on the part of council to obstruct the investigation of municipal affairs by the grand jury.

Councilmen W. Paul Carpenter and Wiley L. Moore and Alderman Claude Ashley led the fight against appointment of any investigation committees by council.

They held that any findings which a council committee might make would react to prejudice the trial of those indicted either in favor or against the defendants.

Berman Seeks Amendment.

Alderman Berman attempted to amend the measure so that no report would be filed until after those involved are tried, but when he failed he supported the Millican paper.

Councilman John A. White, of the fourth ward, also supported it, declaring that council should take some action at once.

Councilman Wiley L. Moore, of the seventh, fought the measure, as he did the Richards probe measure, holding that it might react to hamper the grand jury and prevent progress in the investigation which that body is making.

Alderman Ashley, the other floor leader of the opposition to the measure, reiterated the reasons given by other opponents.

Councilman William E. Saunders, one of those under indictment, declared that the findings of council might prejudice the cases in the courts and would be unfair.

On Councilman Carpenter's motion to table, the measure was laid on the table by a vote of 17 to 16, Alderman Couch breaking a tie.

Measure Finally Passed.

A motion was made to reconsider the action in tabling it, and that passed. Then came a motion to adopt the paper. It failed of passage by a vote of 13 for and 14 against. A reconsideration motion carried again, and the measure failed to go back on the table by a vote of 16 for and 17 against. It then was passed by the vote of 18 for and 15 against.

A proposal of Alderman Millican to ask a committee of five members to probe alleged collusion of persons with city officials and to recover such monies and enter criminal prosecution against those involved was withdrawn after it had drawn the fire of Alderman Ashley, who held that people would get the impression that council was attempting to intimidate witnesses and prevent their appearance before the grand jury.

Alderman Richards succeeded in bringing his paper providing for an investigation by a council committee of all officials scored by the grand jury but not indicted, only to have it referred to the finance committee after an amendment had been tacked on it providing for expenditure of money for services of a stenographer to record the proceedings.

MRS. NORTON PLANS FIGHT ON DRY LAWS

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(AP)—Asserting her hope for unification and crystalization of the entire woman's anti-prohibition movement, Representative Mary T. Norton, democrat, New Jersey, today announced her intention of making her personal campaign for repeal of the eighteenth amendment as nearly nationwide as possible.

When congress adjourns, Mrs. Norton said, she will cover as much country as her physical condition will permit, arguing against prohibition.

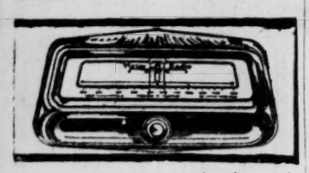

"The furore of discussion aroused by the appearance of our group of women wets at the general prohibition hearings before the house judiciary committee resulted in many invitations to carry the campaign to the country at large," said Mrs. Norton. "The time is ripe for a comprehensive, business-like organization on the greatest moral issue before the women of the country since slavery—the repeal of prohibition."

Mrs. Norton added that she wanted some woman dry leader to meet her in prohibition debate over a nation-wide radio hookup.

Both Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, former assistant attorney-general, and Mrs. Ella Boole, national president of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, were tendered formal invitations to meet her in debate but refused, Mrs. Norton said.

"Why, my six-year child can tune Victor-Radio perfectly . . . And such marvelous tone quality! Such lovely cabinets."

The largest size display ever built, brought here for the annual convention of the Southeastern Shoe Retailers' Association now in session at the Ansley hotel. The display occupies all one side of the lobby and extends to the ceiling. It is in furtherance of the educational program of the National Shoe Retailers' Association, showing the sales ratio of sizes. There are 129 pairs of shoes in the display, each a different size and width. The figures on sales were obtained from 150 stores throughout the United States. It shows 66 per cent of the sales are in 21 sizes, 30 per cent in 26 sizes and 4 per cent in 82 sizes. The display was made by the E. T. Wright Co. of Rockland, Mass.

One of the outstanding features of the program Monday was a style show on the Ansley roof, beginning at 8 p. m. Live models displayed more than 100 new fashions in feminine footwear. J. L. Craig was in charge of the show, and Miss Elizabeth Glover directed it.

The first general session of the convention was held at noon Monday. Following luncheon, Anthony H. A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

The estate also would have had the attention of trust officers of long experience, an investment committee made up of seasoned bankers and investors, a trust department composed of specialists in taxes and all phases of administration procedure, and the safety of an institution which maintains an unusually high margin of capital structure and which has been handling other people's money successfully since 1887.

New Orleans-Mobile Celebrate Mardi Gras

NEW ORLEANS, March 3.—(AP)—Blasts from brass bands today blew aside all thought of serious business and New Orleans started out to celebrate Mardi Gras in a big way.

The bands were leading the street parade of the sailors aboard the German cruiser Emden and the sailors and marines from the United States battleship Texas. They were led by members of the American Legion and marked one of the few joint parades between American and German troops since the war.

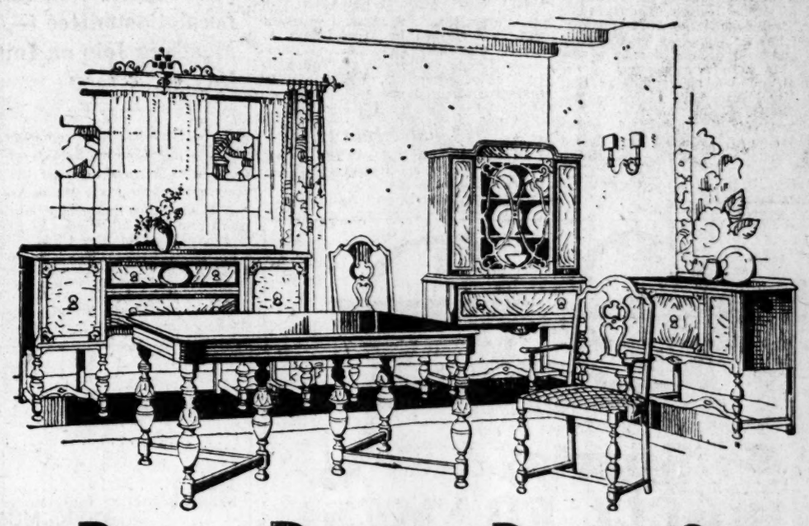

From the march of the seamen, public attention was directed to the brilliant carnival parade of Proteus, gentle sea god, who led his glittering floats through the streets thronged with men, women and children, skipping and dancing.

After the parade thousands attended the many carnival balls, while others swarmed through the streets in search of fun. Mardi Gras reaches its point of ecstacy in the grand parades of tomorrow when Rex, King of Mardi Gras, rides through the streets amid a mile of gay floats and greets his queen seated in a royal box over Canal street.

MOBILE, Ala., March 3.—(AP)—Thousands of loyal subjects to King Felix III, emperor of joy and merry-making, thundered a welcome to his majesty today when he stepped from his yacht, the Ponchartrain, with his court and began a tour of Mobile, which will be under his rule of joy until the closing of Mardi Gras at midnight Tuesday.

The city is crowded with carnival visitors from all parts of the country. Following the parade of King Felix was the parade of various city and private schools on decorated floats and automobiles.

CHEST'S FINANCIAL STRAITS ARE SHOWN

Only 30 Cents Per Day Available for Each Child in Group of Agencies.

Measure of the straits of economy, careful budgeting and pinching to make ends meet, to which Atlanta's charitable societies are forced because of lack of public appropriations was given Monday in the monthly service report of the Atlanta Community Chest showing that from all sources of revenue there is available only about 30 cents a day to care for each child in the group of agencies dealing with child care.

"The January report shows 1,120 children in care," said Frank Miller, executive director. "This meant for these children the furnishing of shelter, food, clothing, health, schooling and supervision.

"It involved the preparation and service of 104,160 meals alone. For their exacting and untiring work these societies were appropriated $4,256.64 by the Chest and $5,374.99 by the city and county, or a total from the three sources of $9,631.63, or about 30 cents per child per day.

"Unhappily, due to shortage of funds in Chest, city and county, very little cash was available during January so that credit had to be extended and the salaries of matrons and other employes were delayed.

"The little wards of Greater Atlanta and Fulton county deserved better treatment."

Fayette County 300-Gallon Still Found by Agents

What is said to be the largest still worm ever found in Georgia and perhaps any other state, a mammoth copper contrivance more than 20 feet long even when doubled, was on display in the office of United States Marshal L. H. Crawford here Monday, following a raid in Fayette county, where it was discovered buried in the bed of a creek which had been cleverly dammed up.

The still itself was of 300-gallon capacity and located just on the edge of the creek with the receiving barrel just below the dam, which was made with stacks of cement, sand and mud. The worm ran from the still, under the water and found its outlet at the dam. The large end was approximately 6 inches in diameter and tapered off gradually to about half that size.

The whole outfit had a possible capacity of 1,000 gallons of whisky every 24 hours but was not in operation when seized and no arrests were made. It was the belief of the raiding officers that the owners of the outfit planned eventually to build a still of 1,000-gallon size at some future date since the worm itself was out of all proportion with the rest of the apparatus discovered.

Approximately 5,000 gallons of mash or beer was found at the same location and the entire outfit had apparently been prepared for whisky making on a large scale. It was estimated that the worm would measure nearly 60 feet if stretched out.

Million for Schools To Go in Mails Today

The million dollars borrowed by Governor L. G. Hardman for educational purposes probably will be distributed to the counties today.

No details of the distribution could be learned Monday. Dr. M. L. Duggan, state superintendent of schools, said that he had received no notification of the receipt of the money, but that requisitions more than sufficient to cover the amount were in.

At the office of the governor, where notice was received Monday that the money was on deposit in Atlanta banks, it was said that it would be made available to the education department today. No warrant against the fund had been drawn by the governor Monday afternoon.

A GLORIFIED CLEAR SKIN

A CLEAR, smooth, lovely skin enhances personal attractiveness! Men admire it. Women praise and secretly envy. More happiness and friends may depend upon it.

Healthy skin is clear, smooth and lovely. It is Nature's outward reflection of internal healthfulness.

The way to the skin is through the blood. Rich, red, healthy blood nourishes the body and aids in protecting it against infection and disease.

Skin troubles and sallow complexion are usually but symptoms of a deeper, a more dangerous trouble—a lack of the normal count of red-cells in the blood.

When you take S.S.S. to get rid of these outside blemishes you are building up the system to ward off the graver diseases of which these blemishes are Nature's warning.

S.S.S.

If you are one of the embarrassed—and men are not exceptions—with skin blemishes that linger, and sometimes leave scars, you will want to possess body power to clear up your skin.

S. S. S. will help Nature give you this power. Internal healthfulness will then reflect in your skin a natural loveliness—a skin glorified.

Millions of people have taken advantage of the wonderful medicinal properties in S. S. S. It gives to Nature what it needs to build you up so that your system may throw off the cause.

When your system is filled with rich, red blood, the body's power of resistance to infection and disease is raised. Your appetite should improve. Firm flesh should take the place of that which was once flabby. You should sleep soundly. You should feel strong. Your nerves become steady.

Take S. S. S. daily at mealtime. It promotes healthy body building. Seek energy, vitality and a clear skin through the great blood tonic which is made from strictly fresh vegetable drugs and has stood the test for over 100 years. All good drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

LONG ILLNESS FATAL TO BRITISH NOVELIST

Funeral of D. H. Lawrence Will Be Held in France Today.

Vence, France, March 3.—(UN)—D. H. Lawrence, British author, poet and painter, will be buried tomorrow at a strictly private service.

Mrs. Lawrence, the former Baroness Frieda Von Richthofen, and Aldous Huxley and Mrs. Huxley were at his bedside when the author died of tuberculosis. Jo Davison, the American sculptor, had made a bust of him in the last days of his illness and various other leaders of continental literary circles were here in recent days or at the time of his death.

Lawrence died at 9 o'clock last night but news of his death was kept from the public until this morning. He had been ill several weeks and his wish was that he might have returned to the American southwest where he lived several years ago in what he described as the only healthy climate he ever found.

The author was constantly at war with censors in England and America and many of his books, as well as one exhibition of his paintings, were suppressed.

Lawrence's latest work of prominence, "Lady Chatterley's Lover," he considered his best literary effort. The book was suppressed in America after obtaining wide circulation in 1928. Other works included "The White Peacock," "Sons and Lovers," "The Rainbow," "Women in Love," "Aaron's Rod," and "The Ladybird."

Entomologist Says Fruit Fly Eradicated

ORLANDO, Fla., March 3.—(UN) A sensational development in the investigation of Mediterranean fruit fly eradication campaign in this state by a congressional investigating committee was revealed today when Dr. A. C. Baker, chief entomologist of the U. S. department of agriculture, declared the current campaign was complete and no further efforts necessary.

"So far as I know the fly is not now a living Mediterranean fruit fly or larvae or pupae in the state of Florida," Baker testified.

He advised an early conclusion to the campaign, cautioning intensive inspection and careful clean up during the coming summer.

He declared even experimental specimens of the fly and all infested fruit in laboratories was destroyed February 28 by incineration and fumigation with hydrocyanic gas.

He denied that the destruction was completed because of the anticipated arrival of the investigating committee, explaining the experiments had been completed and there no longer was need of the flies.

Subsequently he explained continued activity this summer was necessary to protect susceptible crops in near-by states, such as Georgia peaches, which might be contaminated during the last month of bearing and ripening, the most critical period.

The reported connivance between fruit fly inspectors and rum runners, which enlivened Saturday's hearings, was not discussed today.

Chicago's Employes Still Awaiting Pay

CHICAGO, March 3.—(AP)—The long-anticipated pay day for some 40,000 municipal employes today became just another "blue Monday" and the promised payoff date was postponed 24 hours. The city employes have not been paid since before Christmas because of delays in tax reassessments, which have left the city treasury empty.

Checks will not be distributed until tomorrow due to unforeseen delays in the purchase of tax warrants by the citizens' rescue committee.

City hall officials placed responsibility for the delay on the failure of the school board to deliver $12,000,000 worth of "scrip" to City Comptroller George K. Schmidt.

County employes were more fortunate. Cook county resumed paying its 3,862 workers today.

The county had begun paying back salaries Saturday in anticipation of the receipts of funds from the Strawn committee.

Mussolini Extends 'Olive Branch' to Pope

ROME, March 3.—(AP)—What was interpreted as an olive branch tendered the Vatican featured Premier Mussolini's speech today before the fascist "corporative chamber" commemorating Michele Bianchi.

Referring to the death of the pioneer fascist, one of the original four who led the march on Rome in 1922, Il Duce remarked:

"He wanted to die as a Catholic, in the comfort of rites and hopes of the 1,000-year-old religion of the Italian people."

The remark was viewed as further evidence of harmony between the Italian government and the Vatican since the signing of the conciliation treaties.

Mussolini exalted Bianchi as a model for all fascists "who sometimes seem to forget that when a party has become a regime and governs a people, every chief or follower must seriously ponder not only his acts, but also words."

He added that Bianchi never used fascism for his own ends "but served it in humility and with all his force in all moments, whether calm or tempestuous."

Marrying Judge Dies at York, S. C.

YORK, S. C., March 3.—(AP)—The marrying judge of "Cupid's Corner" is dead.

Captain George Preston Smith, who for three years has held the position of probate judge and whose record has brought York the name of "Cupid's Corner," died here today.

During his term of office he never failed to issue more marriage licenses each year than the town of York boasts inhabitants.

His total for 1928 and 1929 was 5,332. Of this number he actually performed the ceremony for almost 3,000 couples.

He was especially popular with North Carolina couples, where the laws compelling medical examinations and four-day publication of marriage intentions has proved unpopular with a part of the lovelorn.

FLOOD DAMAGE HIGH

Torrents Wreaking Damage in Southern France.

TWO CHICAGO WOMEN COMMIT SUICIDE

CHICAGO, March 3.—(AP)—Two women, one a recent divorcee, and the other a girl of 17, took their lives today.

The body of Mrs. Louise Ryschtik, 45, was found on the roof of the North German Lloyd building, to which she had leaped during the night from a 20th floor room in the Sherman hotel. A note left in the room said she was divorced a week ago.

Miss Catherine Penley, 17, jumped from the platform of an elevated railway station and was crushed by a train.

Miss Penley was identified as a cashier in a restaurant. She had come here from Tennessee. Her parents declined to name their former home.

Largest Telescope Brought Nearer By New Quartz Spray

:: GREAT INSTRUMENT WOULD SEE FOUR TIMES AS FAR ::

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE,
Associated Press Science Editor.

LYNN, Mass., March 3.—(AP)—Success in surmounting the first big obstacles to the 200-inch telescope which will peer four times farther into space than man ever looked before was announced tonight by Dr. Elihu Thomson.

No way existed when work began a year ago of making a smooth quartz glass surface anywhere near the size needed for this great reflector which is equal to that of the floor of a 17-foot room. The first two methods attempted failed. One tried melting tiny bits of quartz and the other large slabs.

Then something like the latest method of spraying paint on automobile bodies was tried—the suggestion of a laboratory assistant. It worked. The quartz was ground into a white powder resembling flour, and then run through a roaring blow torch which sprayed it, flaming at 3,000 degrees upon the mirror backing.

The torch is an oxygen-hydrogen flame. When the 200-inch mirror is sprayed, it is estimated the hydrogen needed would lift a Zeppelin, unless meanwhile the scientists succeed in making a less voracious torch.

Two-Foot Mirrors.

Two-foot mirrors are the largest thus far made by the hot glass sleet. When the big one is made it is predicted that field glasses will be used for observation to keep out of range of the withering heat. A special foundry will be built, having a dome which a crane can lift entirely clear of the floor.

"Up to this time," said Dr. Thomson, "we did not feel justified in saying much about our progress. But now we have made a number of good discs of the two-foot size, and we feel confident that we can successfully meet the problems concerned in the still larger ones.

"We hope to produce a 60-inch mirror this coming summer, and if that is successfully done we shall then prepare for the 200-inch size with one intermediate step.

"Several of the smaller discs have been shipped to the Mount Wilson observatory for scrutiny and grinding. We have had quite favorable comment from the astronomers there. These smaller sizes are required for the telescope just as much as the big mirror, they act as finders."

Cost of the telescope is estimated at $6,000,000. The international board of education financed it for the California Institute of Technology and the General Electric Company, of which Dr. Thomson is an official, is contributing the mirror work at cost.

4 Times Greater.

Although only twice the diameter of the present largest telescope, the new mirror will collect four times as much light and is expected to "see" that much farther. The present limit is the distance light travels in about 150,000,000 years. Through all that vast distance telescopes bring into view whole island universes of stars, with great empty spaces between.

The new telescope may look far enough beyond to reach the mysterious limit of some sort required by the Einstein theory of relativity. Astronomers, however, do not expect to find the kind of tangible limit that can be seen or photographed. Instead they hope that the greater power of visibility, both near and far, may help to learn more about the nature of the "curved space-time" that Einstein postulated. They are confident it will show a whole lot of other things.

Mrs. Emerson Leaves Estate to Daughter

The will of Mrs. Elizabeth S. Emerson was filed Monday with Judge Thomas H. Jeffries, Fulton county ordinary, for probate in common form. Mrs. Glenna E. Scott, the daughter, was nominated as executrix without bond.

Mrs. Scott was left Mrs. Emerson's homestead, Glendenwood, on Habersham road, $40,000, a diamond bracelet, a solitaire diamond ring, furniture, and other belongings for life, the property to go to Mrs. Emerson's granddaughters, Elizabeth Watson-Scott, and Mary Trammell Scott, on Mrs. Scott's death.

Elizabeth Watson-Scott was left a diamond pin, a topaz ring, a writing desk, a day bed and a mahogany rocker, and Mary Trammell Scott was left a diamond ring and a watch. The rest and residue of the property was left to Robert M. Weidemann, Artemus C. Wells, Robert E. Jennings and Mrs. Glenna E. Scott in trust. Forty-five per cent of the trust is to be devoted to the use of each of the granddaughters until they are 21, and then they are each to have the funds in their own right.

A codicil to the will leaves Mrs. Scott an additional $10,000 from the portion given by the will to Mary Trammell Scott, to be returned to Mary Trammell Scott after Mrs. Scott's death.

Flight Approved.

LISBON Portugal, March 3.—(AP)—Plans for a trans-Atlantic flight from the Azores to New York by way of Halifax are being prepared, the government having sanctioned the effort. Colonel Cifka Duarts, inspector general of aeronautics, and Lieutenant Ribeiro Da Fonseca will pilot the machine, taking turns at the control. A two-motored Junkers machine is now at the Azores being refitted for the flight.

What the automobile has taught women about household lubrication

Experience with motor cars has taught women that moving parts must be protected against wear by a film of oil. Many of them haven't learned, however, that moving parts of sewing machines, vacuum cleaners, lawn mowers, washers, and other mechanical devices must also be protected against dirt and rust.

3-in-One Oil not only lubricates; it also cleans and protects. It is different from all others, because it is a scientific blend of three high grade oils—animal, mineral and vegetable. 3-in-One is the oil you should use on mechanical equipment if you want best results.

Don't risk your expensive household devices by using oil that does only half the job. Insist on the old reliable 3-in-One. It costs little more to buy and much less to use. At good stores everywhere, in 15c and 30c sizes. For your protection, look for the trade mark "3-in-One" printed in Red on every package.—(adv.)

Youth, 16, Confesses To Murder of Father

SHREVEPORT, La., March 3.—(AP)—Ben Mondell, 16, late last night signed before officers here a written confession that he was the killer of his father, Pasimo Mondell, 48 years old, who was slain Saturday night as he was preparing for bed. The shooting occurred at the remote Mondell farm near Sligo, in Bossier parish.

The youth said that his father had threatened his life with a pistol in making him work at the farm plow. Mondell was slain by a charge of shot fired through the open doorway of the room in which he was sitting.

Members of the family said they did not see the slaying but ran at the shot to the home of Joe Mondell, older son of the slain man, and told him what had happened. They admitted than Ben had said he would kill his father if he kept abusing him.

Rebel Head Becomes Dominican Executive

SANTO DOMINGO, March 3.—(AP) General Rafael Estrella Urena, chief of the recent insurgent movement against the Vasquez government, and recently appointed secretary of the interior by ex-President Vasquez, today became provisional president of the Dominican republic.

Before the national assembly he took the oath this morning in the presence of the American minister, Charles B. Curtis, and other diplomatic and consular officials. In a brief speech afterwards, he promised to respect the constitution and the laws of the country, and to adjust his government to the normal political situation he had outlined in his earlier campaigns.

He emphasized his intention of guaranteeing free elections in May, and asked for the co-operation of the assembly and all citizens.

His speech, published in the press this afternoon, made a favorable impression in political circles.

Quiet prevailed throughout the country as the people took up again their normal activities.

BOBBED HAIRED WOMEN NEEDN'T HAVE GRAY HAIR

Nature Will Keep Hair Youthful Shade Free of Gray

LIFELESS GRAY HAIR REGAINS OLD BEAUTY

Everybody knows if color glands and hair roots are healthy and active, the hair will continue indefinitely a rich, natural color entirely free of gray or streaked locks.

A doctor several years ago asked himself this question: If I can stimulate digestion, liver, heart, etc., with a tonic, why not rub a stimulating tonic into the scalp that will revive those inactive glands so nature in her own natural way will resume putting plenty of pigment into the hair tubes—surely the hair will then resume its original beautiful shades of youth regardless of user's age of previous condition of their hair.

REMARKABLE DISCOVERY.

The doctor's search led to endless experiments. He didn't want a dye or tint, and it, of course, must be harmless even if a person used it many years. Under the name Lea's Hair Tonic anyone may now purchase the tonic he finally perfected. For several years hairdressers, scattered over the country, have been using it. Results are so nice and gradual men used it too. It doesn't stain the scalp, and as a test one need only apply it to some small spot a few days to watch results. Shampoo as often as desired.

Most people are first induced to try Lea's for gray hair but it primarily was intended as a tonic to put the scalp, hair roots, pigment glands and hair in a healthy, vigorous condition. Of course with a healthy scalp comes a change in appearance of hair and a restoration of the natuarl shade of brown, red, black, auburn, or blonde. There are some three thousand shades of color in human hair—no dye expert can paint one's hair as exquisitely as nature. Lea's merely stimulates nature to renewed activity, puts nature back on the job, you might say, and the tint she imparts to your hair, once the scalp, roots and glands become healthy, is natural. What is more beautiful or becoming than nature's own choice of shade to match your eyes, complexion and beauty?

If a reader desires to try Lea's Hair Tonic on guarantee of complete satisfaction they should get a bottle at drug store or pin dollar bill to this advertisement and send to Lea's Tonic Co., Brentwood, Md., for generous size bottle, full directions.

Experts cannot detect the use of Lea's Hair Tonic.—(adv.)

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN,
Associated Press Market Editor.

CHICAGO, March 3.—(AP)—Suffering a maximum fall of 5 cents a bushel today, wheat future delivery contracts recovered but little of the loss, and the market closed shaky. The chief unsettling influence appeared to be action of the federal farm board's allies in putting an end to payment of a fixed price for purchases of country run wheat at terminal markets. Unyielding dearth of export demand for wheat from North America counted also as a weight on the market, with visible and invisible domestic supplies estimated today to be fully as large as a year ago.

Wheat closed unsettled, 2 1-2@4 1-2c a bushel lower than Saturday's finish. Corn closed 1 1-2c down; oats 1-8@3-4c off, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 2c.

For at least the time being modification of buying plans on the part of government sponsored trade bodies was generally construed as a bearish market influence, although in some quarters the modification was referred to as merely withdrawal from a weak salient.

Friends of higher prices were handicapped because the farm board loan basis does not at present apply to the 1930 domestic crop, and so gives little, if any, support to July and September wheat contracts as distinguished from March and May. In this connection, a noticeable development was that the severest break in prices today was on July wheat.

Contributing to the general weakness shown from start to finish today by the wheat market here was the fact that Liverpool quotations went down grade regardless of price advances Saturday on this side of the Atlantic, and notwithstanding a decrease in the amount of wheat on ocean passage to Europe. Besides, foreigners were credited with selling here. On the other hand, future delivery purchases for farm board allies here and at other leading markets were not of sufficient volume to operate as a counterbalance. A decrease of 1,894,000 bushels for the week in the United States wheat visible supply was virtually ignored, and so likewise was an estimated falling off of about 39,000,000 bushels in farm reserve stocks of domestic wheat as compared with a year ago.

Corn and oats gave way with wheat despite estimates that with the exception of 1925 the present stocks of corn on farms are the smallest since 1919.

In provisions the hog market strength more than offset the influence of grain weakness.

NEW YORK, March 3.—(AP)—Dullness characterized the trading in all groups of bonds today. The general undertone was firm, but inquiry was light. Rails averaged a trifle higher.

The money markets were plentifully supplied with funds. The accommodations eased in the shorter maturities, while call loans held at the renewal figure of 4 per cent. However, the demand for money of either description was small. Bankers expressed the opinion that interest rates would be virtually inaffected by the income tax payments on March 15.

Transactions in government bonds were inconsequential, suggesting a quet Saturday rather than a full five-hour session. Gains matched losses in the net changes, running close to 1-16 of a point in either direction. Although the terms of midmonth treasury financing have not been announced, it is believed in some quarters that the government will finance entirely with a low-coupon certificate, postponing an additional offering of the discount bills. The maturing treasuries bear 5 1-8 per cent interest.

French Republic 7c finished with a flourishing, rising to 116 3-4, a new high for the year. The 7 1-2s were more active, but failed to move appreciably. Belgium 8s advanced a point. British 5 1-2s moved within the unusually wide range of 1 3-8, but closed at the bottom, 102 5-8, for a small net loss.

Two of last week's favorites again led the convertible group. American Telephone 4 1-2s touched 162 1-4, a high for the year, at the peak of the stock's strength and then steadily declined for a 1 3-4 point net loss. The other active issue was the Parmelee Transportation 6s, which also made a 1930 record price of 26 3-8. The close was at the top and represented a gain of 1 7-8. Missouri Pacific 5 1-2s rose a point.

Investment rails gave a rather dull performance. Nickel Plate "A" 5 1-2s, Missouri, Kansas, Texas prior lien 5s, Northern Pacific prior liens 4s and Great Northern 7s were firm. Pennsylvania 6 1-2s touched 109 and then slipped back from a decline of 3-8. Canadian National 5s last 7-8. Erie 5s moved narrowly on the announcement that the road was planning a $50,000,000 long term issue of the same coupon, to be held in the treasury until favorable terms were obtainable. Ulster & Delaware 5s, stamped, slumped more than 2 points to a new 1930 low.

The industrials eased. Armour Real Estate 4 1-2s sagged to a minimum for the year. Republic Iron & Steel 5s lost a point, but Lorillard 7s advanced by the same amount to score a new high at 109. Goodrich 6 1-2s and Goodyear 5s were firm.

Several utilities attracted attention while the upward movement in stocks of that group was under way. International Telephone 5s were the favorites, but made no gain on the day.

Specialties were featured by a rise of nearly 3 points in the Pathe 7s without warrants.

Rates Discriminatory Commission Declares

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(AP)—After rehearing a complaint by the Virginia state corporation commission, the interstate commerce commission today decided that intrastate rates in North Carolina on classified freight shipments are discriminatory to shippers of classified freight in Virginia. The discrimination was ordered removed by requiring the North Carolina intrastate rates to be increased on or before April 30.

The commission said the rates caused unjust discrimination because they were less than the class rates prescribed in the southern class rate investigation.

The North Carolina corporation commission protested that the application of the general southern class rate scale mentioned would result in an increase of 24 per cent over its present class rate. This estimate, however, the federal commission did not entirely accept.

Three Offerings Receive Strong Buying Assistance

BY STANLEY W. PRENOSIL,
Associated Press Financial Editor.

NEW YORK, March 3.—(AP)—Strong selling resistance developed in today's curb market when efforts were made to extend the recent recovery in prices, with the result that the general list displayed considerable irregularity at the close. Strong buying support was apparent for several of the public utility, natural gas and oil issues, but several points of weakness also developed in these groups, as well as in a scattered assortment of other issues.

Electric Bond & Share was marked up to a new high at 104 3-4 and then eased to 102 3-4 for a net loss of 3-4. Cities Service moved up 1 1-4 points to a new high at 35, and maintained its gain. Cleveland Electric Illuminating, on a few sales, moved up to a new high at 84 1-2. American Light & Traction jumped 3 1-2 points on a few sales but American & Foreign Power warrants, American Gas & Electric, American Superpower, Middlewest Utilities and Northern States Power A lost ground, the recessions ranging from fractions to nearly 2 points.

A revival of activity in the oil shares probably was influenced by the reported reduction of 75,000 barrels in the daily average of crude production in California last week. Gulf Oil ran up more than 5 points and retained all but a point of its gain. Humble, Illinois Pipe Line and Indian Territory advanced 1 to 2-1-4 points, the last named mounting to a new high for the year. Plymouth Oil was an exception, dropping 2 points to a new 1930 low at 24 and then recovering half its loss.

City Machine Tool moved up 2 points to a new top at 24, presumably on publication of the annual report showing earnings of $4.78 a share last year. Atlas Stores, Cleveland Tractor, Fanny Farmer, Pines Winterfront, and Starrett Corporation also attained new high prices.

Glen Alden Coal dropped 2 points to a new 1930 low at 110. Mangel Stores, Metropolitan Chain Stores, Paramount Cab, Safeway Stores second warrants and Walgreen also sold at new low prices.

The brisk demand for the natural gas stocks was prompted by merger reports involving several of the leading companies. United Gas and Memphis Natural Gas were pushed up to new high levels, and American Natural Gas and the Arkansas Natural Gas issues recorded moderate gains.

ATLANTA SPOT COTTON.

Atlanta spot cotton closed steady, 5 points down at 14.80.

Sales, none; receipts, 281; shipments, 240; stocks, 101,371.

NEW YORK, March 3.—(AP)—Cotton was generally lower today under liquidation or reselling by recent buyers who were evidently influenced by the renewed weakness of wheat, a further decline in silver and reports that sales of fertilizer tags in the south up to the first of March were in excess of last year. May contracts after selling at 15.30 early, declined to 15.13 and closed at 15.16. The general market closed barely steady at net declines of 11 to 17 points.

The market opened steady at an advance of 1 point to a decline of 8 points. There was some buying of near months on the relatively steady showing of Liverpool but it was very soon supplied. Sentiment appeared to be unsettled by the change announced in the policies of the farm board with reference to purchases of wheat and the weakness of the wheat market. This was reflected by some local and western selling, and while offerings were comparatively light, the market seemed to be attracting very little support. March sold off to 14.85 and October to 15.48 during the early afternoon, or about 15 to 18 points net lower, but closing quotations were a few points up from the lowest with near months relatively steady in the late trading on covering.

According to reports received here from New Orleans sales by fertilizer tags up to first of March in nine southern states aggregated 1,434,000 tons compared with 1,156,869 last year and 1,671,271 two years ago. There appeared to be some selling on these figures, while a private report saying that preliminary prospects pointed to a decrease of 3 to 6 per cent in acreage also came in for some bearish comment. Trading in new contracts continued relatively quiet, but there seemed to be more disposition to switch from old to new contracts at a difference of 19 points on October and December and about 15 to 17 points in the case of January. Selling on the fertilizer tag sale figures and the reports of only a moderate reduction in acreage was mostly in the late months, which were relatively easy in the late trading. At the close May was 32 points under old October compared with 36 points at the close on Saturday.

Liverpool cables said that covering and buying for a reaction had absorbed continental and Bombay selling in that market, but complained of a poor business in cotton cloths and yarns and said that order lists were running down.

Exports today 22,366, making 5,470,254 so far this season.

SPOTS DECLINE AT NEW ORLEANS.

NEW ORLEANS, March 3.—(AP)—The cotton market was only moderately active today and prices developed a downward trend. Cables were better than due but the market opened unchanged to 2 points down and then eased off in the early trading in sympathy with a lower opening in the wheat market due to the action of the farm loan board in declining to buy wheat further at the October loan price.

After declining 15 to 16 points, prices rallied slightly on covering by shorts in advance of the holiday here tomorrow. The market near noon eased off again on a bearish statement by Secretary Hester showing that the sale of fertilizer tags had increased at the end of February by more than 277,000 tons. On this dip prices dropped to levels 17 to 21 points under Saturday's close. The market was quiet in the late trading and prices rallied 3 to 6 points in advance of the holiday. May, after opening unchanged at 15.12, declined 17 points to 14.95 and closed at 14.98, net 14 points down for the day. The general market closed steady at net losses of 14 to 16 points.

Liverpool came in better than due and first trades here showed no change to 2 points decline. The market then eased off in sympathy with wheat, finally dropping to 14.97 for May, 15.21 for July and 15.37 for October, or 15 to 18 points below Saturday's close.

The market rallied 3 to 6 points near noon but eased off on Hester's fertilizer statistics, May dropping to 14.95, July to 15.18 and October 15.34, 17 to 21 points under Saturday's close.

The market rallied a few points in the late trading on shorts covering. May closed at 14.98, July 15.24 and October 15.39, or 14 to 16 points net lower for the day.

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER, Associated Press Financial Writer.

NEW YORK, March 3.—(AP)—The stock market turned distinctly reactionary under the pressure of heavy selling at times during today's trading session, but professional operators for the advance made vigorous efforts to stem the tide, and were partly successful. Losses were in the majority at the close, however, a score of important industrials and utilities ending the day 1 to 5 points lower.

Rails held fairly steady. The oils gave a better account of themselves than they have of late, and the tobaccos and several low priced specialties were bid substantially higher. Steel shares, however, were conspicuously heavy. The bullish enhusiasm for the amusement stocks appeared to have waned for the moment at least, and several important utilities gave up part of their recent advances. Trading was in the largest volume since the last abrupt break in the market, which occurred February 20, and was particularly heavy when the market was declining. Tranactions aggregated 3,634,260 shares. The index of 90 leading stocks, however, declined only 6-10 of one point, compared to 3 4-10 February 20.

Business news and analyses appearing over the week-end were not of a character to clarify the rather murky outlook for the near future. The market appeared to reflect speculative uncertainty with the beginning of the new month, a month in which the trends of spring business usually appear in fairly clear outline. The statement by Secretary of Commerce Lamont that he expected business would return to normal within two months, was somewhat reassuring.

Steel Business Off.

On the other hand trade reports indicating that the steel business had lost a little of the vigor of recent weeks tended to inspire caution. The National City Bank, in its monthly survey of economic conditions, pointed out, furthermore, "that business in general has lagged behind the steel industry," and concluded, "The situation still lacks balance, and it is not clear as to how soon full recovery can be expected."

United States Steel lost more than 4 points. Gulf States was depressed more than 5 by abandonment of the merger negotiations with American Rolling Mill. Rolling Mill is selling on a higher earnings ratio basis, and a favorable exchange offer had been hoped for by many Gulf States stockholders. Bethlehem Steel lost 2 points.

American Telephone sold up more than a point to a new peak price for 1930 at 243 1-4, in response to publication of its annual report, showing the Bell system the first $4,000,000,000 commercial enterprise in the world, and earnings on American Telephone stock of $12.57 a share on the capitalization of December 31. The stock soon reacted, however, and closed with a net loss of a couple of points. American Water Works lost 2 and Standard Gas 3 points. Electric Power & Light and Columbia Gas, however, reached a new high for the year and closed with small net gains, while American Power & Light sold up 5 points to a new peak and closed up 4.

Favorites Show Losses.

Such recent favorites among leading industrials as American Can, Eastman Kodak and Westinghouse Electric lost more than 2 points each, and Johns Manville nearly 4. Auburn Auto lost nearly 5 and Radio, Radio-Keith, Paramount and Warner Brothers a point or so.

Merchandising shares were firmer, Montgomery Ward rallying a couple of points. Among the lower priced specialties, Commercial Solvents, the Curtiss Wright issues, Eureka Vacuum and Oliver Farm Equipment reached new high levels for the movement. Oils were firmer in response to more favorable California production figures.

A further break in wheat futures was not expected in view of the smart rally from the recent lows, but contributed to the unsettlement of the stock market. Closing prices were 2 5-8 to 4 3-8 cents lower. The modification of the farm board buying plan was regarded as a dominant factor in the wheat market.

Corn lost about a cent and cotton futures declined 55 to 85 cents a bale.

Credit conditions were easy, with call loans at 4 per cent at the loan post, and available at 3 1-2 per cent outside. Foreign exchanges generally sagged, which led to further talk of a low rediscount rate to prevent any disturbance of London's gold supply. Sterling cables reached $4.85 7-8, a new low for 1930. The Spanish peseta was further depressed, reaching a new low level at 11:96 cents. Some of the far eastern exchanges were buoyed by the Chinese plan to impose an import duty on silver.

Market Gossip

Daily Views of Wall Street Stock Market by Telegraph.

Cotton Letters.

FENNER & BEANE.

NEW YORK, March 3.—Cotton developed an easier tendency today due to reaction in wheat, large fertilizer tag sales, predictions of small acreage decreases and inactive spot and dry goods markets.

Most of the day selling was due to the statement of head of farm board in reference to the intentions of the board toward wheat and general belief that this indicates that cotton has not reached a level to meet the deflation views of the Washington economist and that present prices do not constitute an emergency.

There was some selling on statement from Hester that fertilizer tag sales in nine cotton states for seven months ending with February totaled 1,434,000 tons against 1,157,000 last year.

A New York bureau stated that its reports indicate farmers intend to reduce their acreage from 3 to 6 per cent but will reduce the use of fertilizers 15 per cent.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO.

NEW YORK, March 3.—Despite better cables, our market opened with liquidation started Saturday. There was no news of importance, some western selling on weakness in grain market, but principal pressure was liquidation of recent purchases. Market closed easy, 14 to 16 points lower than Saturday's close. Local sentiment is mixed with weather and probable acreage the principal topics. Market probably continue present sharp erratic fluctuation around present levels. Liverpool futures are due tomorrow: March 8.03, May 8.07.

H. & B. BEER.

NEW YORK, March 3.—Lower wheat and somewhat larger sales of fertilizer tags, as reported by Secretary Hester, caused a somewhat lower cotton market today.

Liverpool cabled: Reactionary buying and shorts covered. The continent and Bombay sold. Manchester reports: Small business in cloth and yarns and mill order lists running down.

A fire at the wharf of the Alabo Compress Co. occurred here yesterday evening, destroying practically the wharf upon which was stored some 20,000 to 25,000 bales of cotton. The exact amount of cotton destroyed, including that aboard the steamship Scantic, has not yet been determined.

New York advised "Hunter Manufacturing & Commission Company say their cotton goods sales fell off materially as compared with previous week."

Returns to Secretary Hester show sales of fertilizer tags in nine cotton states from August to February, both inclusive, to have been 1,434,050 tons against 1,156,869 for corresponding time last season, 1,671,271 season before last and 1,252,347 in season of 1926-27.

ORVIS BROS. & CO.

NEW YORK, March 3.—Selling in today's cotton market was caused by a sharp break in the price of wheat and a southern report that fertilizer tag sales for seven months ending with February total 1,434,000 tons against 1,156,000 tons last year and 1,671,000 tons two years ago. These figures are a surprise in view of the known unfavorable economic situation and the constant efforts to reduce acreage. They are bearish. However, unless we read the future incorrectly, today's fertilizer figures cannot be accepted as an example of what will follow during the remaining months of this year. If sales approximate those of last year or the year before, it will be a mystery, as from all appearances neither the cash nor credit situation gives hope of such a result.

The principal thing about cotton to recommend its purchase is its cheapness, and we believe the trade should bear this future constantly in mind. May Liverpool due 8.07.

Stock Letters.

FENNER & BEANE.

NEW YORK, March 3.—Stocks gained further ground in today's session but the performance of the market was not nearly as convincing as would appear from changes in the closing column.

The leaders fought the advance all day and were particularly weak at the close. Secondary stocks in many of which pools are known to be operating monopolized attention and these together with some selected utilities, especially those holding natural gas interests, gave the market an undue appearance of strength.

Statistics respecting the market itself are in sharp variance with those on industry.

LIVINGSTON & CO.

NEW YORK, March 3.—The market developed further irregularity in the afternoon with losses predominating. Preliminary Dow-Jones industrial average was off over a point and a half and the rail average was off about half a point.

Special attention is being paid to the trend of steel production just now, as this industry has furnished the real backbone of such general business improvement as has so far occurred. The recovery, however, was rather too precipitate and the current slowing down should not be regarded too apprehensively. Util the situation changes, however, we would not take on too many steel stocks. United States Steel was especially heavy today, closing with a loss of over four points. Tobaccos, oils and mail order stocks succeeded in maintaining the larger part of their earlier gains. The move in the oils was very mysterious considering the unsatisfactory condition of the industry.

JACKSON BROS., BOESEL & CO.

NEW YORK, March 3.—Continued weakness in sterling and other European exchanges has given rise to well defined reports that the federal reserve is planning to ease credit conditions further in order to forestall any important import movement of gold that would interfere seriously with the plans of foreign central banks to maintain current interest rates. Our private Washington advices indicate that as much as $350,000,000 of federal reserve credit may be pumped into the market through operations in the bill market. Reserve credit is multiplied approximately 10 times in becoming bank credit, so that an increase of $350,000,000 in federal reserve credit would mean $3,500,000,000 of additional bank credit.

We would continue a policy of accumulation in selected issues on moderate setbacks, particularly when current news about such stocks are temporarily unfavorable. This applies particularly to the better grade rails, such as New York Central, Pennsylvania, Atchison and Baltimore & Ohio.

Cottonseed Oil.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, March 3.—Cottonseed oil was more active and irregular today, closing 7 points lower to 1 point higher. Practically all of the trade was represented in exchanging operations chiefly from May to September at 47 and 30 points. Refiners absorbed the May and sold September, with locals and commission houses doing the reverse. The steadiness of provisions was offset by the decline in grains and cotton. Sales 22,400 barrels. BY THE DIAL TWISTER.

The effects of law and order on a small town character form the basis of the Carlton-Manley radio script, "Picture If You Can," to be broadcast over WGST and the Columbia system during the "Graybar's Mr. and Mrs." program at 9 o'clock this evening.

Joe Green has just been elected president of the local club, and in his zeal to serve his club members and the body, has taken up the matter of law enforcement. Passing over the matter of prohibition as of small account, "Joe" arranges for the cooperation of the chief of police in the case of the traffic light on Main street and becomes front page material for the local paper. With "Vi" beside him, "Joe" goes to have his picture taken and finds at the last he has forgotten a most necessary part of his equipment in the shape of a front tooth. In his mad rush to locate the missing ivory "Joe" unconsciously violates the very law he has sworn to see enforced, and as "Vi" takes the opportunity to put in her oar, the discussion starts and runs far, far into the night.

"Morning on Broadway," featuring Vincent Sorey and his Columbia orchestra, will revive the hits from the musical success, "Sunny," during a program to be broadcast from WGST and the Columbia system at 8:30 o'clock this morning.

The program in detail follows:
Song of Sands
With a Song in My Heart
Lonesome Little Doll
from "Spring Is Here"
The Shepherd's Serenade
Selection from "Sunny"
Shoo-Shoo, Boogie-Boo
Scotchie

WGST and the Columbia system will broadcast a one hour's concert by the United States Army band direct from the Army War college, Washington, D. C., beginning at 3 o'clock this afternoon. William J. Stannard will lead the band. Thomas F. Darcy, second leader, will probably be herd in several cornet solos.

"Big Boy Jess," the Casey Jones of airplane songs, will be given a novel treatment tonight at 8:30 o'clock through WSB by the Happy Wonder Bakers Trio. Instead of singing it with only an orchestral background as is customary, the sound effect experts of this program have contrived an apparatus which sounds like a plane. The effect will be that the trio is singing it from a humming plane. Taken as a whole the Wonder Bakers program will alternate old and new melodies that will range in variety from "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms" to "Just You Just Me," from "Marianne," one of Broadway's latest talking picture successes.

Lady Be Good, from "Lady Be Good" .... Gershwin
Bakers Ensmble
Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms .... Stevenson

Underneath the Stars .... Spencer

Her first job was in a place where rolls for player pianos were made. As the new song hits came in to be made into rolls, she learned them. One day the boys in the office, knowing the boss was out, put her on top of a desk and begged her to sing for them. She was just finishing a snappy number when the boss came back. He promptly fired her.

Thus Helen Kane's first attempt to sing in public ended in disaster. Now she is Hollywood's Helen and Broadway's sugar Kane.

Her voice goes just as well over the air as it does over the footlights, so this evening Miss Kane will be on WSB over the Eveready Hour at 8 o'clock with an extra special line of crooning boops as soft as the velvet on a butterfly's wings.

This evening between 9 and 9:30 o'clock Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company will broadcast over WSB and the National Broadcasting network, a salute to the motion picture industry.

Will H. Hays, president of Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., will be the principal speaker and in a four-minute address will give millions of listeners an insight into what is generally regarded as the most romantic business enterprise in history.

HE HAD BRONCHITIS FOR YEARS BUT SIMPLE REMEDY STOPPED IT

Coughed and Suffered All the Winter, Year After Year, He Says

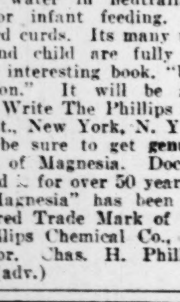

THEN LEARNED ABOUT SIMPLE HOME REMEDY

"I had Bronchitis real bad and none of the usual remedies would even relieve my case, but I found the thing to stop it at last and it is called Lin-O-Nine Emulsion, made by the famous Kerr Chemical people out of Eucalyptus, Irish Moss, Flaxseed and other ingredients they print on the label. The doctors know about it and it sure is good. It not only tastes good but it works wonders for Bronchitis," writes Arth r Lube, 4936 Michigan Ave., Kansas City, Mo.

"After using a bottle of Lin-O-Nine I found such marvelous relief I sent away to the Kerr people for several more and my cough and all signs of the old trouble disappeared right in the middle of winter, and I've felt wonderful ever since," continued Mr. Lube. Thousands of men and women, old and young, say the same thing about this nice tasting, creamy snowy white emulsion which even the children say tastes like ice cream. One seems to not only get rid of the cold but the whole system is fortified and built up and appetite and general health improves amazingly. Strengthened again the system finds it easy to ward off further troubles and one's winter is enjoyed without fears of sickness and lost time from work. Any druggist will obtain a bottle of Kerr's Lin-O-Nine Emulsion of his jobber for you, even if he hasn't it in stock, or just send 50c or $1 for 7 or 15-oz. size return mail to Kerr Chemical Co., Brentwood, Md.—(adv.)

MOTHERS now learn value of MAGNESIA

Because it is so helpful in keeping babies and children healthy and happy, every mother should know about Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

This harmless, lmost tasteless preparation is most effective in relieving those symptoms of babies and children generally caused by souring food in the little digestive tract, such as sour-belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, colic. As a mild laxative, it acts gently, but certainly, to open the little bowels in constipation, colds, children's diseases.

A teaspoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia does the work of half a pint of lime water in neutralizing cow's milk for infant feeding, and preventing hard curds. Its many uses for mother and child are fully explained in the interesting book, "Useful Information." It will be sent you, FREE. Write The Phillips Co., 117 Hudson St., New York, N. Y.

In buying, be sure to get genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 50 years.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co., and its predecessor, Chas. H. Phillips, since 1875.—(adv.)

Eczema on Boy's Head Lasted Ten Years. Healed by Cuticura.

"I used everything I heard of but nothing helped him. I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. Later I purchased more and in a short time he was completely healed." (Signed) Mrs. Virginia E. Golder, 833 Vine St., Baltimore, Md.

SUPREME COURT GETS BOOZE BUYER APPEAL

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(AP)—A decision to pass upon a highly disputed point of prohibition enforcement came from the supreme court today while the wets were determining who would have the final word before the house judiciary committee in behalf of repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

The six hearings in the past three weeks have been occupied by those favoring repeal or modification of prohibition. They will end their arguments tomorrow and on the next day the drys will begin to present their witnesses. Thus far there has come no announcement from the drys as to who they will bring before the committee on Wednesday.

The case upon which the supreme court decided today to act involves whether the purchaser of bootleg liquor may be prosecuted for conspiracy to violate the Volstead act when he orders liquor knowing that illegal transportation will be necessary. Recognizing that a speedy decision was needed, the court advanced the case for hearing on April 14.

Many Witnesses.

Opponents of prohibition who will testify tomorrow will include Breckenridge Long, of St. Louis, former assistant secretary of state under Woodrow Wilson, and Noel B. Martin, an attorney of Lewiston, Idaho, as leading witnesses. Representative Linthicum, democrat, Maryland, leader of the house wet bloc, and probably Representative Celler, democrat, New York, a wet member of the judiciary committee, will make the final argument.

The case to test whether the liquor buyer is guilty of conspiracy came from the Pennsylvania courts.

When Alfred E. Norris, a New York banker, obtained frequent supplies of illicit liquor from Joel D. Farper, of Philadelphia, shipped on Norris' order, the government indicted the two men, charging conspiracy to violate the national prohibition laws. It took the position that Norris by placing orders with the knowledge that the liquor must be illegally shipped to him, was guilty of conspiracy to illegally transport liquor.

Against Government.

The federal court in Pennsylvania decided against the government, holding that the purchase of liquor was not an offense under the prohibition law, and that a sale did not constitute a conspiracy, even though it contemplated the delivery of the liquor. The circuit court of appeals also held that transportation necessary to effect delivery to the purchaser "does not subject the purchaser and seller to an indictment for conspiracy to transport."

The government in asking the highest court to pass upon the case emphasized that the decision of the lower courts had narrowed the scope of the conspiracy section and would be harmful in a number of cases, some brought under other laws than the prohibition act. Explaining that the question whether a purchaser of illicit liquor was equally guilty with the bootlegger was not involved in the present case, which was restricted to the charge of conspiracy, the government regards the outcome as of the highest importance in the shaping of measures to make prohibition enforcement more effective.

Insurance Company Offers Ford as Bonus

Each salesman of the Bankers Health and Life Insurance Company who meets a certain standard during 1930 will be given a Ford automobile, it is announced by P. L. Hay, president of the company.

Mr. Hay's announcement says that the force of the company includes 268 agents, and that the requirements for winning one of the automobiles are not beyond any one of the force. The standard is based on new policies written and percentage of collections.

The company favors an automobile in preference to a cash bonus, the announcement explains, in the belief that the agents are given a greater incentive to work, and also those who win automobiles will be in a position to obtain more business.

DECATUR NEGRO DIES WHEN HIT BY TRAIN

DECATUR, Ga., March 3.—Struck by a freight train as he was walking to work about 6:30 o'clock Monday morning, Henry Coleman, aged negro employe of the Scottdale store, was instantly killed at the Georgia railroad crossing at Scottdale.

Eye-witnesses of the accident stated that the negro evidently failed to hear the whistle of the oncoming train and walked directly into its path. There will be no inquest. Coleman was about 70 years old and had been employed at the Scottdale store since the firm was established in 1901. He was known to most of the population of DeKalb county as Old Henry.

YRTO MANUFACTURER AT SHOE CONVENTION

Among the outstanding manufacturers attending the Southeastern Shoe Retailers' Association convention here is Seymour Troy, of the Seymour Troy

SEYMOUR TROY.

Company, Brooklyn, N. Y., whose products are marketed under the trade name of Yrto.

Mr. Troy has come into national prominence in the shoe industry in recent years through his efforts to create a new trend in the line he is producing.

The line is carried by Rich's in Atlanta, and Mr. Troy says that it is to be found in the finest shops throughout America. He produces both Goodyear turn and bench made shoes, which are considered of the best quality.

Advance summer samples in his line show a decided trend toward fabric and color. Other features include pumps in quarter sizes and lightness in weight.

Mr. Troy says that particular attention is given to art in the conception of the line, and that every effort is exerted to make it a true representation of American culture with a continental background. By this means, he explains, an appeal is made to sophisticated women, where real taste is concerned.

Boy Scout Leader To Address Civitans

W. A. Dobson, head of the Boy Scout organization in Atlanta, is announced as the principal speaker at the weekly Civitan Club luncheon meeting today at the Atlanta Athletic Club by Dr. W. Dr. Quillian has appointed Van Wilkinson chairman of the program committee for March. Mr. Wilkinson will be assisted by L. M. Shadgett, C. J. Holditch and P. R. Miller.

GRAND JURY TO STUDY PROHIBITION RESULTS

DECATUR, Ga., March 3.—A comparative study of whisky drinking in DeKalb county, to estimate whether liquor consumption there has increased or declined, was requested of the March DeKalb superior court grand jury Monday by Judge John B. Hutcheson in his charge to that body at its initial session.

Judge Hutcheson stressed the importance of enlightening information on the results of prohibition, to show the trend of drinking within the past few years.

The presiding judge also admonished the jury to study with utmost caution all county affairs and detail recommendations in presentments which will be returned when the jury retires from service.

Twenty-five bills advancing criminal charges will be considered first, it was announced by Solicitor-General Claude C. Smith.

WILLIAM WHITE KISSES HAITIAN NEGRESS' HAND

Gesture by Commission Member Wins Approval of Islanders.

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti, March 3.—(AP)—William Allen White, newspaper publisher, of Emporia, Kan., and member of President Hoover's investigation commission here, has excited the entire populace of this capital with an act of his last night.

While a parade of Haitian women passed before White, who was standing at the gate of the Hotel Excelsior, where the commission is residing, one of the women, an aged negress dressed in black, stepped in front of him and said: "Please, commissioner, deliver us."

As she spoke she bowed. White grasped her hand, bowed himself and then kissed her hand. For a moment everyone was quiet. Then there was a roar of wild cheers.

Cries of "Long live the commission" and "Long live President Hoover" were heard on all sides. Women leaders cried with happiness and said the Emporia man's act was one of the greatest gestures of friendship the Hoover group could have made toward Haiti.

Previously members of the investigation commission had prevented an interruption by the nationel gardes of a demonstration which the Haitians wished to stage in protest at the American occupation and in expression of the hope for restoration of self-government.

More than 15,000 citizens of the republic gathered around the monument to the negro revolutionist, Jean Jacques Dessalines, in the square of Champs De Mars. The demonstration was preceded by a religious service at the church of the Sacred Heart, a "Save Haiti" service, organized by the women of Port-au-Prince.

Mr. White, as the representative of the commission, sat among a thousand women during the ceremony, which brought tears to the eyes of many American visitors. He said afterward he was deeply moved.

LEADERS DEMAND FREE ELECTIONS.

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti, Mar. 3. (AP)—Two prominent Haitian leaders, representing groups with a total membership of 500,000, in testifying before President Hoover's investigation commission today, urged the immediate recall of Brigadier General John H. Russell, American high commissioner, and accused him of being virtually dictator of the island republic.

They likewise asked for the dismissal of the council of state, and warned the commissioners that if the council should attempt to elect a president on April 14, without permitting popular elections, a "massacre" was unavoidable.

Antoine Rigal, president of a group of seven liberal organizations, accused General Russell of being virtually a dictator. He declared President Borno was holding office illegally, inasmuch as the president's father is French and the constitution requires a native-born Haitian for the office.

He denounced Borno as a mere "puppet in the hands of High Commissioner Russell," and demanded the recall of the American high commissioner.

Court Hears Grant Tax Rebate Appeal

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 3.—(AP)—The fifth district federal court of appeals today heard arguments in the appeal of Josiah T. Rose, internal revenue collector for Georgia, from the decision of Judge Samuel H. Sibley, who granted a refund on income tax paid by John W. Grant, Atlanta capitalist.

Grant was awarded a refund of $27,511.84 on his return paid for the years 1920, 1921 and 1922.

Grant claimed today he paid under protest a tax on $25,000 of income, a gift to him from his mother who died in December, 1920, and that credits were due him for depreciation in other cases of tax paid, which the internal revenue collector declined to allow.

Government counsel argued that the $25,000 was entered as taxable voluntarily by Grant in filing returns and that if there was a mistake in computation it should be decided by the court.

The government was represented at the hearing by Thomas H. Lewis, special attorney for the internal revenue bureau at Washington; Clint W. Hager, United States district attorney at Atlanta, and G. C. Goree, assistant district attorney.

John M. Slaton, former governor of Georgia, represented Grant.

The case is being heard by Judge Rufus E. Foster and Judge N. P. Bryan, of the circuit court of appeals, and Judge Edwin Holmes, of the northern Mississippi district court.

Edison Quits 'Glades With New Specimen

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 3.—(UN)—Returning from the everglades with another plant specimen, Thomas A. Edison and Henry Ford today repaired to their laboratory here to continue experiments for the production of rubber from an American-grown plant. They will determine whether the new specimen will yield rubber more cheaply than golden rod, the most likely subject discovered thus far. Ford said he expected to return to Detroit this week, probably tomorrow.

GAS SLATED TO BRING NEW INDUSTRIES HERE

R. C. Hoffman, Jr., Makes Address Before Local Traffic Club.

Prediction of an influx of new industries into Georgia in the near future as a result of the dependable supply of natural gas, recently made available for commercial use, was made Monday by R. C. Hoffman, Jr., vice president and general manager of the Southern Cities Public Service Company.

Mr. Hoffman was principal speaker at the monthly meeting of the Traffic Club of Atlanta, held in the Atlanta Athletic Club. He outlined the work done in piping natural gas here from the fields of Louisiana and discussed the stability of the supply and qualities of the product making a valuable factor in many industries.

The gas executive then told of a number of contracts made with industrial concerns already operating here to utilize natural gas for fuel in manufacturing. He pointed out that the lack of this fuel up to now had prevented the great ceramic resources of Georgia from being more than barely scratched, and predicted that manufacturers of superior ceramic products would shortly locate plants here.

The program Monday was sponsored by the Atlanta Gas Light Company. Entertainment, arranged by Lagare Davis, advertising manager of the gas light company, was featured by song selections by Bob Forsam and Ruth Hansor.

GERALDINE FARRAR TO BE DISTINGUISHED HONOR GUEST

Mrs. Murphy Gives Luncheon At Hillcrest

Mrs. John E. Murphy entertains at luncheon at 1:30 o'clock Wednesday, March 5, at Hillcrest, her home on Peachtree road, in compliment to her life-long friend, Geraldine Farrar, one of America's foremost artists, whose voice and vivid personality have brought to the opera and concert stage one of the internationally distinguished figures. This is Miss Farrar's first visit to Atlanta in eight years, having appeared here at the auditorium in concert, but her friendship with Mrs. Murphy has lasted over a period of more than 20 years. They have corresponded always, and remembered one another upon their birthday anniversaries. Mrs. W. C. Gilmore, of New York city, who is traveling with Miss Farrar, will also be a luncheon guest of Mrs. Murphy.

Geraldine Farrar is in the prime of her vocal powers, as her voice in recent years has gained in warmth, richness, and in the expressive quality that has long been ifts signal and characteristic distinction. As her tones have ripened, so also have the keen mind that shapes and controls them, coupled with the vibrant temperament that gives them life and glow. Miss Farrar imparts to her hearers the passion, the fancy, the picture, the atmosphere that a song would summon. With the heart appeal of the classic love songs of German masters, the grace or melancholy of French pieces, the high pitched emotion of Russian numbers, Italian ardors or American playfulness, she is equally happy.

The famous diva, for many years a leading and greatly beloved member of the Metropolitan Opera Company, appeared here in "Madam Butterfly," "Louise," and other famous roles. She penetrates and absorbs the quality of a song and imparts her own spirit to her audience. This great intensity is the secret of Miss Farrar's personality, the source of her power over her audiences alike in opera house and concert hall.

Miss Farrar appeared last evening in Rome in concert, and on March 7 she goes to Columbus to sing there, and is scheduled to appear at the municipal auditorium in Macon on March 12, under the auspices of the Macon Woman's Club.

"WHAT CHARM ALWAYS ALLURES?"

Movie Directors say: "Lovely Skin"

"The one thing which is universally alluring is smooth, velvety skin," say 45 of Hollywood's most famous directors. "To a screen star it is invaluable for the public takes to its heart only those whose skin shows flawlessly smooth in the close-up."

Ruth Elder

Hollywood has long been aware of the great appeal beautiful skin has to the emotions. For years 9 out of 10 screen stars have been relying on Lux Toilet Soap to give their skin the lovely smoothness the public demands.

Ruth Elder's beauty and daring have made her famous. She is now under contract to Hoot Gibson and her lovely skin passes the severe test of the close-up easily. "Lux Toilet Soap keeps my skin so wonderfully smooth," she explains.

Betty Francisco

Charming Betty Francisco also uses this delicately fragrant white soap. She says: "It leaves my skin like velvet."

Delightful Kathryn Crawford states: "I always use Lux Toilet Soap." No wonder it is the official soap in all the great studio dressing rooms.

Kathryn Crawford

Have you tried Lux Toilet Soap? Luxurious as fine French soaps at 50¢ and $1.00 the cake—yet only 10¢.

Best Remedy for Cough Is Easily Mixed at Home

You'll never know how quickly a stubborn cough or chest cold can be conquered, until you try this famous recipe. It is used in millions of homes, because it gives more prompt, positive relief than anything else. It's no trouble at all to mix and costs but a trifle.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to make a full pint. This saves two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough medicine, and gives you a purer, better remedy. It never spoils, and tastes good—children like it.

You can actually feel its penetrating, soothing action on the inflamed throat membranes. It is also absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. At the same time, it promptly loosens the germ-laden phlegm. This three-fold action explains why it brings such quick relief even in severe bronchial coughs which follow cold epidemics.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded. —(adv.)

Mrs. Griffin was before her marriage Miss Florence Boykin. Mr. and Mrs. Griffin and their small son left this week-end for Cleveland, Ohio, where they will make their future home.

Junior League Jottings

BY MRS. REGINALD SCOTT FLEET, Editor

The Atlanta Junior League meets at the Piedmont Driving Club this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mrs. Lawrence Willet and Mrs. DeSales Harrison, the two delegates to the regional conference in Jacksonville, will present their reports of this conference. The complete report of the Follies will be given. This should prove a very interesting meeting and a full attendance is urged.

A meeting of the executive board of the Junior League has been called by Mrs. John Knox, the president, for 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Driving Club. All members of the board will please attend this meeting.

The Junior League Magazine for March was completely devoid of pictures and devoted to the serious subject of education. This subject was approached from every possible angle, from that of the child, the parents, the teachers, the schools and the public. Mrs. Rutherford Ellis had a splendid article in the magazine on the subject of the Tallulah Falls Industrial school, a school in which so many Junior Leaguers are interested, not only for the wonderful work accomplished and to be accomplished there, but for the fact that two of our members, Adgate Ellis Gay and Virginia Lipscomb Hurt, were the founders of the school.

The April issue of the magazine will be devoted to legends; the May issue goes "foreign," and in June we step into "gardens." Mrs. Ellis, the editor for Atlanta, urges everyone to contribute to the magazine. Let your talent come out in the open.

"Savannah Speaking" is the rather unusual title of the newssheet which the Savannah Junior League publishes nine times a year. The Junior League girls in Savannah had entire charge of the sale of tickets for the recent tournament at the Savannah Golf Club, a tournament in which a "Junior League husband," Bobby Jones, participated. They received 10 per cent on every ticket sold and, after expenses were paid, 10 per cent of the net profit. Judging by the popularity of the tournament, it will go down in history as one occasion when the selling of tickets was not a burden.

"Junior League Jottings" seems to be a name popular with other leagues, as the Birmingham Junior League runs a weekly column in a local newspaper under this title and the Chattanooga Junior League publishes an excellent newssheet called the Junior League Jottings.

Mrs. Garlington Is Honored.

Miss Harbort and Mr. Wallace Plight Troth at Church Ceremony

The wedding of Miss Betty Caroline Harbort, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Harbort, to William Bruce Wallace, of Charlotte, N. C., was beautifully solemnized at noon yesterday at St. Luke's Episcopal church. The Rev. N. R. High Moore, rector, performed the impressive ring ceremony in the presence of a representative assemblage of relatives and friends.

Tall vases of Easter lilies interspersed with lighted cathedral candelabra stood in bold relief against the altar, which was banked with palms and luxurious greenery. Seven-branched candelabra holding slender burning tapers flanked the altar, shedding a soft glow over the impressive scene.

The Musical Program.

A musical program of unusual beauty and dignity was rendered by St. Luke's choir under the direction of Hugh Hodgson, distinguished musician. A group of selections including "Choral," by Boellman; "Andatino," Batiste; "Orange Blossoms," by Friml, and "Scherzo," by Widon, was rendered by Mr. Hodgson preceding the ceremony. Before the entrance of the bridal party the vested choir entered singing the wedding march from "Lohengrin." During the ceremony "Oh Perfect Love," Landingham, was softly sung, and "Liebstraum," by Liszt, and "Oh Thou Sublime Sweet Evening Star," Wagner, were used as a dulcet-toned accompaniment to the service. The wedding party left the church to the bridal chorus by Mendelssohn.

Miss Virginia Fortson, maid of honor, was gowned in a becoming model of figured chiffon, the shades of orchid and purple predominating. The lovely dress which was made along princess lines featured a modish long skirt of uneven hemline. The graceful butterfly sleeves and round neck added a note of piquancy to the lovely model. A natural colored hat of horsehair braid offset with touches of orchid ribbon completed the lovely costume. She carried a magnificant sheaf of Madame Butterfly roses, lavender and pink sweet peas tied with streamers of green satin ribbon.

The junior bridesmaid, little Miss Dorothy Edith Harbort, sister of the bride, wore a sleeveless frock of nile green crepe de chine fashioned with a circular cape collar and gracefully flounced skirt. The graceful round neck was a feature of the dainty model. Her flowers were Madame Butterfly roses, and pink and lavender sweet peas tied with streamers of green satin ribbon.

Mrs. Harbort, mother of the bride, wore a becoming model of navy blue georgette trimmed with touches of beige lace. The uneven hemline featured the model. A hat of beige colored straw completed the costume. She wore a shoulder bouquet of Ophelia roses and valley lilies.

The Lovely Bride.

The lovely bride, who entered with her father, Adolph Harbort, by whom she was given in marriage, was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Alun Williams. Her lovely titian beauty was enhanced by her wedding gown of deep ivory satin fashioned along princess lines, the back of the skirt forming a graceful pointed train. The neckline was effectively rounded. The lovely sleeves were fashioned of two satin puffs, extending almost to the elbow, below which Chantilly lace formed a long, close-filtting sleeve. The misty tulle eggshell colored veil was caught to the lovely auburn hair of the bride in cap effect, a bandeau of orange blossoms extending across the front of the head, terminating in showers of orange blossoms at each side. Her pumps were of ivory satin offset with orange blossoms. A note of sentiment was added to the lovely costume through the beautiful gold necklace which was brought from Germany by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Adolph Harbort. Her bouquet was of bride's roses and valley lilies, showered with tiny streamers of white satin ribbon and clusters of valley lilies.

Following the ceremony the young couple left for a wedding trip to Florida, Asheville, N. C.; Washington, D. C.; New York, where they will visit relatives. The bride traveled in a smart model of beige crepe de chine fashioned with high waistline and long circular skirt. Her modish coat was of tan broadcloth offset with moleskin collar. A bouquet of Ophelia roses and valley lilies adorned her shoulder. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Wallace will make their home in Atlanta.

Among the out-of-town guests who attended the wedding were Miss Georgia Wallace, of Charlotte, N. C., sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. Alun Williams, of Summit, N. J.

You have a Doctor's Word for this Laxative

IN 1875, an earnest young man began to practice medicine. As a family doctor, he treated many cases of constipation. He soon saw the harm in common purges and began to seek something better. Out of his experience was born a famous prescription now in wide use.

This prescription was written thousands of times. It proved an ideal laxative for old and young. Children like its pleasant taste. Older people like it because it doesn't gripe or cause discomfort. It is a mixture of fresh herbs and other pure ingredients; thoroughly effective for the most robust of men. Stimulates the normal muscular action of the bowels. So its use will not become a habit. As people saw how marvelously the most sluggish bowels are started and bad breath, headaches, biliousness, feverishness, or no energy, poor appetite, etc., are relieved by Dr. Caldwell's prescription, it became necessary to put it up ready for use.

Today, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, as it is called, is the world's most popular laxative. All drug stores have the generous bottles. The product never varies from Dr. Caldwell's original formula. So you can take it with confidence or give it to the youngest child.

DURING DECEMBER, 1916, THE CZARINA, AT THE INSTIGATION OF THE MONK RASPUTIN, FILLED HER LETTERS TO THE CZAR AT THE FRONT WITH APPEALS NOT TO YIELD TO THE DEMANDS OF THE RUSSIAN DUMA FOR A RESPONSIBLE GOVERNMENT. "SHOW TO ALL," SHE WROTE, "THAT YOU ARE THE MASTER AND MUST BE OBEYED."

DECEMBER 29, 1916, RASPUTIN WAS MURDERED BY PROMINENT NOBLES AT A DINNER PARTY IN THE PALACE OF PRINCE YOUSOUPOV. THE ASSASSINS HOPED BY THIS CRIME TO REMOVE THE WORST STUMBLING-BLOCK TO GOVERNMENTAL REFORM, BUT THE SITUATION REMAINED UNCHANGED.

THE CZAR, HIS RESOLVE STRENGTHENED BY THE CZARINA'S LETTERS, REMAINED UNSHAKEN IN HIS REFUSAL TO RELINQUISH ANY OF THE ABSOLUTE POWER WHICH HE CONSIDERED HIS BY "DIVINE RIGHT." HE REJECTED THE FINAL DEMAND OF THE DUMA FOR A CABINET RESPONSIBLE TO IT, AND MADE UP HIS MIND TO DISSOLVE THAT BODY.

CERTAIN MEMBERS OF THE DUMA AND SOME RUSSIAN GENERALS BECAME CONVINCED THAT ONLY BY DEPOSING THE CZAR COULD A RESPONSIBLE GOVERNMENT BE SECURED. A COURT REVOLUTION WAS ACTUALLY PLANNED, BUT BEFORE THIS MOVEMENT GOT UNDER WAY, THERE CAME A MIGHTY UPRISING OF THE LONG-SUFFERING RUSSIAN MASSES.

Mary Ware Dennett Freed by U. S. Court

NEW YORK, March 3.—(AP)—The United States circuit court of appeals today unanimously reversed the conviction of Mrs. Mary Ware Dennett, of Brooklyn, on charges of sending obscene matter through the mails to Mrs. C. A. Miles in Grottoes, Va.

No retrial was ordered and under the terms of the decision Mrs. Dennett is freed from the charge, which grew out of the mailing of a copy of her brochure, "The Sex Side of Life," to Mrs. Miles.

Judge Augustus N. Hand, in expressing the opinion of the circuit court, wrote that "no case was made for submission to the jury and the judgment therefore must be reversed." He set forth that as to the meaning of the words "obscene," "lewd" and "lascivious" as contained in the criminal code, it was for the "trial court to determine whether the pamphlet could reasonably be thought of such character before the submission of the case to the jury."

The pamphlet which Mrs. Dennett sent through the mails was one she wrote 15 years ago for the guidance of her two sons, now grown. The pamphlet has been distributed by churches and social organizations for the last ten years.

Townville, S. C.—"I have used Thedford's Black-Draught about fifteen years, intervals," writes Mrs. J. M. Wicker, of this place.

"I took it for headache and that tired, draggy feeling one has in the spring. I used to have severe sick headaches.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

PETER CANNOT FORGET.

By Thornton W. Burgess.

Your memory may be poor and yet
Some things there are you can't forget.
—Peter Rabbit.

Curiosity is a most provoking thing. It will not let you forget when you want to forget. Peter Rabbit never went over to the Green Forest that he didn't remember what Whitefoot the Wood Mouse had told him about his winter home. Just the sight of the edge of the Green Forest would remind Peter of Whitefoot's secret and immediately arouse Peter's curiosity. He wasted a lot of time hunting for that home of Whitefoot's. Sometimes he saw Whitefoot, but more often he didn't. When he did see Whitefoot it was always near the place where he had met Whitefoot when the latter had told him about that home.

Now, many pairs of eyes are better than just one pair. At least that is what Peter Rabbit thought. "If I can't find Whitefoot's home myself, perhaps some one else can," said he. "The thing to do is to ask questions."

The first one Peter asked was his cousin, Jumper the Hare, who lives in the Green Forest. "Cousin Jumper," said Peter, "do you happen to know where Whitefoot the Wood Mouse is living this winter?"

Jumper scratched a long ear with a long hindfoot. "No, I don't, Peter," said he. "Now you mention the matter, it occurs to me that I haven't seen Whitefoot all winter. I do hope nothing has happened to him. I am rather fond of the little fellow."

"I can set your mind at rest on that score," said Peter. "Nothing has happened to him. Anyway, nothing had happened to him up to a few nights ago, for I saw him then. He was over on the very edge of the Green Forest."

"That explains it," said Jumper. "I seldom go over to the edge of the Green Forest. It must be that he has moved over there."

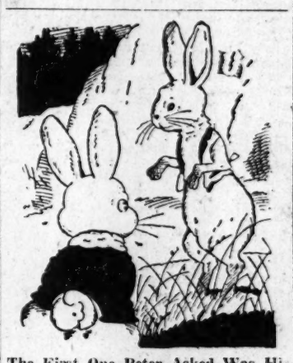

"Do you think so?" cried Peter. "I hadn't thought of that. I have always thought of Whitefoot as living in the Green Forest, so I supposed he had simply wandered a long way from home."

"You may be certain he hasn't done that," replied Jumper. "Whitefoot never wanders very far from his home. You may be sure that his home is not a great way from where you saw him. I am glad to know that he is alive and all right."

"Oh, he was very much alive and quite all right when I last saw him," said Peter. "He was looking unusually well. And he told me that he has one of the best homes he has ever had."

"Didn't he tell you where it is? Or didn't you ask him?" inquired Jumper.

"Oh, I asked him all right," replied Peter, "but he wouldn't give me so much as a hint. I suppose it must be in a stump, or under a stump, or in a hollow log, or in some old home of Drummer the Woodpecker. I shall have a good look over there now."

The First One Peter Asked Was His Cousin, Jumper The Hare.

"It may be under ground, you know," said Jumper. "Sometimes Whitefoot makes his home under ground."

NEGRO CONFESSES DOUBLE MURDER

Two Others Implicated in Plot To Murder Couple for Bag of Gold.

MACON, Ga., March 3.—(AP)—The case involving the brutal murder of a Confederate veteran and his wife near Powersville, Ga., in January, went to the Peach county grand jury Monday with the confession of one negro and the protestations of innocence of two others he implicates.

Albert Jackson is the negro who confessed having plotted with "Son" Straughter and Armstead Lawson the murder of Mr. and Mrs. Green Hartley for their bag of gold. He is said to have told in detail how he and his two conspirators clubbed the old couple to death with a stick of stovewood and robbed Mrs. Hartley's body of a bag of coins she had tied about her waist.

In the Bibb county jail Sunday Sheriff Anderson, of Fort Valley, and Officer Alvin Murray questioned and requestioned the two negroes implicated in Jackson's confession, but were unable to obtain confessions. They expressed themselves convinced, however, that Jackson's story is true.

The officers have as yet been unable to find the money, which Jackson said had been buried after the murders.

UTILITY RATE OFFICIALS IN SESSION AT MACON

MACON, Ga., March 3.—(AP)—With an attendance of some 75 mayors and city officials from all portions of the state expected, the fight of the Municipal Utilities Rate Association against alleged excessive public utility charges will shift tomorrow morning to Macon.

Wililam M. Lester, of Augusta, chairman of the Association of Municipal Officials, has announced that he will lay before the assembly information concerning what he terms excessive gas and power rates, particularly the so-called "service" charge. The meeting will be held at 10 o'clock at the Hotel Dempsey.

E. R. Layfield, Macon alderman and member of the executive committee, said tonight that the meeting will also be devoted to "anything else that concerns the public."

Among the subjects to be discussed, it is indicated, are proposed regulations "curbing the power" of public utility companies and rates charged industrial concerns and municipalities.

W.C.T.U. HEAD EXPLAINS OPPOSITION TO HAGER

BARNESVILLE, Ga., March 3.—Mrs. Marvin Williams, president of the Georgia W. C. T. U., who recently opposed the reappointment of Clint W. Hager as United States district attorney at Atlanta, Monday issued a statement explaining her opposition as follows:

"For reasons that seemed to me more than sufficient, I became convinced that the cause of law observance and law enforcement in that district would not be served by the reappointment of the present incumbent. Considering it my patriotic duty so to inform the government, some months ago I addressed an earnest protest to the department of justice, urging that the department make a thorough investigation. This much I, as the official head of a large group of Christian citizens of Georgia, felt conscientiously constrained to do. The appointment is now in the hands of the committee.

"In my opinion, all true prohibitionists may well consider this appointment most unfortunate. The responsibility, however, is not mine but that of the government at Washington."

Augusta, Ga., Wettest City In America, Says Liggett

Savannah Has "a Form of Local Option," Asserts Well-Known Writer.

ATHENS, Ga., March 3.—Figures were produced here today by Walter Liggett, newspaperman and investigator for Plain Talk, to substantiate his contention that Georgia is a wet state in practice, an assertion challenged last week by Dr. N. G. Slaughter, prominent lay leader of the Methodist church.

Athens, Atlanta, Macon, Savannah and Augusta were cited by Mr. Liggett as examples of cities where drunkenness has not decreased since prohibition if it has not actually increased. Mr. Liggett left Athens today for Oklahoma where he will resume investigations of prohibition enforcement for his magazine. He said he found little or no graft in connection with prohibition enforcement in Georgia, but that the state is certainly as wet as any of the others, not excepting the eastern seaboard where the wet side of the prohibition question has become a winning ticket.

In Athens, for instance, last year there were 500 arrests for drunkenness, a figure which Mr. Liggett asserted is unusually high for a city of 20,000 population.

"In Atlanta, the capital of Georgia and its largest city," Mr. Liggett said, "an authoritative and complete record of arrests for drunkenness reveals that drinking has more than doubled since the federal prohibition law went into effect. In 1919, the last year before federal prohibition, there were 2,136 arrests for drunkenness. And in 1929, after 10 years of federal prohibition, there were 9,466 arrests for drunkenness. In other words, the arrests for drunkenness have increased 136 per cent in the 10 years under prohibition—or more than doubled.

"Of course, fanatical drys will immediately argue that the increase in drunkenness has been caused by the increase in population. Unfortunately for their argument, Atlanta had a population of 200,616 in 1919, and the rate of arrests for drunkenness was 156 for every 10,000 population. In 1929, according to the federal census bureau, Atlanta had a population of 255,400 and the rate of arrests for drunkenness per each 10,000 population is exactly 371. Atlanta population has increased a little more than 25 per cent in the last 10 years, whereas the number of arrests for drunkenness has increased 136 per cent.

"Macon," said Mr. Liggett, "had 2,324 arrests for drunkenness last year which is 332 persons out of every 10,000. And Savannah, where I was unable to obtain figures on arrests, has a sort of 'local option' and the police appear to be reluctant to make arrests for drunkenness and bootlegging. But 75 per cent of the cases tried in the federal district court should be handled by the police.

"In Augusta, I discovered that one out of every 22 persons is arrested within 12 months for being intoxicated," asserted Mr. Liggett, which gives that city the unenviable reputation for having a rate for drunkenness higher than that of any other city in the United States either before or after prohibition."

The boy was riding his bicycle on Clifton road about 9:30 p. m. when a motorcycle with a side car attachment drove up alongside his wheel, he reported. The men dismounted and surrounded him, beating him up and firing three shots in the air to force him to give up his money, he stated. After securing the $40 they mounted the motorcycle and sped away.

AGRICULTURAL WORK OF GEORGIAN PRAISED

W. R. Tucker Recognized as Leader in Tobacco and Peach Industries.

MOULTRIE, Ga., March 3.—A railroad agricultural agent whose freezing process for keeping peaches fresh indefinitely may save Georgia growers $12,000,000 annually is given credit also as a pioneer in the state's tobacco industry, now a $16,000,000 crop, which helped to bring prosperity to south Georgia.

He is W. R. Tucker, of Atlanta, general agricultural agent of the Atlanta, Birmingham & Coast railroad, who was recently recommended as a candidate for the Capper national award for "outstanding service to agriculture," on account of his peach process. The award to be decided next October carries a gold medal and $5,000 in money.

W. E. Aycock, secretary of the Moultrie Chamber of Commerce, in a statement made public here, gives Mr. Tucker credit for promoting tobacco growing in Colquitt county more than 12 years ago, which was some time before it had been seriously thought of a source of wealth in the state.

Big Increases Shown.

"It sounded like a 'wonderful pipe dream' to me, and while I was impressed with Tucker's earnestness, I could not visualize tobacco growing in Georgia as an enormous source of wealth," Mr. Aycock said. "Now I have before me the figures on tobacco production in Colquitt county which show $499,000 for 1927; $750,000 for 1928, and $1,450,000 for last year, when it became one of our four $1,000,000 crops of this county, and is resulting in Moultrie becoming one of the most important tobacco centers in Georgia."

"It was a dream of Tucker's, but it was based on results that have been obtained in the Carolinas on similar lands plus his thorough knowledge of climatic and other conditions, existing both there and here obtained while he was in county agent work.

"I recall that Mr. Tucker asserted that our lands would not only produce a better quality of tobacco but more pounds an acre than the old bright leaf tobacco belt. Both of these predictions have proved true.

Practical Man.

"Will Tucker is not only a 'dreamer' but a very practical man as well, an unusual combination. He dreamed that peaches could be harvested ripe from the trees, peeled and sliced, sugared, frozen, packed in dry ice and kept indefinitely and when served the original flavor preserved. Then he proceeded with the aid of the Georgia bureau of markets to prove it could be done. He has proved it beyond the question of doubt."

Mr. Tucker's process for preserving fresh peaches, according to Mr. Aycock, may soon result in the establishment of one or more plants in south Georgia which will handle the surplus crop. This, he shows, will give employment to many persons.

"If there has been a more 'outstanding achievement' than that of Mr. Tucker, in connection with Georgia's agricultural or horticultural interests, I have not heard about it," Mr. Aycock declared.

REDUCTION IN ACREAGE OF TOBACCO IS URGED

Largest Supply of Bright Leaf in Years Now on Hand, Survey Reveals.

VALDOSTA, Ga., March 3.—Recent figures announced showing the amount of tobacco on hand of various classes hold much interest to the tobacco growing industry in south Georgia. Bright leaf tobacco in stock at this time is reported to be greater than for the same date of the last two years.

Based on this showing, farmers are being advised to reduce the south Georgia and north Florida acreage as a means of holding up prices this year to a higher standard. What effect, if any, this may have cannot be estimated at this time. Growers through this section will begin transplanting during the week of March 10 if weather conditions are favorable, and it will not be until the crop has been set out that real estimates can be made on the probable crop. There is an abundance of plants and they are all in an advanced stage of growth.

Early estimates on production, with seedbed planting and fertilizer orders, were that the yield would run from 125,000,000 to 150,000,000 pounds this year. This would be far in excess of the 1929 tonnage, which was 96,000,000, and there are many who question the advisability of growing that much tobacco in the face of such tremendous holdover stocks. In this connection it is also pointed out that burley tobacco is being used quite extensively along with the bright leaf product, which also lessens the demand for the Georgia product.

Georgian Suicides.

NASHVILLE, Ga., March 3.—D. D. Little, 50, killed himself at his home here about noon today by firing a bullet into his head. Despondency over recent business failures is believed to have been responsible for the shooting.

BURKE COUNTY BOARD TO INSPECT SCHOOLS

Annual Tour Opens Today With All-Day Visit at Waynesboro.

WAYNESBORO, Ga., March 3.—The Burke county board of education will begin its second annual inspection of the county schools with an all-day visit to the Waynesboro schools Tuesday. The home economics department of the Waynesboro school under the direction of Miss Ruth Plumb, the instructor, will serve the visitors a luncheon.

Those invited to be present in the group are: Members of the county board, A. F. Evans, J. Price Palmer, J. R. Odom, W. C. McCarver, R. L. Winburn, of the local board, C. L. Rowland, R. C. Lovett, E. H. Blount, Joe Reynolds, John Reese, M. R. Little, superintendent of Jefferson county schools; I. S. Smith, state supervisor; Miss Cara Lane, physical director G. S. C. W., and a citizens committee from the Exchange and Rotary Clubs of Midville and Waynesboro.

The group will visit Midville, Vidette, Gough and Keysville on Thursday and on March 13 will visit Sardis, Alexander, Cullen and Girard.

One of the interesting features of the inspection tour this year will be the shops built by the vocational boys in their work for the year. There are three of these shops built in the county this year.

County Superintendent Graham and the Burke board began the visitation idea last year and were so pleased with the results that they have adopted it as a permanent part of the county program. They make notes on the physical condition of the various school buildings and about the equipment; meet the teachers and visit the class rooms. These trips become the subject of future board meetings in the program of the next year's work.

Annual Gold Medal Declamation Contest Is Won by Gordon Hammond, of Somerville.

MT. BERRY, Ga., March 3.—H. W. Rohrer, state secretary of the Y. M. C. A., was the speaker before students of Berry school and college at a special program here.

Mr. Rohrer made two addresses, one before the boys of the Foundation school, and a second before the college boys and girls at the chapel on the lower campus. His talk was on the need for always striving to do a bit better than necessary—"for being a plus personality and person."

"There are three types of individual," said Mr. Rohrer, "the one who drifts along doing just what he has to do; the second is of the legalistic type who says he will do what is necessary, repay evil with evil and good with good, and the third is the "plus" type, who goes the second mile if forced to go the first, who keeps the Christian spirit in mind and turns has cheek when slapped."

Declamation Contest Held.

The annual gold medal declamation contest of the Philomathean Literary Society, of Berry schools, held at the Foundation school, was won by Gordon Hammond, 15, of Somerville, Ga., while Mark Grace, 17, of Odum, Ga., won second place, a silver medal.

Hammond's topic was "The American Flag," an address originally delivered by President Wilson during the stirring days of the war, and the judges stated the boy gave his talk with a brilliance that was attributed to everything the great war-time president came in contact with. Mr. Grace's subject was "The Constitution," a talk originally delivered by Mr. Sothern, of the University of Georgia.

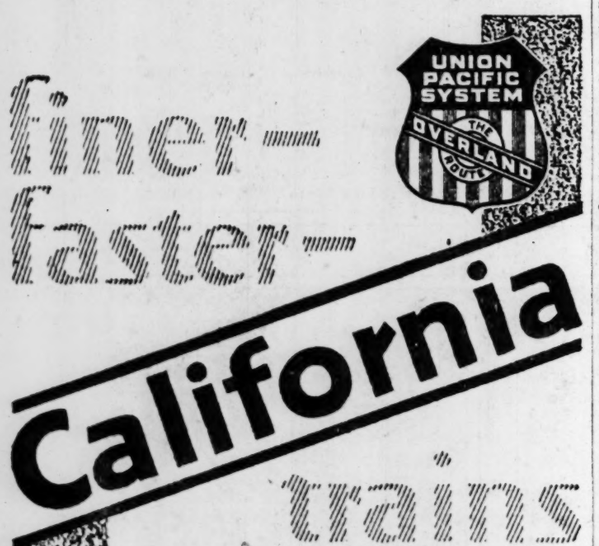

There were 13 boys entered in the contest, all of whom were praised for the excellence of their work.

Alumni Visitors.

Several Berry school alumni were visitors at the school over the last week-end, included in this number being Linton Deck, '21, now on the teaching staff of Georgia Military Institute, Atlanta; the Misses Ruby Young and Ellen Merrill, of Georgia Baptist hospital, at Atlanta; Couey Peterson, '21, now principal of the rural school at Greenbush, Ga.

Misses Young and Merrill are training to be nurses at the Atlanta Baptist hospital, where are three other students of Berry also in training. Many girls formerly students at Berry now are training as nurses in Atlanta, seven being at the Shrine hospital there.

Isaacs shivered with fear, but I saw at that moment no great cause for alarm.

"You will permit your attendants," I asked, "to go with us to the office?"

"They are at your disposal."

Tul-Kak gave brief instructions to both the man who had been outside the door, and to the Englishman. Then he bade us farewell.

"You yourself had better remember," I warned him, "that you have half a million pounds in your possession."

Tul-Kak smiled at me. He spoke soothingly, as one to a child.

"For many years," he confided, "I have slept always with treasures around me. The thieves of the night have not great courage when it is only money they seek. Sometimes, however, there is fanaticism to deal with."

He bowed us away from the door. We started down the corridor, Isaacs and I side by side, I carrying the coffer, the Chinaman who had been custodian of the door in front, the Englishman behind. So we reached the first bend. Five seconds later, I was engaged in one of the fiercest struggles of my life.

They came at us as we turned the corner—three of them only, but vicious-looking fellows, and they carried knives. We were walking stealthily, but they still had the advantage of the surprise, and there was no time to draw a gun.

Isaacs, as was natural enough, for he was an old man, turned and fled with great lumbering strides, making for the room from which we had come, and both the Chinaman and I were successful in evading the first rush. Our English guide, however, was not so lucky. I found afterwards that he had been supplied through some agency, and though he would probably have been ready enough to fight in an ordinary way, his attitude toward the statuette and our precautions was that it was all bunkum. He was in fact, actually looking behind him when we turned the corner. He paid for his temerity with many months in the hospital, for the first man to spring out left his knife quivering in his shoulder, and the Chinaman and I were faced with the three of them.

I narrowly missed putting my own assailant out of action with my first blow. He half-ducked, however, and my fist, which should have got him on the jaw, slithered along the side of his face. He went reeling back, but I had no time to follow up my advantage, for I had to drop the coffer to defend myself against the second man, whose right arm I was in time to grip. The Chinaman had leaped out of the way for a moment, only to spring forward with a knife of his own, and he was such a ferocious-looking fellow as he hurled himself upon his assailant that the latter lost his nerve and gave way. For a second, then, I thought that it was all over, for the third man had not yet succeeded in wresting his knife back from the Englishman's body, and my own immediate opponent was still dazed by the blow I had got in. I tugged at my automatic and got it free. I could have ended the whole thing, then and there, by shooting my man—a thing I should have been justified in doing, as he had attacked me with his knife—but I shouted instead, to give him a chance.

"Throw down your knife," I ordered.

He obeyed. The Chinaman had come to close grips with his assailant, and they went over and over, down the short flight of stairs leading to the floor below, the Chinaman on top. At that moment, it was practically over. I took a step forward to possess myself of the knife, which lay on the carpet between me and my special opponent, and then, with a thrill of horror I remembered the third man, who had disappeared. Almost as I swung round to look for him, I felt arms encircling my neck. A blow upon my wrist sent my revolver clattering to the ground, and the fingers of a long, cruel hand searched for my windpipe.

I struggled like a madman, but, in the midst of my agonized efforts, I saw the man who had been at my mercy run forward with a yell of triumph, pick up his knife, and move toward me. I was holding my own against the fierce grip of that third man, but I could do no more than that, for the moment. I was helpless against the uplifted knife of the man hovering over me. That single second's forgetfulness seemed to have brought me death.

My last effort, made with all the strength I possessed, freed me from the strangling grip of the man behind, but left me powerless against that knife glittering within a few feet of my chest. Death seemed very close at that moment, and death it must have been, save for what certainly was a most amazing happening. I felt a scorching on the cheek, the warm blood rolling down my neck, but a miracle had occurred. The man in front, in the act of striking, his knife poised, the lust of murder in his eyes, went backwards like a log, with a small hole in his forehead. I staggered around. Mr. Tul-Kak was standing behind me, one barrel of his ponderous, old-fashioned revolver smoking. He was pointing it at the man who had been holding me from behind, as though uncertain whether or not to deal with him in the same manner. The adventure was over, however.

The Chinaman came smiling up the stairs, wiping his knife upon the inside of his robe and leaving behind him a crumpled form upon the landing. The only one of our assailants who was comparatively unhurt was the man who had nearly throttled me, and I believe that Tul-Kak would have shot him, had I not stayed his arm, with the help of which brief respite the man took a flying leap down the stairs and disappeared.

"You saved my life, sir," I told Tul-Kak. "You don't want to shoot that man like a rabbit. He'll be hung some day—a much better end for him. There'll be trouble enough, as it is."

"I am happy to have been of service," Tul-Kak said politely. "A bullet would have been well placed in the body of that ruffian, but I obey your wishes. Isaacs, the dealer, waits for you by the lift. He has gone the other way round. Place the coffer in the safe of the hotel. Your august friend has paid me for my Buddha the price of a prince in the manner of a prince, and I desire him to have it."

I had no occasion to ring for the lift, for, when I reached its starting place, I found it already there, the gates open, Mr. Isaacs upon the seat, muttering excitedly to himself, and the pale-faced attendant peering through the grille and listening to the sounds below.

"You have held the treasure, young man?" Mr. Isaacs gasped.

"I have held it all right. Why don't we start?"

"There has been bloodshed!" Isaacs groaned.

"Lots of it," I answered, "and there will be more, if we don't get away from here. What the mischief's wrong down below?" I asked the attendant.

"I don't know, sir," admitted, his teeth chattering with fear. "There is some sort of a riot, but what it's all about I don't know. I was waiting on the ground floor for the bell to ring when half a dozen young fellows—they were all wearing dinner coats, but they looked like regular East-Enders—pushed their way through the door and made for the grill. Peters—that's our concierge—tried to stop them getting at the telephones—just asked what their business might be, as civil as possible—and one of them shoots the poor old chap. He's lying right by the counter. Listen! There's another shot!"

"We've got to go down, anyway," I insisted. "Come on! Start her off!"

He obeyed reluctantly, and at the second floor I stopped him. There was a tremendous clamor of voices in the court yard below, and, although I had not the faintest idea of what was happening, I realized that to attempt to pass through the grill, or to cross the paved entrance into the hotel carrying the coffer, would be at best a risky proceeding.

"Wait here until I've finished," I ordered the attendant, who was almost in a state of collapse. "I'll tell you when to start again."

I opened the coffer and took out the casket. This I unlocked, and the Buddha almost slipped into my hands. I could have sworn that his one eye twinkled at me malevolently. I thrust him into my trousers pocket and buttoned my dinner jacket. Then I relocked the coffer and hid the keys under the seat.

"You get as far as you can up toward the Strand with the box," I directed Isaacs. "If there's anyone watching, they will be put off the scent. It will take them some time to get it open, and by then the Buddha will be in safety. If no one stops you, just get into a taxi and go home."

"They will kill me, if they see me with the coffer," he groaned.

"Not they," I assured him. "You need not put up any sort of a fight. Let them have it right away. You will have gone before they have time to open it."

The attendant started the lift again, and we glided to the ground floor. He looked out through the bars and opened the doors.

"Hurry up, sir," he begged.

"Don't go down towards the restaurant, sir," the porter begged me. "They're driving the people in there like sheep. There's murder going on. Look at poor Charles!"

"Are there no police here?" I asked.

"I've seen barely half a dozen, sir, and there ain't one of them alive, I should think. They seem all off the street. A gentleman said he hadn't set eyes on a single one all the way from Charing Cross. Besides, what's the good of them in twos and threes? There's hundreds of these fellows here and they've all got guns."

"Can't we find a telephone?" I asked.

"They went for them directly they came, sir," the man replied, "and smashed the lot. That's where Peters got his."

I took Isaacs by the arm and turned him toward the Strand.

"They won't hurt you," I said reassuringly. "It's only the people coming into the restaurant they're after. Good-by and good luck to you!"

He started off with more courage than I had expected. I stepped into the vortex.

ALABAMA, DUKE PLAY FOR CONFERENCE TITLE

Conference Will Endorse Only One of Four Post-Season Football Game Plans

Four proposals for holding a post-season football game next year are standing on the table of the Southern conference executive committee for action now. Each is exclusive. Acceptance of one will topple the other three. This is learned from members of the committee, who were speaking unofficially.

Bob Gregg, Billy Wardlaw and T. C. Law, Atlanta Shriners, want to hold their all-star game again for the benefit of crippled children's hospitals. They point with pride to an athletic success and $24,000 net proceeds of the initial venture. They do not care whether the game is held in Atlanta or not, just so it is held and their charities benefit handsomely.

A variation of this proposal, coming from within the conference itself, is to have the two outstanding teams in the organization that did not meet during the season, play for the Shrine charity instead of two all-star aggregations. This plan, officials believe, would eliminate some of the disadvantages of the all-star system.

NEW ORLEANS PLAN.

New Orleans, through the Item-Tribune and prominent sportsmen, offers an adequate guarantee for a winter game between the conference champion eleven and a team to be selected from another section. It is a similar scheme to the Rose Bowl game.

Florida men, for several years, have urged the conference to permit the outstanding conference team to play a team from another section in an Orange Blossom Festival. The plan is identical with the New Orleans idea.

These four proposals are awaiting some sort of conference action. The executive committeemen have made no recommendation. They prefer to confer with their faculty men back home first.

THE SPECTRE.

And of course there is always the undercurrent of objection to any and all post-season games, including sentiment to prohibit conference football teams accepting invitations to the Rose Bowl game. This comes from faculty sources over the organization.

ONE WILL BE PLAYED.

One of these plans will be given official sanction. The executives do not feel, as New Orleans sportsmen feel, that a game played there the last Saturday in the year would not interfere with the Shrine charity game. They believe only one post-season game of that nature should be played.

Atlanta people, if they are to be considered at all, naturally prefer that the all-star game be repeated here on Grant field. It was a great contest and will draw a much larger gate if repeated next New Year's Day.

Next Atlantans would enjoy and heartily support a game between two outstanding conference teams to which game a "championship" flavor could be attached. For instance, a game last year here between Tulane and Tennessee would have been a great spectacle and the charities would have profited substantially.

But regardless whether the post-season game is held here or elsewhere, Atlantans would like to see the crippled children's hospitals benefit by the game. None can see the work that is done at such institutions without feeling a strong urge to assist them.

And without some such humanitarian reason, a post-season football game within the conference is kind of pointless. It is not worth the sacrifice and the effort.

A TENNESSEE VIEW.

N. W. Daugherty, of the University of Tennessee, president of the Southern conference, has a very definite idea on the question of the championship in football. He says, laughingly:

"We should pass a ruling making it necessary that no team be recognized as champion unless it has played the University of Kentucky."

Kentucky has caused the Volunteer football cause no end of grief by slipping a painful tie score into two successive Tennessee records that otherwise would have been perfect.

ANOTHER BOOST FOR THE KID.

Babe Herman, the eccentric walloper who now is one of the star holdouts on the Brooklyn Robins, is just another who writes in a boost for the Kid Elberfeld-'Tubby" Walton baseball school now in progress at Almand park. Babe writes from Glendale, California:

"I received a letter from Kid Elberfeld a short time ago stating that he was opening a baseball school in Atlanta.

"I believe that this is a very good stunt and feel that Kid Elberfeld is a very good man to take up this business. He certainly has great knowledge of baseball and some real good ideas. He takes great pains and interest in developing young players. This was shown while he was managing Little Rock. He certainly developed Marberry, Jackson and helped Guyon and myself considerably. There are several others he has helped but the four of us can be used as an example.

"Thanking you for any boost you may give him, I am, etc."

THIS LOOKS LIKE A RECORD.

From Stahl Butler, Cave Spring, Ga.—"I wish to bring to your attention a basketball game that was played here Friday afternoon in which the Georgia School for the Deaf Midgets beat the girls from the Rome Ninth Street school 54 to 6. It seems to me that Margaret Hogsed, star forward for G. S. D., made a record when she scored 52 of the 54 points made by her team—25 field goals and two free throws. Margaret is from Gainesville. She is 14 years old and is in the fifth grade."

Toronto Golfer Leads Tournament

PALM BEACH, Fla., March 3.—(AP)—Gordon Taylor, Jr., of Toronto, undershot the field by a wide margin in the qualifying round of the twelfth annual Palm Beach championship golf tournament today, turning in a brilliant 38-32-70 to win the medal.

DOUGLAS, Ga., March 3.—Johnny Dobbs passed the word tonight that on the morrow the boys should present themselves at the ball lot for work regardless of weather.

One workout per day will be the rule for the first few days, probably this week. The workouts will not be short ones, however. Johnny Dobbs is no slave-driver, but he exacts a full job of work from each one of his help.

FOUR-HOUR SESSION.

"We will go about 10 and work until about 2 o'clock," Dobbs said. "I don't know whether we will have sandwiches sent out to the park or whether we will have a hot lunch served. At any rate we will work four hours each day for a while. After we get limbered up we will put in two sessions a day. The weather here is all right. I would have worked today if the uniforms had been here."

Among the ball players who heard the announcement were two new arrivals, Dick Burrus, first baseman, and Lefty Weirman, left-handed pitcher and possessor of one of the best knuckle balls in baseball.

Burrus completed a drive of a thousand miles from his home in North Carolina, while Weirman came in from Akron. He was lost all morning, having taken the wrong turn on a detour.

LIST OF PLAYERS.

The list of players in camp today included Ed McGee, Dick Burrus, infielders; Ed Lass, Jim Hammon, outfielders; Erskine (Wildboy) Thompson and Red Wingo, catchers; Jim Segraves, Will Griffith, Red Oldham, Lefty Weirman, pitchers.

Others are expected during the late watches of the night, as soon as they solve the road puzzle and the morning train will bring others. Milt Stock is staying in Mobile for a carnival, a rival of New Orleans Mardi Gras. He will be here Wednesday unless he changes his mind. Jimmy Johnston has notified Dobbs that he will be here on Tuesday.

Dobbs is waiting with some interest the arrival of Leo Bader, shortstop from Macon. Bader, who was sold to the Crackers by Brooklyn, owners of the Macon club, is ballyhooed by Nap Rucker, Brooklyn scout, as a player who is ready for Class A baseball.

"REAL INFIELDER."

"If Dobbs wants a real infielder he doesn't have to look any further than Bader," said Rucker in discussing the infielder a short time ago. "He had a bad arm last year, caused by a set of bad tonsils. I understand he has had them removed and the arm is all right. If so he will stick with that ball club."

Dobbs questioned Wildboy Thompson, who was on the club with Bader, and Thompson endorsed all Rucker had to say, declaring that Bader was a great fielder and a good hitter.

Red Wingo appeared to be in great shape. The former Redleg is trim and apparently as young as any of the boys.

BURRUS TANNED.

Dick Burrus turned up with a coat of tan gained from a stay in Florida. He appeared to be in much better shape than when he reported to the Crackers last summer.

Ed Lass, the Nebraska state outfielder, scoffed at the players who thought the wind was cold here today. Lass hails from a section where men are men and weather is weather. The puffs of wind did not stop him.

The Hotel Doucoff, with Manager Billy Holmes at the helm, has made a distinctly favorable impression on the players. The food is good and the hospitality genuine. All the citizens of Douglas are doing all they can to make the club feel at home.

TWO TALKIES.

The picture show is putting on more changes of program with two talkies scheduled for this week. Things are picking up.

Professor J. M. Thrash is having some more work done on the school diamond. The south Georgia State Junior college park is being used and Professor Thrash has been one of the moving spirits in getting the club here. He has installed a press box and a telephone will be put in later for communication with the city, it being three-quarters of a mile from the park. Everything is fine at Douglas. The weather here today was as good as Florida offered.

Trainer Mickey O'Brien reports the clubhouse entirely satisfactory. There are four showers in one room which will accommodate some 10 players at one time.

'The Twenty-Five' Drilled by Fincher

"The Twenty-five" ran through their first grid practice as a unit Monday afternoon.

"The Twenty-five" is Coach Bill Fincher's crew of sophomores and to-be-developed young huskies who were held over from the regular spring practice at Georgia Tech's Flats.

The regular grind closed last Thursday, with Friday as a holiday for the opening day of the conference basketball tournament and Saturday as another day of rest.

Coach Fincher Monday ran them through one of the best of the signal drills of the spring grind at the Flats for a short time and then to the showers.

The Baseball Opening in Douglas

Baseball's 1930 package was opened in Douglas Monday afternoon by Jonathan Gordon Dobbs, manager, and Chick Roos, secretary, of the Crackers. The gentlemen are lifting out what they found. She contents turned out to be Red Oldham, a left-handed pitcher of ability. They are all wearing topcoats because it was slightly cool in Douglas Monday. The citizens of Douglas wore blushes in addition to topcoats. The Crackers did not work out Monday as their uniforms were left in Atlanta and will not arrive until this morning. Manager Dobbs plans one workout today from 10 until and dinner, it is understood, will be served on the ground. Constitution staff photo.

ATLANTA OPEN MEET PLANNED

Plans Call for April Date. Pro-Amateur Schedule Delayed.

By Roy White.

An Atlanta open golf championship to be staged the early part of April was discussed Monday morning at the semi-monthly meeting of the Atlanta Professional Golfers Association at Ingleside Country Club.

No definite action was taken but plans will be pushed forward and every effort will be made to stage the tournament. Should the tourney be held it would bring to Atlanta all the "big guns" of golf now competing in tournaments in Florida and California.

BIG STARS.

It will give Atlantans an opportunity to see Horton Smith, the sensational young professional who defeated Bobby Jones by one stroke in Savannah, and many others who have been winning consistently during recent months.

The tournament will also provide a good chance for Bobby Jones to perform before home spectators, as he has not played in an important match in Atlanta since 1927, when he won the $12,000 southern open tournament, sponsored by the Atlanta Junior Chamber of Commerce. This tourney attracted all the big stars.

Bobby will leave during the middle of April for England, where he will participate in the Walker cup matches and the British amateur and open tournaments during the early spring, and the tournament here would give him plenty of practice before leaving the city.

PRO-AMATEUR LOOP.

Plans for the pro-amateur golf league matches to be played during the spring and summer months were completed at at the meeting.

Adoption of a playing schedule was postponed, due to a number of conflicting dates on one presented to the club. Another schedule will be drawn up today and a committee composed of Tobe Edwards, of The Georgian; Roy White, of The Constitution, and Jimmy Livingston, of Ingleside Country Club, representing the association, was appointed to complete the schedule.

The next meeting will be held March 17 at Ansley Park.

Cold Weather Causes Blushes in Douglas

By Ralph McGill,

Constitution Staff Correspondent.

DOUGLAS, Ga., March 3.—There was a blush on the face of the oldest inhabitant here today. It showed right through his whiskers. There was no doubt about it, he was blushing furiously. Douglas never saw such a cold spell as this before.

It was also downright embarrassing to the chamber of commerce and the baseball committee. In fact, the only thing that saved the day was the weather report which showed Atlanta to be shivering in the grip of freezing weather.

Douglas was warm when the wind stopped. The sun down here is doing its part and was warm enough if one could find a sunny spot where the wind wasn't blowing. It wasn't anywhere near the freezing point. There was no practice today and there wouldn't have been had the weather been balmy and fine. The trunks containing the baseball bloomers and the baseballs and all the things the young business men wear were left standing on the platform at Atlanta and will not arrive until Tuesday morning.

Altogether it was a very embarrassing day for everyone concerned. The oldest inhabitant was as disturbed over the weather as the Chamber of Commerce. Chick Roos, who went to the clothes cupboard and found it bare, was red about the ears and up in Atlanta Rell J. Spiller's ears were burning because of the things that some of the baseball reporters were saying about him. Mr. Spiller told the baseball reporters he had ordered a band here to greet them. Instead, Mr. Spiller had ordered something else.

OLDHAM AND GOLF.

A few of the more hardy souls went out and tried the golf course here which is a very fine golf course with a very tough par of 36 for the nine holes. In fact, most of the conversation up and down Peterson avenue and Ward street was about Red Oldham and golf.

Mr. Oldham, who is a left-handed pitcher, with an innocent face, arrived in Douglas last Thursday. He heard about the golf course and went out to play. He was playing Fred Ricketson, the eligible bachelor of this city.

The left-handed pitcher spoke modestly of his golf game. And yet when he went buzzing around the course he had 38 which is very good golf. The left-handed pitcher can't find any more opponents now. In the drugstores they still tell of a drive he made on a dog leg hole. It is par 5 hole of near 500 yards. There are some trees growing in the crook of the leg around

Carnera Kayoes Negro in Sixth

PHILADELPHIA, March 3.—(AP)—Primo Carnera, Italian heavyweight sensation, continued his knockout record tonight by sending Roy (Ace) Clark, towering Philadelphia negro, to slumberland in the sixth round of their 10-round fight at the arena. Carnera weighed 272 and Clark 234 1-2.

Clark was the Italian giant's eighth straight knockout victim since the "Ambling Alp" began his American ring career a few weeks ago.

Johnson Wins Bout On Technical Kayo

Henry Johnson, Dixie colored middleweight champion, held fast to all his laurels by taking a technical knockout verdict from Kid Curtis at Roby's gymnasium in the feature bout of Billy Hooper's Monday night card.

Johnson, who carried the fight to Curtis all the way, had the Kid staggered almost from the start of the bout. In the eighth round Curtis was so nearly out on his feet that the referee waved him to his corner and threw Johnson's hand up as the winner.

DEVILS DEFEAT KENTUCKY, 37-32; TIDE WINS, 32-22

Girls Play at 7:30 O'Clock in Preliminary to Title Game.

By Ed Danforth.

Duke University and the University of Alabama clash at 9 o'clock tonight at the city auditorium for the basketball championship of the Southern conference.

Four frisky urchins and a gangling blond lad who wore the blue of Duke outsped the weaving "submarine" artists who wore the blue of Kentucky in one semi-final contest and won, 37 to 32.

Alabama's sturdy, powerful quintet plugged away relentlessly at Tennessee's defense and crashed through to a 32-to-22 triumph in the other semi-final game.

The games were played before a packed auditorium. The crowd was surprisingly large, since neither Tech nor Georgia was engaged. The multitude manifested warm interest while the Crimson Tide and the Volunteers galloped and charged and retreated.

BRILLIANT GAME.

But the clash between the Blue Devils of Duke and the Wildcats of Kentucky swept the congregation into an uproar. It was one of the most brilliantly played games the conference classic ever produced and was a neck-and-neck race down to the final gun.

Duke made such an impressive showing in beating the weaving Kentuckians that the crowd left the hall feeling sort of sorry for Alabama's prospect in the finals. They felt that any game after that heroic spectacle staged in the lower bracket would be an anti-climax. They were speculating on how much Duke would beat Alabama.

The Blue Devils left a lot of basketball right there on the floor; Kentucky carried them at a burning pace. Alabama won with plenty of strength left. Alabama is far from out of the race and may give the four frisky urchins and the gangling lad from Durham another tough evening.

SURE-FINGERED.

The four little fellows—Harry Councillor, George Rogers, Roland Farley and Bill Werber—and the tall pine—Joe Croson—beat Kentucky by their uncanny ability to grab loose balls. They were as nimble and as sure-fingered as newsboys scrambling for pennies. They left none for Kentucky.

The Blue Devils, scooting over the floor with their elbows collecting splinters, broke up the enemy's feared submarine passing game by the simple process of anticipating it and scooping the ball off the floor as it bounced.

They got few of the balls off the back board, but they darted in and intercepted enough Kentucky passes to make up for their shortage at the end of the court.

And every time they touched the leather it went toward the basket. They shot often. They shot exactly twice as often as Kentucky. Their percentage of hits was low, but they could not miss all the time.

TWO GREAT TEAMS.

That is a low-comedy attempt at experting on a game that was played by two exceptional teams whose movements were too quick for the casual eye and whose sudden changes from attack to defense were too smooth to be realized.

Duke probably is the only team in the tournament equipped physically and artistically to defeat Kentucky. Coach Eddie Cameron got the utmost out of his men. What a final game that contest would have made!

Kentucky played with great spirit, and time and again varied their attacking plan in vain effort to elude the scudding Blue Devils. They tried few long shots and worked incessantly to get the ball down close. They tried for only 27 field goals and made 9 of these, a fine percentage.

FOUL RECORD.

The Kentuckians kept themselves in the game by setting a tournament record and probably a season record by caging 14 out of 14 tries from the foul line. The Wildcats never missed once.

Coach Johnny Mauer had worked for two weeks to get Stanley Milward, his star center, in shape for the tournament. In the first half he sent Milward into action. But the bandaged knee refused to function and Milward was unable to help much.

The first half was the most thrilling stretch of the entire tournament. The rivals sped along with rarely more than two points difference. Both were playing at top speed. Duke shot often and hit occasionally. Kentucky carefully worked every shot down close and made one out of every three count. The half ended with Duke on top, 20 to 18.

DUKE'S CHALLENGE.

The last lap opened and Kentucky sped away to a three-point lead in no time, with the McGinnis brothers

Ed Hamm is Injured In Run In With Auto

By Herb Clark.

Ed Hamm's luck is running true to form.

Ed, captain and ace of the Georgia Tech track team, world record holder in the broad jump and a speedster of note over the shorter courses, was kept off the tracks all last season by an operation.

This year, with the season ready to get under way at Chapel Hill with the Southern conference indoor meet Saturday, Hamm and an automobile tangled on Ponce de Leon avenue. Hamm came out from under with a cut arm and a bruised leg which will keep him from the doings at North Carolina and may further hamper the present campaign.

Coen Youngest Star To Land American Davis Cup Team Berth

BRIGHT FUTURE AWAITS YOUTH, RICHARDS SAYS

Youngster Should Develop Into One of Game's Best, Says Veteran.

This is one of a series of stories in which Vincent Richards is analyzing the playing ability of the men chosen for this year's United States Davis cup squad.

By Vincent Richards.

International Tennis Star and Former Davis Cup Ace.

(Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

NEW YORK, March 3.—The youngest player ever to make a place for himself on a Davis cup team was Wilbur (Junior) Coen, Kansas City, in 1928.

This middle-western lad came into international prominence at 16 when he was selected by Joseph W. Wear, chairman of the Davis cup committee, and Bill Tilden, captain of the team, to represent the United States.

TAUGHT BY TILDEN.

Until then Junior was not known outside the United States, although he had gained some fame in boys' tournaments, as a protege of Big Bill. The fact that Tilden had seen signs of greatness in Coen had not convinced many people that he had a big future.

Indeed, the fact that Tilden praised him so was all the more reason critics shook their heads, because the lanky Philadelphian had had other proteges who had turned out flashes in the pan.

When Junior was chosen there were many who said he didn't deserve the honor, but there was his record in the test matches at Augusta, Ga., to back the selection. Junior not only played against China in the American zone ties at Kansas City, but he also went to Europe with the team.

TOO EARLY.

Almost two years have passed since, and Coen has not made any considerable progress. But it is too early to decide what the future holds. Last year he went to Europe with his family in the winter, and did not come back until summer. He went straight home to Kansas City and played in only a few tournaments.

In the national championship he won his first two matches without losing a set, and then went against Frank Hunter. The diminutive prodigy from the west had the gallery cheering as he took the first set from Hunter, and it was only after the score had gone to 7-5 that Frank took the second set and went on to win the match.

It is possible the selection of Coen in 1928 was premature, and that it would have been better for him had he been left off the team until he had more seasoning. He still has a great deal to learn, and he can't be expected to come into his full powers until he has reached physical maturity. But there is no denying that this lad has a great deal of tennis ability, and that if it is developed in the right channels he may have a big future.

Coen has one of the best forehands in the game. It is a beautifully timed stroke, without any top spin, and Junior maintains good length on it and conceals its direction cleverly. His backhand is not so good, but he makes it with nice form and under pressure he can lay it along the lines with beautiful precision.

MONDT GAVE UP MAT TO MANAGE

Skikat's Boss, Satisfied, Claims He Has Next Champion.

"Toots" Mondt, who spent a fortune to obtain Dick Shikat in his wrestling campaign, sends word that he has a champion whom Atlanta will welcome.

Mondt wrestled in Atlanta about three years ago and has not appeared here since that time. He is not wrestling in public now, confining his efforts to training Shikat. It is no secret that the man who is recognized as champion by the New York and Pennsylvania commissions is now one of the greatest men in the game. Mondt is keeping him busy.

"I met all the best ones when I was seeking the title," writes Mondt, "and I was able to keep my ranking as one of the ten best heavyweights in the game. As soon as I saw Shikat I knew he was a winner. I spent most of what I had saved to get him under my management. I knew he was going to be a great champion.

"The public knows that we have chased Sonnenberg all over the country. The public knows that I have posted forfeits in every tournament seeking to get Sonnenberg. He won't meet a dangerous man because he knows any real wrestler can beat him.

"Atlanta is going to see a great wrestler when Shikat meets Jones. Of course I think we will win, but I know Jones is a dangerous man. Ask any wrestler and they will tell you they never feel safe against that boy.

"I am glad Promoter Weber has given Atlanta some good matches. I believe in the sport and I want to come back to Atlanta. We will give them the best we have."

The SPORTLIGHT By Grantland Rice

Advance Hunches.

Now that spring is nearly here
Take your niblick in your hand,
And imagine you are back
In some heel print in the sand,
Or that you are in the rough,
Or some other spot that's tough.

The Dazzler and 1930.

Dazzy Vance, Brooklyn's Human Rifle, is 37 years old today. It might be mentioned that he is starting his nineteenth year as a professional pitcher, which is a fair amount of years as pitchers come and go. In spite of time's beckoning finger Vance will make a desperate effort to prove that he still belongs among the best in the game and that his fast one is still taking the old hop and duck past hostile bats.

Vance fell away to 14 victories and 13 defeats last season, but he looks for a new turn this spring, backed up by the run-making quality of Brooklyn bats. There should be a new spirit in the Brooklyn wigwam with the old feud settled and with the Dazzler's ambition aroused he should be good for more than 20 victories.

There are still many ball players around who believe that Vance at his best has as much speed as Walter Johnson once fired, possibly a trifle more than Bob Grove has today.

Up to date Vance has won 140 major league games and lost but 90, which is no mottled average for a pitcher working most of the time with a second division club.

If the old timer can whistle them through as well as he did two years ago Brooklyn will at least annoy most of her rivals.

At That Age.

Vance belongs to the same vintage that claims Bill Tilden, Walter Hagen, Babe Ruth and several other notables. He is only two years older than Jack Dempsey, but a fighter of 35 is older than a ball player of 37, as an athlete at least.

Vance at 37 is younger, as a ball player, than Tilden is around the same age as a tennis player. Speed of foot is one of the first things that passes as the years slip along and a pitcher doesn't need the foot speed that a fighter or tennis player needs, especiallly a ranking tennis player.

It was lack of foot speed that finally brought Ty Cobb's carrer to an end. Cobb finished as a .330 hitter, but the old dash had left his flying speed. Tilden can hit a tennis ball as hard as ever but he can't step around as he did once at the height of his career.

Alexander was still a star pitcher at the age of 40. He is still in harness at the age of 43, and he can still bother a bunch of hitters.

Vance should have at least three or four good seasons left. He is still, eight years younger than Jack Quinn, who at the age of 37 was just beginning to find himself.

The Hardest Distance.

A flock of sprinters travel fairly close to world's record time for the 100 and 220—or for the quarter and half. The killing distance is the mile. Nurmi ran a mile in 4:10 2-5. That still stands as the record. Any track star who can run a mile around 4.17 is pretty sure to win. Few ever get within five seconds of the record. Few even approach the best times of John Paul Jones and Norman Taber, of Cornell and Brown who were long distance stars many years ago. Great mile runners, milers who can step anywhere near the best mark yet made, are the loneliest and the scarcest entries in all sport.

After Nurmi had stepped off his record mile in 4.10 2-5 the prediction was made that 4.08 might be reached. No one has threatened this mark yet. Nurmi's time is further proof of his running greatness, since it is so much faster than any present-day milers can show.

There is a rumor to the effect that Horton Smith would just as soon repeat in the next La Gorce open where the first purse is $5,000. This rumor is correct. Whether he can outswing such rivals as Gene Sarazen, Tommy Armour, Johnny Farrell and 10 or 12 other ranking campaigners is another matter. At least young Smith will be favored against any individual rival up to the starting post. His knack of occasionally missing an approach, sticking a chip shot dead or holing the putt for his par has developed into a habit.

The duffer who thinks he can keep his eye on the ball and his mind in a bunker just beyond is both a mental and physical contortionist.

Duke's Swimmers Beat Emory, 41-21

Emory University's swimming team lost its first encounter of the season to Duke University Monday night at the Central Y. M. C. A., 41-21.

Duke was swimming well and took all but one of the first places in the meet ineluding the relay race, which was done in rather good time by the Blue Devil tank stars.

Emory's team seemed lacking in experience while Duke, with much competitive swimming this season, had little trouble in handing the Emory boys a rather bad defeat.

Art Merrill won the only first place for the Emory squad, that in the century breast stroke. Emory garnered several second and third places, which helped to run up the score.

Three Teams Join With Y-Church

Kirkwood Methodist, Western Heights Baptist and Oakhurst Presbyterian were admitted to the baseball leagues that will play under the auspices of the Y-Church A. A. at their meeting held at the Y. M. C. A. Monday night.

The opening of the leagues has been set for the first Saturday afternoon in April and all leagues will be composed of six clubs, playing four rounds of games. L. D. Jolly and J. E. Parker were selected to draft rules to govern play.

Enough of the teams from last season were heard from to make the formation of the five leagues certain with a sixth one very probable. The next meeting, which is slated for Monday night, is sure to see the completion of one or more leagues and teams wishing to enter must be represented. Teams may apply to Major Trammell Scott, 66 North Broad street, for more information.

COLD WEATHER HITS FLORIDA TRAINING CAMPS

Babe Ruth, Still Unsigned, Reports to Shawkey, Works Out.

By Brian Bell.

Associated Press Sports Writer.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 3. (AP)—Winter, returning to the lap of spring, today curtailed baseball operations along all fronts in Florida. With 10 days of perfect behavior by the weather gods, the baseball machinery was becoming well oiled when the weather monkey wrench was tossed in to cause a temporary slow up.

The unexpected cold snap took some of the edge from the season's debut of Babe Ruth. The big slugger, although not signed to a contract for 1930 play, reported to Manager Bob Shawkey and took his place with the other Yankees in his first baseball workout of the year.

The big fellow, wrapped in the generous folds of a sweatshirt which had no chance to perform its proper functions today, ran around a lot, played first base a little, threw a few balls and went to bat a dozen times. He carefully guarded his valuable hands, not yet even mildly accustomed to swinging a bat, and made no effort to hit a ball hard. The Babe opened to a smaller gallery than usual, only the hardened fans turning out.

The Yankee workout was somewhat abbreviated on account of the cold weather. "Uncle Wilbert" Robinson, manager of the Brooklyn Robins, took a weather observation early in the day and decided that his players could best keep warm by working, so he ordered two practice periods instead of the one his previous spring schedule had called for. He announced that two workouts will be the order of each day until the exhibition games start.

Arthur Vance, the "dazzler" of the Brooklyn pitching staff, gave a tip to the youngsters on the squad when he ran around the big baseball field at Clearwater an even dozen times. The strike-out star exercised his legs instead of his arms and refrained from throwing a baseball at either practice.

Stanley Harris, manager of the Detroit Tigers, nursed a cold at Tampa and told his athletes to be careful in an effort to avoid falling victims to the sudden change in the weather. The Tigers worked harder than ever today, probably for the reason that the only comfortable persons on the field were those in motion.

Managers, trainers and players of the major league clubs all rushed to the defense of the abused weatherman. They said in his defense that he could be pardoned today's slip in view of his exemplary conduct since the annual baseball invasion began.

DOUGLAS HIT BY COLD WAVE

which the Douglas golfers have been playing. The Crackers' Mr. Oldham fired one 298 yards over the trees to make a birdie on the hole. They know it was 298 because someone measured the drive in the enthusiasm that followed it.

UPSETS CADDIES.

"There is just one trouble about such golf on our course," said Mr. Ricketson, "and that is that it is creating a class system among our caddies. Our caddies have learned what work is on the golf course. They have come to accept it as the general fate of caddies that they shall go out into the byways and the hedges in search of erratic golf balls. They have come to accept as the game of golf the game they see here. Drives of 100 yards are about what they expect.

"Consequently, when Oldham went around the course in a 38 he upset the caddies and has made them dissatisfied, indeed. When he went over that dog leg instead of around it he sliced about 40 steps off the usual par for the caddies.

"Here of late," said Mr. Ricketson, "I have observed my own caddy looking at me with a stern eye and an expression on his face which says as plain as day: 'I wish I wuz caddyin' for Mistuh Oldham.'

VERY PAINED CADDY.

"When I followed my usual course and went around the dog leg instead of over it, my caddy was very pained at all the extra steps he had to take. He kept looking off at the tops of the trees and I knew what he was thinking. All 'this is very upsetting to our force of caddies and I am glad the training rules prohibit Mr. Oldham from playing more than once a week. In time he would have all the caddies in a very terrible mood, indeed. I dislike to keep any man away from golf, but think this is best for our caddies."

Only a few of the Crackers play golf. Red Oldham is the only one who goes in for it seriously. He is one of the few ball players who gets below 80 on good golf courses. The famed Jigger Statz is the accepted golf champion of ball players.

Johnny Dobbs announced yesterday that he would permit golf only on Sunday.

"I want the players to think only about baseball when they are practicing," he said. "Sunday is all right but on the other days we won't have any golf."

Only eight Red Birds were missing when noses were counted this afternoon. Those absent were Frankie Frisch, Chick Hafey, Taylor Douthit, Flint Rhem, Sylvester Johnson, Carmen Hill, John (Pepper) Martin and Jess Fowler.

Restricted.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 3. (UN)—For the second time in three years, the Boston Braves were unable today to take their daily workout, the cold weather and high wind restricting training operations to a few jogs about the park in the forenoon.

Lance Richbourg joined the squad today, but Gene Robertson, who was secured from the Yankees last fall by waiver, is still missing and his absence has not only injured his chances of making the third base position but has angered Manager McKechnie to such an extent that he may decide to ask waivers on the former Yankee star.

Holdouts' Desire.

BILOXI, Miss., March 3.—(UN)—Washington's principal holdouts, Outfielder Goose Goslin and Catcher Roy Spencer, are giving indications that they desire to be traded.

Spencer today wired President Griffith asking that his equipment in the Senators' clubhouse be returned to his home. Goslin has made no reply to messages asking him to discuss the bonus contract offered him.

The Senator pitchers held a brisk workout today, pitching to batters.

Grays Win, 7-1.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, March 3. (UN)—Despite a temperature that hovered around 50, the Giants went through two practice drills today, playing a six-inning game in the afternoon, in which the Grays beat the Whites, 7 to 1. Hubbell and Parmalee allowed only four hits between them. McGraw played Farrell and Marshall at second on the rival teams and used Andy Reese at third.

Jack Scott signed his contract today. There are five absentees, Ed Roush, Bill Terry, Larry Benton, Bob O'Farrell, Fred Leach and Fred Lindstrom.

Four Holes in Sox.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, March 3. (UN)—Four White Sox players remain out of camp, but no anxiety is felt. The absentees are Art Shires, Smead Jolley, Willie Kamm and Alex Metzler. Jolley is driving here from the coast.

Donnie Bush had planned to hold a practice game today but found the weather too cold and staged the usual fielding, pitching and batting drill.

Cold Spell.

PENSACOLA, Fla., March 3.—(UN)—A cold spell hit here today and retarded the Boston Red Sox battery practice.

Manager Wagner finally got his men out for a short workout in the afternoon, but they had to keep moving on the field to keep from getting chilled.

The rest of the squad is due to start arriving in camp tomorrow.

Rain.

PASO ROBLES, Cal., March).—(UN)—The first workout of the entire Pittsburgh Pirate squad was prevented by rain this morning. The outfielders and infielders arrived Sunday.

THREE JOCKEYS ARE INJURED IN TURF SPILL

Two-Year-Olds Jam in Stretch at Hialeah, Causing Falls.

MIAMI, Fla., March 3.—(UN)—Three jockeys were injured at Hialeah race track this afternoon when two-year-olds jammed round the home stretch.

R. Leishman, riding General Keep, suffered a broken collar bone and possible internal injuries. George Fields, riding Janie G., suffered a broken leg and F. Halbert, a top Getgoing, was seriously bruised.

Getgoing was in front when the jam occurred and bore out, causing the trouble. Janie G. fell over him and General Keeps, only a length behind, stumbled over the pair.

The three jockeys were taken to Hialeah hospital.

Many Pros Enter St. Petersburg Open

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 3.—(AP)—America's leading golf professionals with few exceptions arrived in St. Petersburg today for practice rounds preparatory to the opening of the St. Petersburg open tournament, a 36-hole medal event tomorrow morning.

Chilly weather retarded the practice rounds of the pros, with none of the ranking players keeping scores as they journeyed over though Lakewood Estates layout for the first time.

and McBrayer counting them. Then Croson, the tall one, was hacked as he shot one and he made one of his fouls count. The score was tied at 24-24.

Play was frantic for a few moments. Three Kentucky drives were broken up by a Duke defense that scattered all over the floor and played man to man.

Suddenly the Blue Devils started. Rogers, Councillor and Croson rang up eight points as fast as machine gunfire and the Kentuckians were up against it.

Changing their passing system a bit, the Wildcats closed the gap to three points—35-32—but Duke's skillful freezing game shut them off.

In the last two minutes of play Kentucky wrested control of the ball three times as Duke sought to freeze it and launched a triple-pass play. But traveling penalties cost them a chance for shots. In their eagerness the Wildcats were careless with their footwork.

Vols Sink In Tide, 32-22.

By Herb Clark.

A giant killer was slain on the auditorium court Monday night by a giant.

Tennessee's fighting quintet, which kicked the Generals of Washington and Lee out of the tournament in an upset Saturday night, was in turn bumped off by Alabama's Crimson Tide, seeded number one in the title fight.

Towering "Lindy" Hood took the heart out of the Vols. He stood in the neighborhood of the foul line time after time with every other Tidesman covered, did a leap-twist-toss, and scored. His points came at moments when they were needed. His 10 during the course of the game hurt the Tennessee cause with a terrible hurt.

His 10 points were matched with an equal quota turned in by Bill Laney, shifty forward, who cracked down on the basket from near and far.

Early play stamped the Vols as giant-killers once again, but they couldn't keep up.

LEAD-OFF.

Corbitt led off with a crip shot which gave the Vols first blood. Hood, fouled in midcourt, converted his single shot. And then the Vols flashed. Corbitt, then Greenblott, came through with goals. Tennessee's fighting warriors held a 6-1 advantage.

Bill Laney, of Alabama, sifted through to make a crip shot good. The lead was now three points. When Stewart Aiken, substituted for O'Neill, put another crip shot down the lead was quite slim.

Corbitt returned it to the three-point level with a twisting leap which carried him to a fall. He was up and at his place almost before he had gone down, however, and the game went on.

Hood sliced one point from the advantage with a foul shot. Corbitt tacked two points to the advantage with a long shot. Four points was now the margin. The Vols were still on top in every sense.

Hood was given another free throw a moment later, took careful aim, let fly—and the ball bounced around the basket to find a resting place on the supports. Bill Laney crippled one, so did Wamby and the score was tied.

MISSES.

Faust missed two foul shots, and traded even by cracking a long shot. Smith tied the count with its duplicate.

The Vols had not yet finished. Corbitt sunk two fouls, Greenblott sunk one, and the three-point margin was again on the books. That was the end.

Smith sank two free throws. Hood tossed the first of his bombs. Alabama had the lead for the first time during the evening. Smith tilted it just before the half ended, and the Tide went off the floor at the half leading at 18 to 15.

Alabama came back playing the same brand of basketball. And the Vols, fought out, did not. They cracked. Even Bobby Dodd, of icy blood, melted.

For eight minutes they went on without a single point for Tennessee. Alabama, during those same eight minutes, ran its score to 24.

For the last 12 minutes the teams traded points. The Vols, nervous, could not get over the hump and the Tide, turning the thumb screws, was perfectly satisfied to let things ride.

Girls' Teams Play Tonight.

Atlanta's leading pair of girls' basketball teams, Druid Hills Presbyterian and the crew from the Peachtree Christian, will furnish the fireworks in the preliminary to the conference title clash at the auditorium tonight. The game is set for 7:15 o'clock.

Druid Hills has won 16 straight games. Peachtree Christian has lost two games in two years. Both teams are smooth working and experienced.

Joe Croson Leads Tourney Scorers With 32 Points

Joe Croson, the tall Duke center, forged into the conference scoring lead Monday night with 32 points, after making 13 points against Kentucky. Councillor, Duke forward, pulled out of fourth place into second with a total of 28 points. Corbitt, the Tennessee forward, is in third place with 27 points.

PACKED HOUSE SEEN FOR FIGHT

Matchmaker Eddie Hanlon predicts a packed house and a real rough and tumble fight at the auditorium Thursday night when "Father" Lumpkin and Hollis Morris meet over the eight-round route in a semi-windup to the Chancey-Tunney bout which tops the card.

"People are showing much interest in this fight and judging from the advance ticket sale the auditorium should be packed Thursday night," Hanlon stated yesterday.

"There will be a crowd over from Athens to see Morris make his debut as a professional fighter. He has fought something like 15 amateur fights and has won a large following both in Atlanta and Athens."

This and the Tunney-Chancey bout will head a card of five bouts and a substitute scrap. The three prelims will be short and snappy, being of the six-round variety. The Lumpkin-Morris bout is scheduled to go eight rounds and the main event 10 rounds.

Tickets for the Thursday night card are on sale at the Candler building soda company and the Five Points cigar store.

Mundorff Names Ten for Letters

Coach Roy Mundorff, Georgia Tech basketball mentor, announced Monday night that he would give letters to 10 members of his 1930 squad.

Six of the ten have played their last games under the Jacket colors. Captain Sid Goldin, Alternate Captain Josh Wilson, Red Williamson, Hank Heeke, Jack Warner and Bill Tate will go the way of all good college men.

Only Ginny Wages, Bill Perkins, Vance Maree and Ted Raines will return for next season. And this quartet will form the nucleus of the 1931 Tech quintet.

Nine Bulldogs Get Letters.

ATHENS, Ga., March 3.—Nine members of the University of Georgia basketball team were awarded letters today by Coach H. J. Stegeman for their playing in the 1929-30 season. The number of letters awarded letters is one of the largest in recent years.

Those given the coveted "G's" were Captain Henry Palmer, Captain-elect Sandford Sanford, Tommy Moran and "Pap" Terrell, forwards; Vernon Smith and Bill Strickland, centers, and Joe Martin, Buck Anderson and Tommy Reeder, guards.

Northwest Atlanta Beats J.O.Y. Class

Northwest Atlanta handed J. O. Y. Class, leader of the Sewanee league, its first defeat of the season in the Monday night games played on the "Y" court. Floyd Akin, playing one of the best offensive games of the season, rang the hoop for 16 markers. Cook and Thompson forced the losers to shoot from long range.

Here Are Tournament Results and Pairings

'Yankee' Proves Funniest Show of Years at Erlanger

Atlanta waited for several years to see "A Connecticut Yankee," the musical comedy version of Mark Twain's famous story of satirical humor. Last night, at the Erlanger theater, an audience that was almost, if not quite, capacity, decided that the show was worth waiting for.

It is doubtful if any attraction in years has brought forth the amount of spontaneous laughter that billowed up from that audience last night. The "Yankee" is a musical comedy, but it is a fact that the comedy angle far transcends the musical. Not that there are not some excellent musical numbers. "Thou Swell," "My Heart Stood Still," and "On a Desert Isle," have taken rank with the best of the musical output of recent years. They were gorgeously rendered last night, too. But that laughter is what remains in memory as the outstanding feature.

Joe DeMilt, who has brought many other excellent shows to this city, never brought as good an all-around company as this before. How could he? He was never privileged, before, to pick up a New York cast intact, like he did with this one.

To begin with, there is Mary Adams An Atlanta girl, you know, educated at Girls' High and with a family still living here. She is, beyond doubt, a lovely feather in the municipal headgear. Frankly, I don't recall any musical comedy leading lady who combined the singing, dancing, charming and altogether bewitching ability that belongs to this little blond.

Lane Makes Hit.

Not taking second place, but yielding merely because of the "ladies first" precedent, Richard Lane, the leading man, has as much to do with the success of the show as blond Mary herself. It is rare to find a leading man with the trinity of qualities of good looks, good voice and a natural gift for comedy. The role requires all three and it is hard to imagine anyone more suited in the part.

There are many others in the cast and only limitations of space prohibit mentioning them all individually. There isn't a weak spot. And the chorus—there isn't a girl in the gang that doesn't make you feel, as you stare over the footlights, that you'd like to meet her personally. They are beautiful—almost 100 per cent—but what is more they look like the right kind of girls with very little of the dumb handicap scattered among them.

Mr. DeMilt deserves a special modicum of praise for the excellent condition of the costumes. In fact, they looked so perfect and so clean, that there is a suspicion he bought a brand new outfit for the Atlanta week—which doesn't seem reasonable. However, that's how they look. The stage settings, too, were bright and new and it's a safe bet he carries a couple or so of painters and brushes to keep them touched up.

Fantastic Scenery.

The scenery, by the way, warrants a new paragraph. It is, of course, fantastic. The story demands fantasy. But it is never bizarre enough to be obtrusive and forms an ideal background for the plot. And don't forget that special drop, the map of King Arthur's home grounds, which is used between acts. It was drawn by Robert Benchley, who is, apparently, the most versatile funmaker in America today.

There was an augmented orchestra and, in short, as perfect a piece of entertainment throughout as Atlanta ever gets. It is here for the entire week, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday. Report says that a couple of nights are already sold out—so you'd better hurry to the box office on the way to town this morning.

"Only the Brave," all-talking picture of Civil War days, with Gary Cooper and Mary Brian. Comedy, short subjects and newsreel. Feature starts at 11:30, 1:35, 3:40, 5:45, 7:50 and 9:55.

The cabarets of New York, the racketeers of Chicago, and the love affairs, legitimate and otherwise, of the stars and the lesser lights on the other side of the footlights are absent this week in the current program at the Paramount theater.

In their place is a story of the stirring days of the sixties, when pictures of Grant and Sherman were anathema on this side of the Mason and Dixon line, and any man who did not wear the gray was certainly not a desirable associate nor a possible life mate of a southern girl.

Therefore, naturally the producers of "Only the Brave" so willed it that a Yankee spy and a daughter of Dixie should meet under trying circumstances and that Eros should conquer over Mars. But before the picture ends the god of war has been so close to winning that those who sympathize with the hapless lovers have had plenty to shiver about.

Roles of the hero and heroine are taken by a couple who won the admiration of the screen world in Owen Wister's "The Virginian," a story that has appealed to millions over a period of many years. In "Only the Brave" the sustained suspense of the western story is lacking, however, and Gary Cooper and Mary Brian have not the same opportunity. The voice of Miss Bryan appears muffled at the beginning of the picture, but later this fault is overcome.

Charles Murray, a comedy favorite, is seen to advantage in "The Duke of Dublin," in the role of a ditch digger, who suddenly finds himself heir to a million dollars and tries to get as much pleasure out of it as a million should bring. "The Prisoners' Song," a cartoon creation, is as usual entertaining.

—ROBERT MORAN.

At the Georgia.

"Roadhouse Nights," a Paramount talker with Charles Ruggles, Fred Kohler, Helen Morgan and Jimmy Durante. Three acts of Radio-Keith-Orpheum vaudeville and the Virginia Semon-Leonard White Kiddie Revue. Paramount sound news and Paramount silent news. The picture starts at 1:10, 4:18, 7:25 and 10:18 o'clock. The stage bill at 2:38, 5:46 and 8:45 o'clock.

For the edification of that section of the populace which likes to satisfy its low-brow taste with melodrama and ribald humor "Roadhouse Nights" was fashioned. Yes, we are a minute but enthusiastic portion of that multitude.

Ben Hecht's lines, even if partially muffed, would have furnished enough laughs to make the affair worth while but with Charles Ruggles, our favorite inebriate; Fred Kohler, our best-liked mob leader; the seductive Helen Morgan and Jimmy Durante, a tried Merry Andrew at work, the picture takes on all the characteristics of a cinematic holiday.

The story is, of course, palpably impossible and Ruggles is a newspaperman such as lives but in the mind of Hecht, but what of it? Reporter gets mixed up with rum runners. Gang chieftain's sweetheart falls in love with scribe and vice versa. Complications, hair-raising scenes, hero about to be shot when heroine shoots villain (heroines are more useful than in the old days, at least) and then the coast guard breaks in and the shooting begins in earnest.

Britt Wood is back on the boards with his harmonica, his ingratiating way and practically the same wisecracks but that is all right with us and apparently with everyone else. The Kiddie Revue ranks well in its field. The youngsters go through their routine rather well and the production shows the result of earnest work on the part of performers and directors.

It was, we are informed from reliable sources, our misfortune to miss the first two acts on the stage show. The Lee Gail Ensemble danced and was fully satisfactory, our informant says. Ray Huling was next with his seal yclept "Charlie." Seals are one of our weaknesses and if Charlie does all the things he is supposed to we are going to make it a point to meet him before the week passes.

—LEWIS HAWKINS.

'The Locked Door' Thrills at Cameo

"The Locked Door," which is showing the first half of this week at the Cameo, is one of the most entertaining and enjoyable talking pictures shown locally for many months.

The picture's boast of an all-star cast is well justified in the performance of Rod La Rocque, Barbara Stanwyck, the stage star of "The Noose," and "Burlesque," William Boyd, the dynamic star of the play "What Price Glory," and pretty Betty Bronson. These four stellar players lend a quiet realism to their parts that is most satisfactory.

Throughout a background of vivid action, with floating drink palaces, police raids and a murder, a beautiful romance is intelligently woven with tense drama and fast action. The whole is pleasing and amusing divertissement and demonstrates the great progress the talkies have made toward their ultimate goal of perfection.

At the Metropolitan.

"HIS FIRST COMMAND," Pathe all-talking picture, featuring William Boyd, Dorothy Sebastian, Gavin Gordon, Helen Parrish, Paul Hurst, Alphonz Ethier and others. Aesop's Fable comedy, news reel and comedy, "The Beauty Spot." Features begin at 10:53 a. m., 12:33, 2:13, 3:52, 5:32, 7:12 and 9:02 p. m.

Amid the blare of trumpets, clatter of galloping horses' hoofs and the flourish of bayonets, William Boyd appears this week at the Metropolitan in Pathe's all-dialogue romance of the United States cavalry. The picture was made at historic Fort Riley, Kan., and the scenes involving the annual Fort Riley steeplechase are extremely thrilling and interesting. Touraine, champion jumper of the United States army, with a broad jump record of 31 feet, is one of the horses used in the hazardous water jumps of the steeplechase. Thirty cavalry officers take part in this ride, which extends over rugged mountain sides and around dangerous canyons.

The plot of the picture is somewhat unusual, and is of particular interest to anyone familiar with the army life. William Boyd, who takes the part of a son of a rich tire manufacturer, enlists in the cavalry to be near the daughter of the colonel. The hardships and tribulations of a rookie under a hard-boiled top sergeant are portrayed with a great deal of humor.

A novel feature of the picture is the fact that both the leading man and leading lady are of southern birth, Boyd having been born in Oklahoma, and Miss Sebastian being a Birmingham girl. Their voices very naturally are southern, and one doesn't hear the r's tumbling all over each other as is often so evident in the talking pictures. The part of Jane, little niece of the colonel's daughter, is played by Helen Parrish, one of the most vivacious and talented child actresses to appear on the screen lately. Little Helen is a native Georgian, her home town being Columbus. She first came into the public eye when she won the "Better Babies Contest" of the Los Angeles Evening Express in 1927.

A beautiful brigade review photographed both in sound and color is shown in the picture, in which two full regiments of cavalry and two mounted bands take part. Many phases of the army life are portrayed, both life in the barracks and the social aspects of the colorful life. The supporting cast is unusually good, particularly the tough top sergeant, Paul Hurst.

Critical Comments on Current Playhouse Programs

At the Fox.

Rudy Vallee in "The Vagabond Lover" is a singing and talking feature which has in it also Marie Dressler. News reel and short comics. Enrico Leide conducting symphony orchestra and singing ensemble. Don Wilkins, master of ceremonies and stage band. Iris Wilkins at the console organ. Fanchon and Marco's "Gardens Idea" on the stage at 2:18, 4:41, 7:04 and 9:28. The feature at 3:00, 5:23, 7:47 and 10:10.

A mere male has little or no business going to see Mr. Vallee. One sees so much about him in the smart criticisms, and some of it isn't the brand that is written about he-men from the great open spaces. About the only way not to hear about him is to deny oneself any listening acquaintance with the gender Mr. Lardner laughingly refers to as the fairer sex.

However, in his first feature picture, he may be judged by the crowds that flock to see and hear him. The deadlier sex, in spite of all rumors and reports to the contrary, shows—to a mere male—a delightful catholicity of taste when and where Mr. Vallee is concerned. He almost packed them in the aisles Monday afternoon and there were tall ones and short ones, slender ones and fat ones, brunettes and blondes and those who are either whenever they choose to be; shop girls and debutantes, dowagers and adolescent widows.

With no purpose of starting an argument, but more for the purpose of giving Mr. Vallee what is coming to him without inviting the cynical comment of one's co-laborers on a newspaper, it may be said that if Clara Bow, Greta Garbo and Pola Negri—all combined compactly into one perfect specimen—were to come to Atlanta they would not attract half the number of males as Mr. Vallee, during this week, will attract women, old and young, pretty and not so pretty.

For the benefit of those who, for reasons which are too well understood to be challenged, do not particularly care to join femininity, embracing the New Woman and the one who preceded her, we have no hesitancy in saying that the part Marie Dressler plays in Mr. Vallee's picture is such that you will harbor no regrets because you go voluntarily, or, as will undoubtedly be the case in some instances, you are forced to go. Once again, and it is getting to be perennial, Miss Dressler is supplying the stuff that really keeps the picture from endangering its standing in a cosmopolitan audience. Miss Dressler, in spite of her years and years and years, is the berries.

The vaudeville is just fair, but those of you who played with the ouija board back in the days right after the war will be interested in the news reel which has Sir Oliver Lodge talking a bit.

—R. E. POWELL.

At the Rialto.

"Across the World," hunting and travel picture with Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson, featuring Douglas Oliver. Short subjects and news reel. Feature starts at 11:33, 1:33, 3:33, 5:33, 7:33 and 9:33.

The savage and the civilized, the primitive and the modern unite in the novel and stirring talking picture, "Across the World With Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson," which is being shown this week at the Rialto theater, with Douglas Oliver, Atlanta Boy Scout, taking a leading part. The production, which was made by Mr. and Mrs. Jonson in their expeditions through Africa, under the auspices of the American Museum of Natural History, is more spontaneous, more refreshing than the staged movie and proves beyond a doubt that truth is stranger than fiction.

Those who revel in the sight of deep coconut groves, devil men, dense jungles alive with monkey people, houses of human heads, skeletons covered with mud, giraffes loping like shadows behind the trees, and miles and miles of migrating herds, will find real enjoyment in "Across the World." The picture is full of human interest, the kind that manifests itself even in pigmies and dwarfs, and the array of flat-nosed splay-footed human beings that inhabit the valley of the Nile.

Three of America's widely known Eagle Scouts who accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Johnson play their part in the reel, which in the film is being described and discussed before a group in a broadcasting station. Devices used on the trip for making ice, preserving food and purifying water are exploited for the spectator. The thrill of lurching muscles, the twist of crocodiles plunging furiously into the sea, the flight of the egret, and the slow motion leap of a leopard make this picture a rare treat to those who like adventure where it is most compelling and real. A clever comedy, "Clancy at the Bat," and a good newsreel completed the bill.

—LAMAR SPARKS.

At the Capitol.

Anna Christie, all-talking drama with Greta Garbo, George Marion, Marie Dressler and George Bickford. Short subjects and news reel. On the stage, Loew vaudeville bill headed by Ann Codee. Feature starts at 1:13, 4:00, 7:00 and 10:00. Stage show starts at 2:40, 5:40 and 8:40.

There isn't a weak spot on the entire program at Loew's Capitol this week. Monday afternoon the house was full to capacity with a line waiting outside, and it should keep up that situation for the balance of the week.

Much interest has centered in the first appearance of Greta Garbo in the talking films. Let it be said at once that she is perfect in the title role of Eugene O'Neill's famous play, "Anna Christie." The choice was wise, because the Anna of the play is of the same nativity as the great Garbo herself and she fits the role as a glove fits the proper hand.

Added interest in the picture centers in the fact that the role of the father is taken by George Marion, who played it in the original New York stage cast. Other performers are George Bickford—nearly ideal as "Matt"—and Marie Dressler, utterly convincing and delightful as "Marthy."

The vaudeville bill keeps up the high standard of the screen offering. In opening spot is a trio of dancers and vocalists under the billing "Lorraine and Minto." They are clever and original and the girl in the act is, beyond doubt, the most beautiful in face and form seen here for many moons. "Whitey," with Ed Ford, fills No. 2 with equal excellence. "Whitey" is the most intelligent terrier you ever met. In third place is Ann Codee, the French comedienne, with her assistants. If you don't remember her from previous visits, go and get acquainted. You owe it to yourself. In closing spot is Vernon Rathburn, a saxophonist remarkable, aided by four others nearly as good and a girl who can dance—boy! And those costumes! It's a great show all through.

Erlanger Theater Players Reach City

All the members of the Erlanger Theater Players are now in town and actively at work rehearsing their first offering of the season, "Let Us Be Gay," which will be shown next week at the Erlanger theater, with matinees Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday. The stage of the Erlanger presents a very busy aspect these days, with the building, and painting that is going on, to insure a perfect presentation of Rachel Crothers' latest and most successful of comedies.

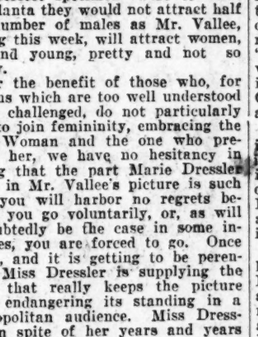

"Let Us Be Gay" is smart, saucy and always entertaining. It has grace and charm, and ever and anon an interlude of thoughtfulness. In fact, it has generally been pronounced, in New York and Chicago, where it is still playing to capacity business, as the most completely entertaining of recent American comedies. Season reservations for the Erlanger Players have been coming in in goodly numbers, but good seats may still be had for all performances. The box office seat sale opens Thursday morning.

A new Stinson Junior, powered with a 210-horsepower Lycoming engine, the first of four Stinsons to be brought here by the Jack Phinizy Motor Company, Inc., distributors in this territory, arrived at Candler field about 3:30 o'clock Monday afternoon, with Captain John Kelly at the controls. The ship was placed in the hangar of Beeler Blevins, who is assistant manager of the airplane sales department of the motor company and is in charge of its field operations. Captain Kelly, for two years the personal pilot of E. L. Cord, head of the Stinson and Lycoming companies, will be here for about two weeks to demonstrate the capabilities of the ship and the motor, particularly the latter, which is one of the latest developments in the aviation engine field.

The Phinizy company soon will bring another Stinson—powered with a Wright J-6 "seven" of 225 horsepower—to Candler field, and later on, when the company opens an exclusive airplane showroom in a new building on West Peachtree street, two more planes will be flown to Atlanta and put on display. The new Stinson Junior has the general characteristics of last year's model, with a number of refinements and improvements. Blevins, who flew a Lycoming-powered Stinson during the St. Louis air show, warmly praised the ship's performance.

Southern Air Transport, in keeping with the trend of the times, is to give all of its pilots—mail, reserve mail and transport fliers—ten hours' instruction on tri-motored Fords, it was announced Monday through Lee Sanders, divisional manager for the company here. The "time" will be taken on the Dallas-Kansas City route, a line recently absorbed by the company, which uses Fords in its daily operations. Officials of the company, according to Mr. Sanders, realized that multi-engined planes are coming into more general use daily and felt that their pilots should be proficient in their operation in case of emergency. Upon the completion of the instruction the pilots will be qualified to take their department of commerce tests for the higher classification.

Bob Bauman, pilot for the Mahoney-Ryan Aircraft Corporation (branch of Detroit Aircraft), who arrived here Sunday in a new Ryan brougham, powered with a 300-horsepower Whirlwind, is scheduled to take-off today on the return trip to St. Louis. He spent two days with Beeler Blevins, distributor in this territory for Detroit Aircraft products, demonstrating his new ship, the first of its type to be seen at Candler Field. Joe Johnston, traveling salesman, who uses his Warner-powered Command-Aire in covering this territory, took off Monday for another swing around the circuit, after spending several days at Blevins' hangar.

Two visitors checked in at the Southern Air Transport hangar during the day. Captain J. O. Donaldson, noted pilot of Newark, N. J., and a member of the Curtiss-Wright organization, passed through about 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon in a J-6 Travel Air monoplane on a flight to Miami. In a hurry to reach Jacksonville before dark, his ship was gassed and otherwise serviced in exactly six minutes, which is quite a bit of haste. G. E. Redmond, of Camden, N. J., flying back to his home from Florida in a two-place, Kinner-powered New Standard, dropped in during the afternoon and stored his ship for the night.

Captain A. H. Page having returned to Candler Field—the Marine flier arriving at 2 o'clock Monday morning, after a night flight from Anacostia, Washington—tests of the new plane of the Atlanta Aircraft Corporation were resumed yesterday for the first time since the initial flights were made several weeks ago. Engineers for the company found several adjustments necessary following the first few trips aloft, but it is said that no basic changes were made. The big low-winged monoplane is being made ready for its inaugural cross-country flight—a 20,000-mile journey to Cuba, Central America and South America—which is expected to be begun within a week or so.

Glider Progress Here Outlined At N. A. A. Meet

Professor T. E. Moodie, of Georgia Tech, instructor of the Atlanta Glider Club, and Samuel K. West, of the Beeler Blevins aviation school, organizer of the Blevins Glider Club, were the principal speakers at the meeting of the Aero Club of Atlanta, local N. A. A. chapter, at the Winecoff hotel Monday afternoon.

They gave short talks on the history of the glider and the importance of its relation to the development of the airplane and told of the plans which are going forward to popularize this form of flying in Atlanta.

Professor Moodie, in giving a brief sketch of the history of gliders, told of the mythological background, the work of Lillienthal in Germany and the Wright brothers in North Carolina, and the modern improvements which have been developed since the war. He stated that the glider which had been ordered by the Atlanta club was expected to arrive today.

Mr. West pointed out that there are three types of gliders and three types of glider licenses and that many of the world's best glider pilots have never done any other form of flying. He expressed the hope that the sport would prove popular here in view of the increasing interest in other parts of the country.

Jesse Draper, president of the Aero Club, presided at the meeting.

William A. Dunlap, secretary of the Aero Club, announced that the next meeting of the club would be held on March 17 in the Ansley hotel and would feature parachute jumping, a two-reel motion picture film entitled Happy Landings having been arranged for to be shown on that date.

Deserted at Nursery, Tiny Baby Put in Grady

Nine-month-old Patsy Henderson, bright, bouncing and physically perfect—so Grady hospital doctors say—already knows what it means to face a cold and cruel world.

Just a week ago Monday Patsy went to the home of Mrs. Maude Stenhouse, who operates a nursery at 111 Ormond street, S. E., to live. A young woman carried her there and explained that Patsy was her child and that she would visit the baby every day after work hours.

Monday she had not put in an appearance. Mrs. Stenhouse became ill and unable, she told police, to care for the child. Call Officers Ed Norwood and M. O. Evans placed it in the hospital.

Adventures of Seckatary Hawkins

By Robert Franc Schulkers

THE SON OF TARZAN No. 86

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

The Sheik eyed Korak for a long while without speaking. He was trying to think of some form of torture that would gratify his rage and hatred toward this creature who twice had been the means of his losing possession of Meriem. Beyond the palisade came the trumpeting of an elephant. A half smile touched Korak's lips and he gave a low, weird call before one of the blacks guarding him struck him savagely across the mouth.

None knew the significance of that call, save Tantor in the jungle, who cocked his ears as the sound of Korak's voice fell upon them. He approached the palisade and lifting his trunk above it, sniffed. In his tent the Sheik rose at last, and, pointing toward the bound captive called two of his biggest slaves. "Burn him," he commanded. "At once." To a stake in the open space of the village center they dragged Korak and bound him tightly.

Bringing brushwood they piled it high about him, and the Sheik came that he might enjoy the agonies of his victim. But Korak did not wince even after the flames shot up. Again he raised his voice in the same low call and this time came the answering trumpeting of an elephant. Outside the palisade, Tantar had placed his head against the wooden logs and pushed; but the palisade was strong and only gave a little to the pressure.

The sound of Korak's voice calling him, and the scent of man, his enemy, filled the great beast with rage and resentment against the dumb barrier that held him back. He wheeled and shuffled back a dozen paces. Then he turned, lifted his trunk and giving voice to a mighty, trumpet-call of anger, lowered his head and charged like a huge battering ram of flesh and bone and muscle straight at the mighty barrier which sagged and splintered to the impact.

Bell System Assets Reach 4 Billions

NEW YORK, March 3.—(AP)—The American Telephone and Telegraph Company's annual report today showed that total assets of the Bell system increased more than $400,000,000 during 1929, creating the first $4,000,000,000 commercial enterprise in the United States.

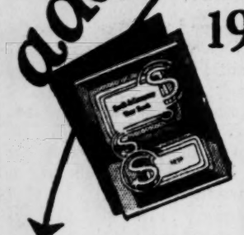

The balance sheet of the Bell system as of December 31 showed total assets of $4,228,430,088, inter-company duplications excluded. This compares with $3,826,683,584 at the end of the previous year. The largest gain occurred in telephone plant, which increased from $3,275,686,848 to $3,671,099,689. The American Telephone and Telegraph Company, parent organization, reports total assets for itself of $2,477,032,550, an increase during the year from $2,213,327,685.

Expenditures for construction aggregated $633,000,000, a new annual record. Estimated gross plant construction for 1930 is still larger at $700,000,000.

The number of American Telephone stockholders during the year reached the total of 469,801, an increase of 15,205. Women stockholders outnumber men by about 84,000. No single stockholder owns as much as 1 per cent of the total shares outstanding.

Caught Without Coal "Please Rush"

When these unexpected cool spells arrive, as they so often do in March and April, our telephone starts jingling.

"Please Rush" is the usual plea . . . "We were caught without any coal and need it dreadfully this minute."

Anticipating such emergencies, we are always prepared to give prompt service. But why get caught this way when well you know that we probably will have a lot more of this sort of weather before the dogwood blooms?

If you have never used DIXIE coal, try it once in your furnace, you'll like it.

Georgian Found Dead Of Bullet Wound

WASHINGTON, Ga., March 3.—(AP)—E. W. Doughty, 58, wealthy cotton buyer of Augusta, Ga., was found dead about 10 miles from here early tonight. The man had been shot through the head and the body was found near his automobile, which had been parked by the side of the highway. Two notes were found in the car, one addressed to his wife and other addressed to his son, E. W. Doughty, who resides here. The contents of the notes were not revealed.

The body was discovered by a passing automobilist, who notified Sheriff G. M. Walton, who made an investigation and had the body brought to a local mortician.

Apparently Mr. Doughty was on his way to visit his son here. He had been dead about 30 minutes when the body was found, doctors reported.

Besides his son here, Mr. Doughty is survived by his wife and one other son, L. E. Doughty, of Augusta.

Committee Inquires Of Thacher's Stock

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(AP)—The senate judiciary committee addressed a letter today to Judge Thomas Day Thacher, nominee for solicitor-general of the United States, asking if he intended to dispose of his stock in four power companies.

In a letter to Senator Borah, of Idaho, a member of the judiciary committee, Judge Thacher last week explained that he held stock in the four power companies. He said in that letter he would sell all of the stock if he found its ownership would come into conflict with his duties.

The Thacher letter was read today at the meeting of the judiciary committee and consideration of his nomination was deferred until next week after considerable discussion.

Chairman Norris, of the committee, is one of those opposed to close relationship between federal officers and the power interests, and there are indications that some of the committee are ready to suggest that members of the judiciary dissociate themselves from ownership of utilities stock. Thacher is now a federal judge in the southern district of New York.

Rayon Mill Strike Fails To Develop

ELIZABETH, Tenn., March 3.—(AP)—Conflicting claims as to results of a strike call to workers at the two textile plants here were made tonight by officials of the American Bemberg and Glanzstoff mills and by leaders of the United Textile Workers of America.

Paul W. Fuller, southern educational director of the American Federation of Labor, said the first day following the call had witnessed 65 per cent depletion of the plant forces, normally including about 3,000 men and girls.

A company statement said its officials "know nothing of a strike" and that operations continued unhindered.

Union demands include re-employment of hundreds of former workers discharged, labor leaders assert, because of union sympathies, abolition of the "plant councils" and reorganization of the plant personnel department.

State To Press Case Against Student

SOUTH BEND, Ind., March 3.—(AP) Harry S. Taylor, state's attorney, today indicated that he would press an assault charge against Harold N. Simpson, 21-year-old youth of Oak Park, Ill., who last Saturday is alleged to have attacked the Rev. J. Allen Heiser, off-campus director of Notre Dame University, with a whip.

The prosecutor said Simpson will be brought to trial in city court Thursday. Father Heiser expressed the desire that the case be prosecuted. Simpson was expelled from Notre Dame following his attempt to "crash" the junior prom without a ticket.

DELAY IN MUNICIPAL PRIMARY PREDICTED

J. R. Wall, Democratic Chairman, Not To Call Committee Together Until April.

Probability of a late municipal primary loomed Monday when J. P. Wall, chairman of the city democratic committee, announced he would not call the committee together until about the middle of April to consider setting a date for nomination of various municipal officials.

Probe of alleged graft and corruption in the borough government by the Fulton county grand jury Saturday resulted in indictment of four members of general council who are slated for re-election this year.

These are Alderman J. Allen Couch, of the fifth, and Councilmen Charles L. Chosewood, of the third ward; Harry York, of the sixth, and William E. Saunders, of the twelfth.

Councilman Jack C. Hardy, of the sixth, comes up for election next year, and Alderman J. E. Turner, of the second is just beginning a four-year term.

City Purchasing Agent William P. Price and City Clerk Walter C. Taylor are selected by council. Their reappointment will come up in 1931.

Under the present laws an official can be recalled by a signature of 15 per cent of the voters of the borough based on the previous year's registration list. Atlanta has provisions for an initiative, recall and referendum. Ten per cent of the voters are required to sign a petition for an initiative, 15 for a recall and 25 for referendum.

If Mayor I. N. Ragsdale elects to accept a two-year extension of his term which the Georgia legislature inadvertently accorded him in amending the charter of the borough of Atlanta last summer in making the mayor's term four years in the future instead of two, no mayor is to be elected. If he does not decide to hold the post, however, an election for the place will be held.

In addition, there are 12 members of council to be selected; four aldermen, and four members of the board.

Wilson 'Misquoted' On Dry View, Claim

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(AP)—Dr. Clarence True Wilson, executive secretary of the Methodist board of temperance, prohibition and public morals, said tonight that a speech he made last night at Philadelphia had been misinterpreted.

He had been quoted as saying that prohibition was not designed "to keep you and me from drinking," which, the quotation added, "is a matter for our personal tastes to decide."

"I said," Dr. Wilson explained tonight, "the private appetite is controlled by sentiment, judgment, education, home training, religious standards and by the exercise of moral suasion on the will. If people are still drinking that may not be the fault of prohibition.

"It may be the fault of parental example, lack of home training, lack of moral suasion in the Sunday schools and churches, and a failure of the public schools in accordance with law to give instructions to the youth in the effect of alcohol, narcotics and opiates upon the human system, but why blame prohibition for our failure all along the line?

"Prohibition is the designed remedy of the evils of the public and legalized liquor traffic. Its purpose was to outlaw the making and selling of intoxicating liquor. If it stops the distillery, the brewery, closes the saloon, breaks up the power of the liquor traffic in public life, it has succeeded in its purpose."
